The Montana theft is written of, by a Republican Journal, as "a dignified and resolute maintenance of their claims" by the Republicans. That kind of dignity and that kind of resolution is to be found in every penitentiary in the United States. [Louisville Courier Journal]

At this very moment a strike is in progress along the New York water front the sole occasion of which is that the longshoremen refuse to permit the houses to employ negroes to work upon terms of equality with themselves. It is so everywhere in the north, the prejudice being stronger among those whose work is the least dignified by skill. [N. Y. World]

A NOTE of warning comes from Baltimore, that some of the noble birds, the canvasback duck. These birds are unusually scarce this winter, and command such high prices that unscrupulous dealers have been seen to import birds from North Carolina on unsuspecting New York purchasers. The more experienced residents of Washington and Baltimore cannot be deceived so easily, and many restaurants and clubs there have taken canvasbacks of their bills of fare. [New York Star]

It is claimed now that the inconsistent verdict in the Cronin case was due to the conscientious scruples of a jurymen named Culver. This gentleman prayed and read a Bible in the jury-room and declared that he could not vote to hang a human being on purely circumstantial evidence. His scruples should have been looked into before he gained his seat in the jury box. —World.

SENATOR CHANDLER'S new Federal Election bill provides that upon the certificate of ten citizens from each county in a Congressional District that they don't think the coming election is going to be a fair one, Uncle Sam is to take charge of it. Ten citizens can be found easily enough in any county of any Congressional District who will certify that they do not think the coming election is going to be a fair one. Senator Chandler's law would make Uncle Sam a kind of centralized despot, with plenty of work to do. Uncle Sam has already interfered with local elections more than is good for his reputation, and such a wholesale meddling on his part as Senator Chandler proposes, would Russlanize America, and gain for us the warm approbation of the Sultan of Turkey and the Shah of Persia. —Boston Globe.

Lectures Before Vance Academy.

Yesterday was the closing day at Prof. W. R. Skinner's school for the holidays.

The morning was spent in the regular exercises of hearing lessons, and in the afternoon a few short and appropriate lectures were delivered before the pupils.

It was with much pleasure that we were present to hear the talks, because while they were applicable to children they were interesting and instructive to all persons.

G. M. C. A. Battle spoke first in about a ten minutes' talk. From his first utterance Mr. Battle realized that he was addressing children, some scarcely exceeding five years of age, but the close attention they gave him indicated that he might have spoken three times as long and not wearied them. They watched him with all the intenses and respect paid the eloquent statesman in times of exciting questions.

Mr. Battle was followed by Revs. R. W. Starcill and I. L. Chesnut, who also made their remarks suitable to the occasion.

After the addresses, the principal, Prof. W. R. Skinner, spoke a few words relative to his students, and they gave him the same marked attention. The happy smiles that played upon their countenances during the entire exercises was sufficient evidence of their delight in what they were hearing.

Mr. Skinner shows much tact in the management of his school. He seems to have a special insight into the disposition and temperament of what is generally termed bad boys. He governs by kindness and firmness and says that he rarely has occasion to use the rod. When it is needed he does not hesitate to apply it and in an effective manner. It is one of the best disciplined schools we have ever seen, and is deserving of all the success it is gaining.

Another teacher, Miss Mamie Richardson, of Selma, will be added to the faculty on the 1st of January. Miss Richardson is a graduate of the Nashville (Tenn.) Normal School, and will come with the best of recommendations.

CONFIRMED.

The favorable impression produced on the first appearance of the agreeable liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs a few years ago has been more than confirmed by the pleasant experience of all who have used it, and the success of the proprietors and manufacturers, the California Fig Syrup Company.

After diphtheria, scarlet fever, or pneumonia, Hood's Sarsaparilla will give strength to the system, and expel all poison from the blood.

SHALL NEW BERNE PROGRESS?

No 9.

There is nothing that so brightens a town or city as the frequent coming and going of the traveling public. There is a something about the hurry, the rapid movement, the variety of face and costume peculiar to an in and out-flow of travellers that favorably affects a place; it causes it to put on a bustling appearance, and better than all, there is certain to be many a dollar dropped by the transient visitors.

Situated as it is, New Berne is completely cut off from all this, no one from a distance now visits us except having direct business here and does so almost under protest, because their arrival and departure is like driving into a lane, out of which you have to back; we are as remote from line of travel as Morehead City. With the coming of a new line of railway from Wilmington all this would be changed. The person either on business or pleasure bent, could leave the Wilmington and Weldon or Richmond and Danville Roads at Goldsboro, coming over the A. & N. C. R. R. to New Berne and continue their journey to the South via the East Carolina Railroad; persons coming from the South, after taking in the thrifty towns, certain to be established on the new line, reach New Berne, and what then? Why! the needs and business of the road will demand a daily line of steamers from New Berne to Pantego, Blisbeth City or Norfolk that will take the traveler on his way to the North.

In other words, there is no good reason why the East Carolina Railroad, connecting at Wilmington with trains from Florida, should not become a powerful rival to the so-called Atlantic Coast Line in its passenger travel. The dreary and monotonous ride by the all rail route from and to the extreme South would be agreeably obviated by the route we suggest and many persons would take advantage of it for a change. A very large proportion of the travel on our thorough line of railway is by persons of leisure—pleasure or health seekers, who are both to diverge when seeking an objective point, but who if once got here might, when South bound, be so pleased with our climate and surroundings as to be induced to stay with us for awhile. Under present conditions persons starting from the cities of New York or Philadelphia in search of an agreeable climate for the winter might, via the Atlantic Coast Line from the time they started until they got to Goldsboro, be specially importuned and assured that New Berne was a paradise, and half way believing it, might ask, "But if I should not like it, how could I get away, and continue my journey southward?" The reply would of course be, "Oh! you must come back to Goldsboro." The answer would be, sharp and decisive, "I won't go!"

There is now in practical operation a railroad from Pantego to Mackey's Ferry, on Albemarle sound, that with a fast steamboat line will enable one to make the trip from New Berne to Norfolk in ten hours. Four hours from Wilmington to New Berne, and twelve hours from Cape Charles to New York would put Wilmington within twenty-six hours of New York by this line, and New Berne proportionately closer. This would be very desirable route of travel, and New Berne being the principal changing point would, we feel assured, reap great advantage from it. Then, indeed, might we reasonably expect to have first class hotels properly supported, and the place assume a thrifty, city look.

This is no fancy picture, but a plain, practical likelihood if our people will but realize the importance of the question they will be called upon to decide by their votes next month.

MARRIED.

At the residence of the bride's mother, in Trent township, on Dec. 4th, the Rev. M. A. Perkins of the N. C. Conference, and Miss Lillian Adele, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of the late, lamented Capt. W. S. Bird, of Lenoir county; the Rev. N. A. Hooker of Kinston officiating.

The attendants were: Mr. Samuel A. Bird and Miss Addie Royal, of Goldsboro; Mr. W. G. Tindal, and Miss Sophronia Price, of Wayne county; Mr. Sivas Bird and Miss Janie McNeal, of Seven Springs; Mr. Lafayette Price and Miss Maud Hunter Bird, of Seven Springs.

After the impressive ceremony we were invited into the dining room, which was beautifully decorated with choice floral gatherings for the occasion, and beneath the overshadowing foliage lay a sumptuous repast to tempt the inner man, which proved that careful hands and loving hearts had fallen in nothing for the comfort and happiness of all present. After congratulations, first by the officiating officer, then by a host of friends, we did ample justice to ourselves, and all seemed well pleased. The whole proceeding was in well keeping with the circumstances.

We congratulate this young and happy couple, and prayerfully commend them to the care and direction of a loving Father, and may they both be devoted to his love and service.

Wilmington Star: The British steamship Bentala is the largest cotton ship ever here, her net tonnage being 1,787— one hundred and sixty-five tons larger than the Lochmore, which carried as her cargo 8,000 bales of cotton. The Champion Compress people however think that they can crowd 9,000 bales between her decks.
