EDITOR JOURNAL-These are times of great depression of trade, agriculture and labor. Anything that can be thrown into the channels of industry and trade at this time would be of the greatest imaginable benefit to the people, and all the interests of New Berne. The work and expenditure of building a railroad from New Berne to Jacksonville, at this particular time, would be a perfect godsend to the people along the whole line.

New Berne is asked to give an impetus to that work, and set it immedistely going, by subscribing fifty thousand dollars of five per cent. thirty in the way of railroad progress and as a year bonds in return for capital stock of the company.

It hardly seems credible that any laboring or business man, or any prop erty owner, would say no to such a progressive march and in one short proposition. But they do. Virginia Oyster Pirates.

The commissioners of Hyde county report that the waters of that county are full of Virginia oyster men engaged in violating the laws of the State. A serious difficulty is reported to have occurred at Hatteras sometime ago; and recently a free fight in the southern part of Pamlico sound. The arrest of one of the depredators was attempted at Portsmouth, but the constable was driven ashore. Schooners and sloops are dredging right and left. - Negro tongers and small boats from Norfolk are at work on shoal water beds and apparently no remedy can be found for this reprehensible condition of things. North Carolina spent a good deal of money in investigating its oyster grounds, but it was spent for the benefit of its own citizens and to encourage, not to destroy its oyster industry. We had hoped to bring the packing and canning houses to our oysters; but it seems that the oysters are to go to the packing and canning houses, law or no law. Cannot the Governor do something? Where is the State Guard ?

At the Baptist Church Sunday Night. Rev. Mr. Battle's sermon at the Baptist church on Sunday night was one of the most eloquent and interesting as well as one of the most powerful discourses we ever heard. His subject was "The Coming of the End," found in I. Cor. xv: 24. In the course of his sermon he referred to the recent death of three noted men, Jefferson Davis, Robert Browning and Henry W. Grady. He spoke briefly and eloquently of the life and death of each, but his tribute to Browning was especially beautiful. We never heard a finar sermon from this really able preacher. We must say, too, that the music rendered by the excellent choir was inspiring. We think this choir is in better training than that of any other church in the city and their music is charmingly rendered.
