THE French Cabinet has resigned, and a political crisis is impending.

EDUCATE! Organize! These are the watchwords of the Democracy today.

KANSAS farmers will soon have the reins in politics. The spring rains will still have to be depended on for crops, however.—Hutchinson News.

It has been a truly remarkable winter. What cold we have had came in November and March. It has been a winter without an abdomen.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE tidal wave of Democracy in Iowa, which redeemed that State last year by the election of a Democratic Governor, keeps right on growing bigger every day.—Springfield (Ill.) State Register.

IF the Republicans in Congress had more conscience and less politics in their makeup, they would not unseat so many Democrats in order to give places to Republicans who have not been elected.—Illinois Register.

The most striking feature of the tariff is that the more it protects the more the people are exposed to suffering. After a while it will be called a tariff for hardship instead of a tariff for protection.—Norfolk Landmark.

SENATOR BLAIR goes on complaining because the newspapers don't print his speeches, and the people go on wondering how long it will take him to find out that there is no market for last year's birds' nests.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE report of the State board of agriculture of the State of Illinois for the year 1889 shows that the total cost of the production of the corn crop for the year 1889, in the State of Illinois, was $98,279,862, and that the total value of the same was $98,337,049, making a total loss on said corn crop to the farmers of Illinois of $5,935,833.

A BOA constrictor, en route from Pass to New York, took possession of the ship for a time, and chased the crew around the dock—very much as Mr. Cannon and the honest Republican contingent are being chased around the deck of Congress by the surplus-loping constrictor. But the Brazilian serpent was slain.—Philadelphia Record.

THE question that the Legislature of Louisiana and North Dakota will have to decide can best be summed up this way: Can they afford to license companies who propose to rob their citizens? Or is it better to let them do what they can, and let Louisiana—New York nothing, and the South American delegates will go home feeling that their time has been wasted, as far as the bringing of this country and the countries they represent into closer trade relations is concerned.—Norfolk Virginian.

THE floods in the lower Mississippi are getting beyond all artificial control and great destruction must ensue. The problem of holding the river within its banks has never perhaps presented such a difficult and apparently hopeless phase as it does at this moment, and evidently the engineering skill of the country must devise some new plan of protection or a large portion of the Southwest will have to be given over to periodical overflow.—Washington Post.

NOW and then somebody says Southwest Virginia is the richest section in the world; then somebody presents the same claim for Tennessee; the champions of Georgia will maintain that the "Empire State of the South" is the garden spot of the world; while good authorities assert that the iron-fields of Alabama are unequalled. From this consensus of opinion, there is no doubt that the south is rich all over,—that each part of the south is "primus inter pares" in natural riches; but, among them all, none can present, more that is attractive to the prospector than Western North Carolina.—Charlotte Chronicle.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

J. F. TAYLOR—Over-stocked.
C. E. SLOVER—Buck-a-hat, etc.
O. H. GUION—Notice to stockholders.

Further proceedings of the Convention held at Goldsboro will appear in tomorrow's issue of the JOURNAL.

The quartette, "The Handwriting on the Wall," sung at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon, is a beautiful piece of music.

The special premium of a half barrel of lubricating oil, donated to the Fair Association by the Baltimore United Oil Company, for the best exhibit of machinery, was awarded to Crabtree & Co.

Oysters scarce at the market yesterday. The dock was almost clear of boats—no potatoes, eggs, chickens, beef, nor other such products were to be seen. Fish were not so abundant as usual, either.

Mr. J. E. Smith, having purchased the house and lot on Hancock street, formerly occupied by Miss Susan Oliver, is having the house repaired and remodeled, preparatory to removing there.

Mr. Edward Cox met with a serious and very painful accident on Saturday. He was horseback riding, and his horse, in making an effort to clear a mudhole, stumbled and fell. Mr. Cox's ankle was caught under the horse and broken.

The following names appear on the honor list in the school taught by Miss Nellie Pearce near Trenton: Mary McDaniel, Sudee McDaniel, Enis V. McDaniel, Mary E. McDaniel, Julia McDaniel, John B. Andrews, A. A. Andrews and Biddle E. Ward.

The treasurer of the Fair Association says he is obliged to close his books for the year today. Those who have bills against the Association, or who desire to collect premium money, should call at Bell's jewelry store between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock a. m. and 3 and 5 p. m.

New York Market for Truck. We received last night the following dispatch from G. S. Palmer: New York, March 17.—Market opens active. Prices higher. North Carolina asparagus sold for 60c. to $1.50 per bunch. Cabbages, $3.50 to $3.50. Radishes, $1.00.

Personal. Messrs. J. W. Waters, W. H. Oliver, O. H. Guion, H. L. Gibbs, Capt. J. A. Richardson, of New Berne, and Messrs. G. H. Fowler and W. T. Caho, of Stone-wall, all went down to Beaufort last night to attend court. Lieut. Winslow, who arrived in the city Saturday, also went down.

Dr. Frank Duffy returned last night from a trip to Wilmington and points in South Carolina.

Mr. J. B. Clark left yesterday for New York and Boston.

Mr. O. Marks returned from New York last night.

Young Men's Christian Association. At the devotional meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon, Rev. H. W. Battle was present and made an interesting talk relative to his recent attendance at the State Convention at Goldsboro. He was acting in the double capacity of representing the Association and reporting for the JOURNAL. The latter mission was admirably done, as our readers will testify, but in representing the Association, Mr. Battle was placed at a decided disadvantage, in that he was only an honorary member and not very familiar with the work and the proper reports not being furnished him.

Mr. Battle informs us that Associations that were poorly represented, numerically, were somewhat harshly criticised at the hands of the Convention, but he did not suffer ours to go undefended. Indeed he was kind enough to accede to taking the part assigned Prof. Adams, of this city, who was unable to attend. See what the "Argus" says about it: "Next came 'The Association a Means for the Development of a High Type of Manhood.' This subject was to have been discussed by Mr. G. T. Adams, of New Berne, but failing to get here, Rev. H. W. Battle, pastor of the Baptist church of that city, was appointed to the subject, and well and comprehensively did he handle it, sweeping with eloquent flights of language the field of all history, and showing the efforts and achievements of young men of all ages. Mr. Battle handled both the secular and Christian phases of the subject in a masterly manner and won the highest admiration of all who heard him."

While it is to be regretted that there was not a larger delegation from New Berne, the Association has the consolation of knowing that it is doing good work, even if it is not known by the State at large. It is in its fifth year of organization. It is composed of as fine a body of young men as to be found anywhere. Through all the vicissitudes and struggles that organizations are heir to this Association has held its own and is on as firm a basis today as it ever was, and it proposes to stay there. It is not what is desired, nor is it what it ought to be, but we unhesitatingly say that it deserves a great deal of credit for being as near self-sustaining as it is. The business men of New Berne have failed to take an interest in it and give it that support other cities and towns have given their Associations. This is not written in a spirit of complaint, but only to state facts as they appear to us. Time and again have we noted in these columns what the business men in other places were doing for them. We cite Washington, Goldsboro, Wilmington, Durham, Greensboro, Asheville and other places. If we mistake not the citizens of Charlotte contributed upwards of eleven hundred dollars recently for the Y. M. C. A., and at Kingston the Association was tendered a hall one year free of rent. Can as much be said for New Berne? We think not. Some few have given a helping hand which we believe was duly appreciated. Of course the ladies' Auxiliary is excepted. It has been especially kind and liberal in doing all within its power.

The young men composing the New Berne Association are principally those who are employed by firms, and could not spare the time to go to Goldsboro. We believe no blame will be attached to them for their absence if the circumstances are known. We trust they may be more fortunate next time.

A Handsome Monument. The placing of one of the largest and most beautiful monuments in Cedar Grove cemetery has just been completed by Mr. J. K. Willis, of this city. It is to the memory of the honored and esteemed B. M. Gates, a strong and devoted advocate in the cause of the Saviour.

The monument stands 20 feet high and is divided into four sections, all of which are of American marble. The base is a massive blue-veined block of stone measuring three feet and six inches square. On this rests the sub-base with the large lettering "GATES." The following section is a most exquisite piece of workmanship, reflecting much credit upon the skillful touch of the sculptor. The arch is supported by four tastefully carved leaf brackets.

On one side is the following inscription: "Died, March 30th, 1887. BUNGWYN M. GATES, Aged 29 Years." "Thou Hast Been Faithful Over a Few Things."

Above rises a column of pure white marble, quadrangular and fluted, finishing what is one of the best proportioned and most graceful monuments on the grounds. The work is of the highest type, and Mr. Willis is to be congratulated upon the fact that it was all done in his shop and not upon Italian soil.

"That tired feeling" is entirely overcome by Hood's Serraparilla, which gives a feeling of buoyancy and strength to the whole system.

"To Carolina by Canal and Sound."

In last week's number of Frank Leslie's Illustrated Weekly is a short article, with a page of illustrations, which is the first installment of a series of sketches to be given in that paper. The writer says these sketches "are the spoils of a recent voyage on board the steamer Newberne, Capt. Pritchett, from Norfolk, Va., to New Berne, the goal being the Marine Fair now in progress at the last named city, the port of entry at the mouth of the Neuse, and the capital of Craven county, North Carolina." In another paragraph he says: "It was the last week of February, which the chilly north reckons among the wintriest of winter months; but down there in tidewater Virginia, along the banks of the osnals honey-suckles hung in bloom, and the trailing arbutus peeped star like from the dead leaves. Shad-nets stretched across the steamer's path all through the Carolina sounds, and the wide waters glittered under a sultry sun. Sometimes, in the narrow passages of Currituck, innumerable flocks of geese, ducks, and wild swans cover the surface of the water for acres around, and, swimming ahead of the smaller craft which circulate in those localities, form a novel feathered escort."

The principal illustration, "a scene on Croatan sound—taking aboard an exhibit for the Marine Fair at New Berne," shows the steamer Newberne waiting at the lighthouse to take aboard Mr. James Norman, keeper of the lighthouse, who is approaching in a small boat, holding in his hands the miniature sail boat which was on exhibition at our fair, and which was such a remarkable piece of workmanship. The writer, in speaking of Capt. Norman, says: "Captain Jim," the lighthouse-keeper, boards the steamer "dressed in his best suit of clothes." He has an elaborate model of a fishing boat, which he is taking to New Berne for the fair. Captain Jim turns out to be a musical as well as nautical genius, and enlivens the remainder of the voyage with reels, jigs, and breakdowns executed upon the fiddle in real old plantation style."

Craven County Bible Society.

The annual sermon before the Craven County Bible Society was preached at the Baptist church on Sunday night by Rev. L. C. Vass, D. D. The subject of the discourse was "The Poetry of the Bible compared with Uninspired Poetry." Gems of secular poetry selected from the writings of the greatest geniuses were compared with the poetry of Divine inspiration, and in every instance the latter was shown to be sweeter, grander and more sublime than the former. It was a sermon carefully prepared, scholarly, and made very interesting and entertaining, serving to illustrate the beauty and the divinity of the "wonderful words of life," and their superiority to the highest works of man.

The music rendered by the choir was, as usual, excellent. The voluntary was the most beautiful we have heard in a long time.

At a meeting held one day last week, the following named gentlemen were elected officers of the society for the ensuing year:

President, T. A. Green; Corresponding Secretary, B. G. Credle; Treasurer and Depository, N. Whitford.
Executive Committee—H. B. Duffy, W. R. Barrington, N. S. Richardson and Dr. J. D. Clark.

Everybody Knows

That at this season the blood is filled with impurities, the accumulation of months of close confinement in poorly ventilated stores, workshops and tenements. All these impurities and every trace of scrofula, salt rheum, or other disease may be expelled by taking Hood's Serraparilla, the best blood purifier ever produced. It is the only medicine of which "100 doses one dollar" is true.

Building and Loan Association.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—I desire to call the attention of our people to the workings of the New Berne Building and Loan Association which has been in successful operation for the past 30 months, and is now established upon a solid basis beyond all doubt. Up to the present time no special effort has been made to increase its stockholders and yet they have over doubled since its organization. The profit account is rapidly increasing as the following statement will show:

At the end of the first year the stock was worth only 17 cents above what had been paid in. At the end of the second year it was worth $1.26, and by actual calculation it will be worth at the end of the third year $4.00 above what has been paid. I have made a careful calculation and I find that the first series of stock will mature in 64 years from its date, being one-eighth per cent. interest on money invested after paying taxes and other expenses.

All loans made by the directors have been upon the best real estate securities and to prompt and reliable parties. As an evidence of this no borrower has failed to pay his interest and assessment promptly. The Association has been able thus far to supply the demands of its members. It has been the aim of its members to so keep all money invested as to lose no time and thereby insuring the greatest return to the stockholders. The first of last November the second series of stock was opened and it is hoped by the members that our people will at once avail themselves of this opportunity of becoming stockholders. Our Association recommends itself to those who wish a perfectly safe investment paying over eight per cent. interest per annum on all money invested net to the member, or to those who wish by monthly savings to accumulate a fund to be withdrawn after one or more years, or to those who wish to secure a home at but a little more per month than rent would cost.

To our young men I would especially urge the benefits to be derived by them from this investment. If you only put aside each day ten cents and invest this in three shares of stock at the end of each month you will have in 64 years $900.

Our Association is based upon eight per cent. interest to borrower and no extras. We promise no more than we can do, and we confidently believe that upon investigation it will be found that our Association offers just as great advantages as any other Association in our State, and ours is a home organization composed of home people and takes home securities and works for the benefit of home.

I would be glad to furnish any information to parties wishing a safe investment.
P. H. PELLETIER.

All claims not consistent with the high character of Syrup of Figs are purposely avoided by the Cal. Fig Syrup Company. It acts gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the system effectually, but it is not a cure-all and makes no pretensions that every bottle will not substantiate.

Notice to Stockholders.
