LISTEN.
Whoever you are as you read this, Whatever your trouble or grief, I want you to know and to heed this: The day draweth near with relief.

No sorrow, no woe is unending, Though heaven seems voiceless and dumb, So sure as your cry is ascending, So surely an answer will come.

Whatever temptation is near you, Whose eyes on this simple verse fall, Remember good angels will hear you, And help you to stand, if you call.

Though stung with despair I beseech you, Whatever your losses, your need, Believe, when these printed words reach you, Believe you were born to succeed.

You are stronger, I tell you, this minute Than any unfortunate fate! And the coveted prize—you can win it While life lasts 'tis never too late!

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Marketing Fowls.
Fatten surplus fowls before marketing them. This is best done by inclosing them in a small yard where they can obtain but little exercise, and feeding them liberally with mixed grain—corn, oats and wheat—with an occasional ration of boiled potatoes or other vegetables, chopped apples, etc. But just here is where the greatest caution necessary, or you will kill the entire lot in less than a week.

Remember that when a fowl is being fattened it must have plenty of coarse gravel, broken crockery or gles to enable it to grind the increased quantity of food that you give it. It must also have abundance of pure water. With a sufficiency of these requisites, with a variety of food, a fowl will fatten nicely in about two weeks, and will then sell for the top price, while a common skinny cull will not fetch enough to pay for catching it.

Appreciated The Information.
A man came limping down the road. An old negro stood near a fence cleaning out an army gun. "Look here, you careless old fool, you shot me just now."

"How's dat, sah?" the negro replied, looking up in surprise.

"I say that while you were over in that field, wasting your ammunition at those sparrows, you shot me; that's what I said."

"Shot you? How I shoot you?" "Shot me with that infernal old gun by carelessness, that's how."

"What I hit you?" "In the calf of this leg."

"Hit you sho' 'nuff; did I?" "Of course you did."

"Was de shot burried in yo' laig, sah?" "Went nearly through, you old fool; but what difference does that make?"

"Er good 'eal' o' diffence wid me, sah. I had gonten b'lieve dat dis old gun wou'dn't stick shot in de soft side o' er middle' o' meat, an' I wuz er bout ter sell it, 'caze I been bangin' roun' wid it an' not killen' nothin', but ef you is sho dat de shot went mighty nigh through yo' laig, w'y de gun is so much er count, sah, dat I doan' b'leve I sell it. Much er bleege, sah, fur de information what you's footh me."

An Eminent Doctor's Prescription.
Dr. C. P. Henry, Chicago, Ill., who has practiced medicine many years, says: Last spring he used and prescribed Clarke's Extract of Flax (Papillon) Skin Cure in 40 or 50 cases, and never knew a case where it failed to cure. "I know of no remedy I can rely on so implicitly." Positive cure for all diseases of the skin. Applied externally.

Clarke's Flax Soap is best for babies. Skin Cure $1.00. Soap 25 cents. At F. S. Duffy's drug store.

COMMENDABLE.
All claims not consistent with the high character of Syrup of Figs are purposely avoided by the Cal. Fig Syrup Company. It acts gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the system effectually, but it is not a cure-all and makes no pretensions that every bottle will not substantiate.

Musical Jugs.

The silvadors or musical jugs found among the burial places of Peru, are most ingenious specimens of handiwork. The William S. Vaux collection in Philadelphia contains a remarkable example of this rude and ancient art. It is composed of two vessels joined together with a clay stem or pipe, after the fashion of the Siamese twins. The stem is hollow; one jug is entirely closed up, except a small opening provided with a clay tube, leading to the body of the whistle. When aliquid is poured into the open-mouthed jug, the air is compressed into the other stem, from whence it is forced into the whistle, the vibrations producing the lovely songs of various forest birds peculiar to Peru and South American countries. The Clay collection, in the same city, also contains some wonderful examples of ancient Peruvian arts among which are the robin vases and the llama jugs, the former imitating the song of the robin, and the latter, being fashioned in the form of the llama, imitates the ejection of saliva, well remembered as being one of that animal's disgusting habits.—Picaque.

A Necessity of Health.
It is a prime necessity of health that the action of the bowels should be kept regular. But the way to overcome a temporary fit of constipation, or to remedy chronic costiveness, is not to deluge the stomach and drench the bowels with purgatives of violent and painful action. The happy medium between an inoperative and violent cathartic is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which acts just sufficiently upon the bowels to relax them without pain and which being a wholesome tonic as well as aperient, has the effect of strengthening both them and the stomach, and promoting the well being of the whole internal economy. The medicinal value of this remedy is demonstrated by its use in sound digestion follows the use of this beneficial medicine, as thorough and general in its effects as it is safe and pure in composition. Rheumatism, fever and ague, kidney troubles and debility are also remedied by it.
