The New York World, of May 4th, SBYS:

Senator James B. Beck, of Kentucky, died suddenly at Washington yesterday. He was an honest man, an able debater, useful legis-lator and a sturdy Democrat. Though born in Scotland, he went to Kentucky early in life and bethe thorough representative of that State. His death will be a loss to the Senate and to the Democratic party. His term would have expired in 1895.

By many Senator Beck was considered the ablest of the Democratic Senators. All admit that he was among the foremost as a statesman, and that he was without and honored by all who knew him.

Her First Sale.

A young girl had tried for a long time to get a position in one of the leading dry goods house in Boston. Finally her persistency was rewarded by the promise of a trial. She was put at a handkerchief counter during a "bargain sale." The first morning she was there a gentleman came by, and stopped at the handkerchief counter, look carelessly at the goods and the prices which were marked on each box. She did not wait for him to asked for anything special, but immediately drew his attention to some handkerchiefs which were really a fine bargain. He did not seem inclined to buy, but she was so interested to make the sale, and talked so intelligently about them reproach, beloved by his people that the customer took half a dozen of the handkerchiefs. When Saturday night came and she was paid her salary, she received a sum in The Board of Commissioners of advance of that which had been promised her. She took it at once to the head of the department thinking there might be some mistake but she was assured that it was all right.

"Do you remember selling half dozen handkerchiefs to one gentleman the first morning yon were here ?''

"Why yes, I remember it," she replied; "but what has that to do with it?"

"Simply this. That was the head of the firm and he was so pleased that he inquired about you, and said that any girl who could sell his own goods to a proprietor was worth a good salary and a steady ceiling, moulding, etc. place, so he ordered you put on the G.
