THE North Carolina Democratic Convention will assemble in the Capitol at Raleigh on the 20th of August. We endorse the following language of the State Chronicle: "The Convention has been called—the work begun. Let every Democrat put his shoulder to the wheel and see to it that every neighborhood is thoroughly aroused to the importance of the issues of the campaign."

In South Carolina the Republicans are perhaps, more active than in any other Southern State. The Democrats have not yet united. But it is confidently believed that at the right time, concert of action will be secured and the success of Democracy assured.

GOOD news came in to-day from the Second District. Mr. C. O. Daniels, of Wilson, said that F. M. Simmons' nomination and election were certainties, whereupon Mr. Charles W. Raney, an influential Vance county man, said that nothing would gratify his people more and that they would give Simmons a big vote. He went on to say that many negroes would vote for Simmons as against Cheatham.—Raleigh correspondent Wilmington Messenger.

Amos Starkey, colored, the boy who stole the spectacles from Mrs. Palmer the other night, was captured and brought before the Mayor yesterday. He was required to give a $100 bond for his appearance at Superior Court, and in default was sent to jail. Starkey let the thing out by showing the spectacles to a friend and afterwards selling them to a lady, who having seen the item concerning the robbery in the JOURNAL, suspected that they were Mrs. Palmer's. Starkey made an effort to escape after disposing of the spectacles, but the police were too sharp for him.

The Grim Ghouls at the University. "Hellenes," a correspondent of the Raleigh Chronicle, writes from Chapel Hill a letter under the above heading. The following extracts will be interesting to our readers because a New Berne boy is prominently mentioned:

"There has been a growing desire among loyal Greeks here to cultivate a spirit of broadness and liberality, to recognize merit, and to represent our Alma Mater in a manner becoming to her reputation and history. These sentiments led to the founding of the local order of Grim Ghouls. Representative men from the several fraternities, prominent in college work, congenial and of social tastes are selected and invited to become members. To join the Grim Ghouls is thus esteemed a high distinction and a becoming honor. Thursday night, June 4th, was the time chosen for establishing the order.

"An experienced surveyor spread an elegant banquet in masonic hall, which had been appropriately decorated.

After giving the names of the ladies and gentlemen present, the writer continues:

"The following toasts were announced by the Toast Master, Mr. Battle, and eloquently responded to by the gentlemen named:

"1. North Carolina, by Mr. Shepard Bryan.

"2. The Fraternities, by Mr. R. H. Holland.

"3. The Grim Ghouls by Mr. St. Clair Hester.

"4. The University, by Mr. J. D. Bellamy.

"5. The Ladies, by Mr. R. W. Bingham.

"It was a charming occasion and will be pleasantly remembered as beginning an organization that must grow and be popular as loyal Greeks love feasts, banquets and Chapel Hill."

The Canals of the State Discussed—The Law Bearing on Them.

At a meeting of the Board of Internal Improvements held yesterday the question of the New Berne and Beaufort Canal Company and of the Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal Company was brought up.

Representatives of these companies were present by invitation, who stated that they had complied with the terms of the contract (Laws 1883, Chapter 105) and that if there was anything else which they were required to do, they were ready and willing to perform it. The board then resolved:

"That the Attorney General be requested not to bring any suit until further investigation is made by the board, and that W. G. Lewis, Engineer of the Board of Education, be directed forthwith to make an examination of the condition of the said New Berne and Beaufort Canal and report the same to the board. He is instructed to cause proper soundings and measurements to be made, showing the length and width of the said canal and the depth of water therein and whether the same is or has been at any time since January 1, 1885, open for navigation, and such other facts as may be material to the board in the determination of the matter.

It will be remembered that Acts of 1883 chapter 105 the Governor and Council were authorized to transfer to the New Berne and Beaufort Canal Company the State's stock amounting to twenty-five hundred shares in the Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal Company, provided that before the transfer and delivery of the stock the New Berne and Beaufort Canal Company should enter into a contract that the canal should be open for navigation by Jan. 1st, 1885.—Raleigh Chronicle.

SKETCH OF DR. BATES.

Dr. Henry G. Bates, who died in this city on Sunday morning, was of Southern birth, but down to the period of the war, had passed the years of his manhood at the North, where he had engaged in the drug business and the practice of medicine, with a short period in the banking business at Cleveland, Ohio.

During the entire period of the war he was in the service of the United States, and during his twenty years residence in New Berne was assistant surgeon in the marine hospital service.

He was the son of Northern parents, who emigrated to Georgia between 1815 and 1820, his father having been principal of Dudley Academy, Massachusetts, and his mother assistant principal. Coming South his father engaged in planting, and at the time of his death, in 1822, was an extensive planter and slave owner, near Macon, Georgia. Both parents died during his early infancy, and he was left to the care of an uncle. After ten years at the schools in Georgia he was sent to Massachusetts, where he pursued the studies of languages and mathematics, in the Dudley and Munson academies. At twenty-one he returned to Georgia, in connection with the settlement of his father's estate, and then studied at Harvard, from which he graduated in medicine in 1846, and practised in Worcester for six years. He moved to Cleveland, Ohio, in 1852, to engage in the banking business. After a few years he located in New York city, and engaged in the drug business and practice of medicine to the beginning of the war.

The following are the records found in the family Bible of Dr. Bates:

"BORN: In Auburn, Mass., Azubah, daughter of Israel Stone and Harriette Towne (March 1, 1824).

"BORN: In Erie, Pa., Feb'y 13, 1853, Henry Stone, son of Dr. H. G. Bates and Azubah Stone.

"BORN: In Bellows Falls, Vt., Oct. 9, 1858, Charles King Fleming, son of Dr. H. G. Bates and Azubah Stone.

"MARRIED: In Springfield, Mass., at the house of O. M. Foster, Esq., by Rev. Dr. Seeley, Dec. 24, 1851, Dr. Henry G. Bates and Azubah Stone.

"DIED: In Buffalo, N. Y., August, 1855, Henry Stone, aged 2 years and 6 months, son of Dr. H. G. and Mrs. Azubah Stone Bates.

"DIED: In New Berne, N. C., April 29, 1871, Azubah Stone, aged 47 years and 2 months, wife of Dr. H. G. Bates, daughter of the late Deacon Israel Stone, formerly of Worcester, Mass.

"MARRIED: In New Berne, Dec. 19, 1871, at 12 o'clock (noon) by Rev. E. M. Forbes, rector of Christ Church, Henry G. Bates, M.D., and Annie M. Downing nee Meadows."

Dr. Bates, in April, 1861, enlisted in Henry Wilson's Zouaves, of New York, and was elected and commissioned captain. When the regiment was transferred to Santa Rosa Island, La., he was detached in New York on recruiting service. He afterwards joined the Thirty-first New York Volunteers, and was detailed on medical duty, and stationed at Annapolis for a short time. He was subsequently stationed at Baton Rouge and New Orleans, as surgeon of the 181st New York regiment, and also saw service at Berwick's Bay and Port Hudson. He accompanied the Banks expedition up Red River. From New Orleans he was ordered to New York, with sick troops, and thence to Washington to Emory hospital, on hospital duty, and then ordered to join the command of Gen. Butler, on the lower James, and remained with that army until the fall of Richmond in April, 1865. He was sent from there to the charge of a hospital at Fredericksburg, and after four months was transferred to Fortress Monroe in charge of quarantine service. In April, 1867, he was transferred to Fort Macon, N. C., as Post Surgeon, where he remained until March, 1869, when ordered to the Northwestern frontier, he resigned on account of the illness of his wife, and took up his residence in New Berne.

Here he has filled the positions of city and county physician, coroner of the county for eight years and surgeon in charge of the Marine Hospital. He was for more than forty years an Odd Fellow, and was Grand Patriarch of the State Grand Encampment. He was also a member of the orders of Knights of Pythias, Knights of Honor, Royal Arcanum, Royal Legion, Iron Hall, Chosen Friends, and a communicant member of the Protestant Episcopal church.

Of the two sons and two daughters, only one son and a daughter survive him; Mr. C. K. F. Bates, of this city, and Mrs. Mary K. Ellis, of Thompsonville, Conn., who has four children.

Dr. Bates was a man of literary and scientific attainments; of good stature and fine presence; was a genial companion and a warm friend, and most liked by those who knew him best. Descended from an excellent family, his associations had been advantageous. In civil and military life he had occupied positions of prominence, and Dr. Bates was readily recognized as a man of much more than average distinction in the walks of life.

Wherever Malaria Exists.

The bilious are its certain prey. In intermittent and remittent fever, dumb ague and ague cake, the liver is always seriously affected, and the blood contaminated with bile. One of the chief reasons why Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is such a sure defense against chills and fever and every form of malarial disease, is that it does away with liability to the disease, by reforming irregularity of the biliary organ in advance of the arrival of the season when the disease is prevalent. There is no finer fortifying preparative for those about visiting or emigrating to a locality where the miasma-taint exists. There is no certain immunity from disease in an endemic or epidemic form, to be secured by the use of the average tonics and anti-spasmodics. But where quinine fails the Bitters succeeds both in preventing and curing. Moreover, it removes every vestige of dyspepsia, and overcomes constipation, rheumatism, inactivity of the kidneys and bladder, and tranquilizes and strengthens the nervous system.

Duffy's Cough Mixture.

A prompt and efficient remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Sore-throats, Diphtheria, Catarrh, Etc.

I have tried DUFFY'S COUGH MIXTURE and take pleasure in recommending it because I believe it will do all that is claimed for it by Mr. Duffy, the proprietor, who is a druggist of long experience and a gentleman of highest integrity. I do not believe he would advertise anything that was not exceptionally good. This remedy has certainly answered the purpose in my case. It cured a cold, an obstinate cold I had, after I had tried a number of the principal cough remedies without benefit.
