ATMOSPHERIC CONDITIONS.

The top of Watch Knob is crested with stratified gueissic rock, abounding in fissures extending probably to a considerable depth. The so-called smoke is nothing more than the condensation of the escaping air of the fissures meeting the external air at a different temperature. A test with a thermometer sunk in the earth failed to detect any rise of the mercury or to indicate any abnormal condition. There is no such excitement in the neighborhood as has been reported.

John Boyd, a brother of W. F. Boyd, has been arrested and committed as accessory in the killing of Dr. Rogers.
