LITTLE BENNIE HARRISON.

Telegrams from Oresson Springs, Pa., state that the President threatens to call Congress together in extra session should it dare adjourn without passing the force bill, the anti-lottery bill, the Supreme Court bill, the labor bill, and several other measures in which he takes some little interest in the intervals of his various excursions.

Bennie wants to let it be known that he is alive and kicking. Blaine and Reed have been all the talk for a month or so, and unless he kicks up a racket he will be entirely forgotten. But he need have no such apprehension. The panic in Wall street, and the hundreds of strikes from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico, the distress and embarrassment in every agricultural district in the Union will not permit him to be forgotten, but will call down curses on his head. Poor Harrison!

Senator Ransom.

We take great pleasure in publishing the subjoined extract from the Congressional Record of Aug. 17th, which was sent to us by Col. G. C. Luke, of Camden county, with the accompanying note. We overlooked it in the Record and we thank Col. Luke for calling it to our attention. We hear that Gen. Ransom's health is not strong, which we suppose is the reason we go seldom, of late, see his very superior oratorical gifts exhibited on the floor of the Senate. But he is, we hear, alive and wide awake to everything that takes place and is rendering us invaluable service by his magnetic personal influence, and we are pleased to see him referred to by the distinguished Senator from Maine for his service relating to internal improvements in North Carolina. All honor to our noble senior Senator:

CAMDEN, C. H., N. C., Aug. 13, '90.
North Carolina is proud of the record of her Senators. No words that I can use here would heighten that pride. Some of these records sometimes fail to meet the eye generally in our State. Such has been the case thus far with the following, which I find in the Congressional Record of August 17, 1890. Please publish. It speaks for itself, you will notice, it is Senator Frye, of Maine, who speaks in defense of the river and harbor bill, which he has in charge and who makes the statement as to North Carolina and her great Senator.

Senator Frye says:
I wish to place in the Record a statement. The State of North Carolina, I think, has been abused in this direction as much as any State in the United States, because the distinguished Senator from North Carolina (Mr. Ransom) is the most persistent man for appropriations for his own State there is in the Senate, and is said to be the most successful. Roanoke river, North Carolina and Virginia expenditures commenced in 1872; have continued for seventeen years; improvement over 129 miles; total expenditure, $32,000; reduction of freight charges from 25 to 75 per cent. Does the Senator from Vermont say that that is liberal and ought not to be expended and is not justified?

Pamlico and Tar rivers, North Carolina: Work commenced in 1876; continued thirteen years; total expenditures, $4,000; reduction of freight charges, 12 to 50 per cent.; development of annual commerce, $4,000,000, 60 per cent., by reason of the improvements made.

I am reading from a report of one of the best engineers in the United States army, Mr. Bixby, I could go on here, but I will not, I will ask that these tables be printed in the Record as a part of my remarks, I will say that these rivers were not selected themselves as illustrations, but simply because this engineer in charge of this district obeyed a request of the chief of engineers, made some four or five years ago, that the engineers should make careful computation as to the increased commerce by reason of the improvements, and the decrease in freight rates and insurance rates. I shall append the statement to my remarks.—Elizabeth City Economist.

The Work of Incendiaries.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—A dispatch received in this city from Granada gives currency to the report that the fire in the Alhambra Palace was of incendiary origin and that it was the work of thieves who set fire to the historic building in order to screen the theft of some of the many works of art contained in the palaces.

The burning of the Alhambra will be greatly regretted. About the beginning of the fifth century the Visigoths overran Spain, which had long been a Roman province. The Moors came in about 250 years later, and they held Granada until Ferdinand and Isabella conquered them in 1461, the year before Isabel I. fitted out the little fleet with which Columbus discovered America. The Moorish kings built the Alhambra, and it was regarded as one of the most gorgeous of their structures. The Emperor Charles V constructed a splendid new edifice on a part of the ruins of the old palace. Historic associations or less than the artistic excellence of the buildings have made the Alhambra famous in song and story.

Governor Hill, of New York, manifests no disposition to yield to the pressure which is being made on him to interfere with the law for executions by electricity. A reporter in Albany has asked him, since Kemmler's death, whether any steps will be taken, or if he thought any ought to be taken, to prevent other executions by electricity.

"After considering all that has been said about this matter," he replied, "I must still stay that I believe in the law." When asked what he thought about the charges that electrical executions were brutal and inhuman, the Governor remarked cautiously that the taking of a man's life against his will could hardly be looked upon as humane. There was nothing in the reports from the officials who witnessed the execution to convince him that the law for electrical execution should be repealed, and while he declined to enter into a discussion of the merits of the new system, he said, emphatically: "You may say for me that I believe in the law."

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

This insidious ailment, if too long neglected, will undermine the strongest constitution and bring the victim to a premature grave. Heed the timely warning, and regain health at once by a use of the proper restorative, that great strengthener of the urinary and digestive organs, B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm).
David Runkel, Oulman, Ga., writes: "I used a hundred dollars worth of medicine for Bright's disease, but it did me no good. I then took B. B. B., which relieved me. My appetite is restored and I urinate without pain."
J. A. Maddox, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I had great trouble in passing urine which was filled with sediments. My back and loins gave me much pain and I lost my appetite, strength and flesh. I became nervous and unable to sleep soundly. Two bottles of B. B. B. gave me entire relief."
Thomas Williams, Soddy, Tenn., writes: "I was troubled with severe kidney complaint and confined to my bed. Six bottles of B. B. B. made a well man of me."

A Horse Feeding Apparatus.

A citizen of a western town, of an inventive turn of mind, concluded that it involved too much labor on his part to rise early every cold morning and trot out to the barn to feed the family horse. So he purchased two tons of oats, had them placed in a bin over the horse's stall and connected the manger and bin by means of a chute terminating in a hopper. To the hopper he attached a valve controlled by electricity, and so arranged that, when operated, a single feed of oats would run into the manger. He ran his wires into the kitchen and connected them with a push button. The family were charmed with the arrangement, and quite envied him the pleasure of feeding the family pet. After a few days peculiar noises began to issue from the barn, and upon investigation, poor Pegasus was found to be fairly swimming in two tons of A. I. oats. He was dug out, and the valve which worked so well consigned to oblivion.—New York Star.

Died from Starvation.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Gustav A. Tuche, 60 years old, a rich miser, died of starvation in a squalid room at 216 East One Hundred and Second street tonight. He had bank books showing deposits of over $10,000 and title deeds to three tenement houses. He had lived on two quarts of milk and four quarts of potatoes a week. He was a book-cavasser.

WHAT IS SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. "My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofula sore neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLILE, Naughton, N. J.

Duffy's Cough Mixture.

A prompt and efficient remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Sore-throats, Diphtheria, Catarrh, Etc.
I have tried DUFFY'S COUGH MIXTURE and take pleasure in recommending it because I believe it will do all that is claimed for it by Mr. Duffy, the proprietor, who is a druggist of long experience and a gentleman of highest integrity. I do not believe he would advertise anything that was not exceptionally good. This Remedy has certainly answered the purpose in my case. It cured a cold, an obstinate cough I had, after I had tried a number of the principal cough remedies without benefit.
