Starving Indians.

There is something profoundly pathetic in the eagerness with which the Sioux Indians are looking for their promised Messiah. For twenty years they have been taught to believe that he may make his appearance at any moment, and now the "medicine men" predict that before the grass is four inches high in the spring their longed for and prayed for deliverance will arrive.

The Sioux have worked themselves into a condition of dangerous religious fanaticism. With pomp, ceremony and characteristic dances they celebrate the approach of the Saviour. He is to come clothed in power, to save the scattered remnant and re-establish the old regime, in which the Indians owned the forests of the country.

The white man is to be driven away from possessions which he has stolen, game is to be plenty and the happiness which prevailed before Columbus discovered the New World, is to be once more the lot of the wigwam.

This dream, which can never be realized, has filled the Sioux with unrest. Even the missionaries are in peril, and Mrs. Weldon has been forced to seek safety in Kansas.

In the meantime the rations promised by the government have not arrived and the Indians are starving. They have little or no clothing to protect them from the bitter cold and just food enough to keep them hungry all the time.

These wards of the Republic are cheated out of the food which has been promised, but when they complain or in very desperation rise in revolt and commit an outrage they are shot down like dogs, and word is sent to "the Great Father" at Washington that the only good Indian is a dead Indian.

The truth is they are far more docile than we white men would be under similar circumstances. The least we can do is to keep our pledges, but we have never done it. We rob, cheat, lie to the red man, and when he grows restless we put an ounce of lead into him. Our whole Indian policy has been and is a shame and a disgrace.—New York Herald.

"Public Opinion."

Public Opinion, the eclectic weekly published in Washington and New York, offers a first prize of $50, a second of $35, and a third of $20 for the best three essays on the interesting question: "The Industrial Future of the South?" This is a most timely topic, and great interest will be awakened in the competition. The prizes are to be awarded by a committee of three business men of national repute, who will not know the names of the writers until the decision is made. The essays must be limited to 3,000 words, and must be received by December 15th. Full particulars may be had by addressing Public Opinion, Washington, D. C.

The industrial development of the South during the last ten or fifteen years has been the most interesting feature of our national growth. It may be doubted if, in any age or country, its parallel has been witnessed. The authentic statements of the industrial growth of that section, as they have been published from year to year, have attracted world-wide attention and excited a profound interest—an interest not confined to business circles, but extending to all intelligent observers of public events.

Recognizing the universality of this feeling, the management of Public Opinion has decided to offer prizes of $50, $30 and $20 for the best three essays on "The Industrial Future of the South." It is a great theme—so great that only a broad mind can comprehend it; but, inasmuch as it has been frequently and ably discussed in the press of all sections, and in many commercial conventions, it is reasonable to suppose that the invitation of Public Opinion will call out a large number of valuable papers, throwing new light on a topic that is becoming more and more attractive to all citizens whose patriotism is not limited to any one part of our common country.

Wanamaker as a Shop-keeper.

John Wanamaker is given the credit of a very large share in bringing about the overthrow of the Republican party by "a stalwart Republican," whose letter appears in the Philadelphia Press. Charles E. Allen says that during the late political campaign he "read all the leading papers in these parts, Republican and Democratic, and also came in contact with gentlemen who travel the country over, as travelling salesmen." One of the things which in Mr. Allen's opinion "went a long, long way in defeating us in the election" was this:

John Wanamaker's advertisement, day after day, about "Buy your tinware now, before the McKinley bill goes into effect." McAdoo, of New Jersey, travelled all through the New England States addressing the farmers. He invariably read Wanamaker's advertisement, cut from the Philadelphia Press, "to buy your tinware now, before it goes up in price."

"No wonder," concludes the letter, "the countryman was frightened into either staying at home or voting the Democratic ticket." How careless, he might have added, were Reed and McKinley not to tell Wanamaker to "keep it dark" until after the election. Did they really suppose Wanamaker was a better Republican than shop-keeper?—News and Observer.

The Law as to Lotteries.

Will you be kind enough to publish the following law in this State on the subject of lotteries, which is section 1047 of the Code of North Carolina:

"Section 1047. If any person shall open, set on foot, carry on, promote, make or draw, publicly or privately, a lottery, by whatever name, style or title the same may be denominated or known; or if any person, by such way or means, expose or set to sale any house or houses, real estate or any goods or chattels, cash or written evidence of debt, or certificates of claims, or anything of value whatsoever, every person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and be fined not exceeding two thousand dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding six months, or both, in the discretion of the court. Any person or society, association, company or organization of persons whatsoever, who engages in disposing of any species of property whatsoever, money or evidence of debt, or in any manner distributes gifts or prizes upon tickets or certificates sold for that purpose, shall be held liable to indictment and prosecuted under this section."

CATARRH.

Catarrh is a most disgusting ailment and yet many unnecessarily suffer with the disease. They will try local applications, which do no good whatever, but fail to try such constitutional treatment as is afforded by a use of B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) which removes the mucous poison in the blood and thus eradicates the cause of the disease. N. C. Edwards, Lampasas Springs, Tex. writes: "I was greatly annoyed with catarrh which impaired my general health. The discharge from my nose was very offensive, and I used various advertised remedies without benefit until finally the use of B. B. B. entirely cured me. I am proud to recommend a blood remedy with such powerful curative virtues."

A Tree Worth $5,000.

On the side of the Big Black Mountain, 300 yards from the Wise county line, in Harlan county, Ky., there stood until last week a tree that is thought to be South Appalachian Mountains.

It is curled grained black walnut, and the owner had it grubbed up by the roots so as not to lose even a chip.

A New York lumber dealer bought the tree from an ignorant mountaineer for $50, paid a man $300 to move it to the nearest railroad, and thinks he will make a profit of $5,000 from the tree.

The New Discovery.

You have heard your friends and neighbors talking about it. You may yourself be one of the many who know from personal experience just how good a thing it is. If you have ever tried it, you are one of its staunch friends, because the wonderful thing about it is that when once given a trial, Dr. King's New Discovery ever afterwards holds a place in the house. If you have never used it and should be afflicted with a cough, cold or any throat, lung or chest trouble, secure a bottle at once and give it a fair trial. It is guaranteed every time, or money refunded. Trial bottles free at F. S. Duffy's drug store.

Evangelist Fife at Mooresville.

Private advices say that Dr. Drummer Evangelist W. P. Fife closed a week's meeting at Mooresville, N. C., on Sunday night last, and that at the least calculations there were 600 professions and reclamations. Two hundred and three persons have already handed in their names for church membership. One thousand two hundred men took the pledge to drink no more, and never to enter a barroom again. Four hundred persons renounced dancing and card playing. The sum of $2,000 was raised to build a presbyterian parsonage at Mooresville. Mr. Fife contributed $50 of that amount. Four hundred dollars was raised to pay on the tabernacle building and a purse of $750 was presented to Mr. Fife.

The evangelist commences a meeting next Sunday at Louisburg.

—Wilmington Messenger.

PERHAPS no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh.

While not immediately fatal it is among the most distressing and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cure of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising.

Every patriot should take off his hat to the Alliance for breaking down sectionalism in the North-west.

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's. Peculiar in its medicinal merits, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered."

Peculiar in its "good name at home,"—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers.

Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly.

Do not be induced to buy other preparations, but be sure to get the Peculiar Medicine.
