THE JOURNAL.

A MILLIONAIRE.
MRS. V. A. LEMIS.

She was not rich as the world calls rich, And time had whitened her hair; But her face lighted up with a beautiful smile, As she wrote, "I'm a Millionaire."

My Father at home is a very great King, And so, I'm a princess, you see, And when I my last lesson have said, His chariot is coming for me.

When the lessons are hard, and my eyes grow dim, With hot and fast-falling tears, I try to be patient, for I know that my school will last but a few more years.

Then, when I go home, a maid in a blue dress, And a crown filled with beads and pearls, And a robe of shining and richly dyed silk, Such as none of the earth possesses, bring.

My voice is not in school now, I hear, My hand is weak as I hold a pen, But I soon will be strong to hold a whip, And I'll sing like an angel then.

My step goes weaker day by day, To see it's a glad, good sign, That I soon shall walk the golden street, By the palace that is to be mine.

For me the flowers have died long ago, And friends left me on my own, But in all my long journey I never have felt, I've been left for one moment alone.

The way has been cleared by the presence of One, Whom I see not, but feel at my side, I shall see him in my school when I come home, And seeing be at my side!

Dr. Hain's Peanut Candy

Shell your peanuts and keep them in a cup and take just the same quantity of granulated sugar as you have peanuts. Put the sugar in a skillet or spider in the fire, and keep moving the skillet around until the sugar is dissolved; then put in the peanuts and pour into buttered tin. This is delicious, and so quickly made.—Philadelphia Ledger.

TAKE S.S.S. IN THE SPRING.

Nature should be assisted in the spring to throw off the heaviness of the sluggish winter circulation of the blood. Nothing does it so well, so prompt or so safely as Swift's Specific.

I have used S. S. S. for a number of years, and consider it the best tonic and blood remedy that I ever used. In fact I would not attempt to enter upon a spring or summer in this climate without it.

THE Dickens! HOME AND FARM,

$3.00 for the Works of Charles Dickens, handsomely printed and finely bound, and with over 130 illustrations, doubtless seems fabulous to many, but it is one of the recent happy products of Alden's Literary Revolution.

Is a thrilling story appearing in HOME AND FARM, by John R. Musick, and is exciting wide attention. Short stories by distinguished writers appear from time to time.

BILL APP'S LETTERS

Appear in each issue, and this humorous philosopher was never more interesting than at this time.

IN ITS EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT

HOME AND FARM speaks boldly and fearlessly in behalf of "Farmers' Rights." It favors a revision of the tariff in behalf of the farmer; better roads for the farmer; Free Mail Delivery to the farmer; Co-operation among the farmers, and its aim is to "Put Farmers' Rights" in the front rank.

"Fair Trade and Farmers' Rights."
