DEFIANT Indians are much uneasiness.

The miner's strike in Adams has become general.

PARNELL is confident of his supremacy.

The greatest pressure for Force bill comes from the Force House.

A BILL has been introduced in the Senate reducing the postage to one cent.

The Mississippi Legislature meet quadrennally. Good for the people, bad for the candidates.

The Democratic Senators held a caucus and determined to fight the Force bill at every point to the end.

SENATOR TURPER, of Indiana, opened the debate on the Force bill, on the Democratic side, by a speech of great ability.

SENATOR EDMONDS, of Virginia, is asking a pension for a lady who is represented to be one hundred and five years of age.

BALFOUR, Chief Secretary of Ireland, has ordered a man-of-war to convey coal for the purpose of relieving the distress which prevails there on account of the failure of the potato crop.

"LATEST accounts of Senator Ingalls are that he is preparing to write a political novel." The novel is before the public. An interesting chapter of history will be furnished by the Kansas Legislature.

The Richmond Dispatch well says: From the Republican standpoint the alternative is to pass the (Force) bill or to prepare to accept defeat in 1892. We must meet their desperation with all our resources of resistance, and keep the people with us. Then all will be well.

An immense meeting in Dublin, Ireland, endorses Parnell. A resolution was moved by a Protestant member and seconded by a Catholic priest calling upon the people of Ireland to come to the support of Parnell. The resolution was carried without a dissenting vote.

There are about 30,000 Indians in the Northwest who have the Measiah craze. Quite a large force are armed with Winchester rifles and are well supplied with ammunition. In case of war their would be much distress on the frontier, but the Indians would soon be wiped out.

The Wilmington Messenger says: "It is an evidence that the Atlanta Constitution is not paying because its managing editor is Speaker of the Georgia House, and his business manager is trying to be mayor of the city." Our excellent friend of the Messenger don't seem to know Georgia editors. We once knew one who was a school teacher and a tailor.

LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS
Dr. King—Royal Germatuer.
H. C. Benson—Lamp Glass.
R. J. Goodson—Extracts, dungs, etc.

NOTICE—New Berne market—Sales of 61 bales at 7 to $50.

The Electric Light Company say that the parties near the market who have been interfering with the electric light wires do not stop immediately, they will be compelled to prosecute. It is a very recently increased news the electric light.

A plan was presented in regard to the proposed extension of Broad street bridge. Should complaint be made to the proper authorities and just it would no doubt be immediately discontinued.

A dozen carpenters and bricklayers are busy building the grand stand at the Fair grounds. Wherever work is done at work using white wash is based on the race track fence, and the other plank fences, a complete in fact everything about the grounds that is not painted will receive attention at their hands, making everything look neat and pleasant. Go and take a look at the improvements they are finishing and what are made in the hands.

R. J. Parnell, ed. of the Kronsberg, a former resident of New Berne, visited us at Goldsboro yesterday. He is a son of the late Capt. Reed, and is attending a conference which opens in Wilson next week. He reports a favorable report of his year's work. There have been 142 conversions from the preaching and 78 additions to the church's under his charge. The large amount raised by these churches probably has been less than $800 in a year they have raised $2,200. We do not believe Dan on the success of our lag his ministry.

Church Notice.

Hancock Street Methodist Church—Sunday, December 7th, closing services of the conference year. Preaching by the pastor at 11 a. m., at the conclusion of which the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered; preaching by the pastor at 7:15 p. m. Prayer meeting at 9:15 a. m. Sunday school at 3 p. m. W. R. Barrington, supt. The public are invited to these services and will receive a cordial welcome.

Another View of the Question.
The JOURNAL—Any one reading the communication signed "C. M." in yesterday's JOURNAL would be led to suppose that the city government was responsible for the location chosen for the "merry-go-round," which is totally at variance with the facts.

Any intelligent man knows that in such cases the city simply sues the license—the remainder of the business lies between the proprietor of the show and the owner of the place of exhibition, and no city official has anything to do with the site chosen or necessarily any knowledge of it.

If any annoyance resulted in this in the sensible and manly course for the annoyed party to have pursued would have been to have notified the parties responsible for the disturbance, and if they would not themselves remedy the matter, then to have quietly asked the proper officials to do so, and if these steps had been taken and there had been any just ground of complaint, the matter would have been at once properly adjusted without any excitement about it.

VERITAS.

A New Berne Wonder.

For five years I have been a chronic sufferer from spinal disease, heart trouble, indigestion and catarrh of stomach. I tried various remedies suggested by friends without relief. I then put myself under a prominent physician with no favorable result. In all I was under seven (7) physicians, who would relieve me temporarily in one way, but I grew worse otherwise. At last my life was despaired of by physicians, friends and family. My cough alone disturbed my neighbors. My hemorrhages were aggravated. At this juncture our Mayor, Mr. Battle, advised me to try Dr. King's Royal Germatuer. I did so and relief came at once, and ere I had taken three bottles my health had been so much restored that I could do my own house work the first time in five years; and I only wish that every poor suffering woman could know what a God-send this medicine is and what a treasure it is to suffering humanity. Any of my friends and neighbors can vouch for the above.

AN IMPORTANT MOVE.

Big Real Estate Deal by Some of Our Enterprising Citizens.

One of the best pieces of news that we have gotten hold of lately is a real estate deal that has just been consummated by some of our enterprising citizens, who clearly see what is in store for the future prosperity of New Berne.

Messrs. G. N. Ives, Wm. Dunn and Chas. Reizenstein have purchased the Carroll property at the western portion of the city and will at once have it laid off in streets and building lots. This fine property commences at Five Points and extends along Broad street to the Miller land, comprising about fourteen acres of eligible property.

This purchase shows that these gentlemen are satisfied with New Berne as a place for investment. We do not claim that there is any boom here but we do know that the business of the city is increasing every day and at a much greater proportion than for years. It is a steady, substantial growth that carries confidence and assurance with it. Following this transaction we are to have another bank, and the public building will be under construction in a short while. A new oyster cannery in addition to the mammoth one of Messrs. Moore & Brady has been established this season. Our numerous lumber mills have been taxed to their utmost and are often behind with orders, and in fact every line of business shows activity and life.

With the same amount of push and energy exercised by its citizens as has characterized other booming places, New Berne would outstrip them all. Give us more men like Messrs. Ives, Dunn and Reizenstein, who have proven themselves not too timid to expend their money in making public improvements and adding to the growth and attractiveness of the city.

To Williamston, Maritima County.

On Wednesday, November 26, 1890, I started on a trip of a few days to Williamston, Maritima County, N. C. Only a few miles were traveled the first day. Thursday I reached Williamston, where I remained until late in the afternoon of Friday. Sheriff Hodges having very kindly furnished me a horse and buggy for the remainder of the week, I drove eight miles in the country that I might reach Williamston in time for preaching Saturday morning. I spent a very pleasant night with the family of J. W. Hodges, who is one of Beaufort county's best farmers, and is a strong Alliance man. Every one tells the good news of a plentiful crop. Men who for years have not been able to pay their debts, have in consequence of the good crop this year paid this year's debts and some on back debts, an example worthy of emulation. How many hearts would be made happy, how many families would be put in comparatively easy circumstances if many who have been the recipients of a bountiful crop would just pay what they could on back debts. A debt never, morally, goes out of date.

Saturday morning I started for Williamston, reaching there a few minutes before 11 a. m., just in time to hear quite an interesting sermon from a deacon of Beaufort county.

After the sermon, a bountiful dinner was spread near the church, and, judging from actions all enjoyed very much the rich viands so well and tastily prepared by the ladies of Williamston and vicinity. After dinner a business session was held, lasting the greater part of the afternoon.

Saturday night the writer preached to a crowded house. Sunday morning a Sunday-school conference was held, in which several made short talks on Sunday-school work. It was an old-time experience meeting, and we think good will be the result. There being so large a crowd it was decided to have preaching in two churches, so the M. E. Church, which had been kindly offered, was accepted and the writer preached in it to a large and attentive audience, while D. W. Davis preached in the Disciples' house of worship to as many as could get in the house and stand around the windows. At 12 m. the church was dedicated, a debt of $376 having been lifted from the building during the session of the Union meeting.

Sunday night we returned to Washington and spent the night, Monday and Tuesday night at Sheriff Hodges, than whose a more hospitable family you will scarcely find in Beaufort county. A county note for his hospitality.

Tuesday about 6:45 a. m. we left Washington for New Berne, reaching here just before 6 p. m. Soon after 8 o'clock my attention was arrested by many voices and sound of many feet in my piazza, and very soon the house was full of ladies and gentlemen who had brought baskets and sacks filled with good things—things that help out the larder wonderfully. Such a reception by the brethren and sisters is indeed pleasant and encouraging, and we offer our great thanks for the splendid and bountiful offering of Tuesday night. We also offer our thanks to the good brother for the nice Thanksgiving turkey.

PERHAPS no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most distressing and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cure of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising.
