SPEAKING catawompously, Harrison has been treed. Axmen are standing around and the question of the moment is will he jump, come down or wait for the tree to fall.

THE Masonic Temple, in Baltimore, together with the records of the Grand Lodge since its organization, more than a century ago, all of the paraphernalia, banners, etc., was destroyed by fire Friday morning; the fine building which cost $450,000 was entirely gutted.

THE Wilmington Stars "Outlines" says: "Speculations relative to coming legislation in Congress are that the adoption of cloture is considered doubtful, that no financial bill can pass the House that is not purely a Republican measure and that the prospect of the Election bill is not very bright."

THERE is a lively fight going on between the two branches of Congress over the Urgent Deficiency bill, the Senate desiring to incorporate in it a provision for annual salaries to Senator's clerks and the House opposing it. Neither side will yield and there is a dead lock.

THE old, old, query, "who discovered America?" is still a puzzle. Perhaps the enquiry will narrow down to the question, did Columbus discover America, or America discover Columbus and take him in out of the wet. It is certain they met, and the meeting has had considerable influence on the public generally.

CHRISTMAS week meant to be very kind to the Messenger, judging from the gratifying increase in our subscription lists. Thanks, friends, this week winds up our seventh volume in Wilmington and we begin to feel that we have about won a desperate fight for success and permanence. — Wilmington Messenger. The Messenger won because it desired to win. Such a paper is sure of appreciation.

THE laws of Arkansas prohibit the selling of cigarettes to boys under sixteen years of age, under penalty of from $10 to $100 fine. A number of merchants were recently made to shell out for violating the law. And yet some people are under the impression that Arkansas is a sort of a back woods State. — Wilmington Star.

THE Manufacturers' Record of December 27th designates the action of the late Asheville convention, on the charges it made against John T. Patrick, as "Star-Chamber proceedings and white-wash," and then goes for the convention without gloves. Messrs. Chilton and Patrick, General Manager and Secretary of the Southern Immigration Bureau, should advertise in the Record like "Denison, Texas, the Queen city of the southwest," and "Sheffield, Ala. The Superb," then they could look for praise instead of censure.

The New Berne Collegiate Institute, which suspended last week for the holidays, to opened yesterday with an addition of five new pupils.

The new revenue cutter Winona is expected out here about the middle of January. She is receiving her crew now. Several New Berne men have gone to take positions on her.

The deciding contest in the hare and hound chase will be run tomorrow evening at three o'clock. There will be only six riders for the prize, but others will probably join in for the sport. The starting point will be just beyond the suburbs of the city, on the right going out into Neuse road.

Personal.

Mr. D. M. Jones and Mr. Cicero Dickinson returned yesterday from spending Christmas with relatives in Beaufort.

Mr. B. H. Melton, a pupil of the New Berne Collegiate Institute, has returned from spending Christmas at his home in Pollockville. He brings the pleasing intelligence that the people of that section are thoroughly awake on the Fair question and are more interested in preparing exhibits than ever before. Jones county had splendid crops this year and we expect a fine exhibit from it. Let the other counties look to their laurels.

Judge H. R. Bryan left for Raleigh on professional business.

Mr. F. W. Hancock left from a visit to his relatives in the city.

Mr. Nelson Whitford's sister, Mrs. Sarah Jackson and her grand-daughter, Miss Carrie Williams, who have been visiting Mr. Whitford, returned to their home near Kinston.

Mr. C. E. Foy's sister-in-law, Mrs. C. H. Foy, and children, of Jones county, who have been spending Christmas with Mr. Foy, left for Winston, their future home yesterday.

The steamer Newberne, of O. D. line, took out the following passengers yesterday: J. B. Dixon returning to Elizabeth City from spending Christmas with his relatives to resume his duties as mate of the steamer Pamlico, Mr. Henry F. Arnold the former mate of the steamer Kinston leaving for Baltimore to take a position on the new revenue cutter Winona, which will soon arrive, and Miss Helen Southgate and Miss Maria Bunce returning to their homes in Norfolk from a pleasure trip to the city.

Miss Jennie Steinhelper returned last night to re-enter New Berne Collegiate Institute from spending Christmas with her parents at Manchester.

Mrs. Nelson Whitford went down to Beaufort for a visit to her mother, Mrs. Cornelia Haskett.

Miss Hortense Tolson returned to her home at Croatan from spending Christmas with her sister, Mrs. J. B. Watson.

Miss Mary Oliver of this city, and her sister, Mrs. T. M. Constable, of Charlotte, left on the steamer Neuse of the E. C. D. line to visit friends in Norfolk.

Rev. J. W. Gurganus, of the Vanceboro circuit, and his family came in last night en route to Vanceboro.

CHILDREN ENJOY

The pleasant flavor, gentle action and soothing effects of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative, and if the father or mother be coative or bilious the most gratifying results follow its use, so that it is the best family remedy known and every family should have a bottle.

Work for the Fair.

Now that Christmas is over let everybody bend their energies toward making the coming Fair the grandest success of any that we ever had.

No other local event transcends or equals in importance to the eastern portion of our State this annual exhibition of the New Berne Fish, Oyster, Game and Industrial Association. This is pre-eminently true of the effects on New Berne and Craven county, but its benefits are not confined to this immediate vicinity but they reach out to every adjoining county, and not one of them can afford to let an opportunity pass unheeded of displaying every year at the New Berne Fair, a good variety of its products and resources. Our Fair is productive of good not only to Eastern North Carolina but to the entire State.

The officers and directors of the Fair deserve great credit for their disinterested zeal and wisely directed energy in doing everything in their power that is promotive of the interests of the Fair. Year by year under the management of the arrangements for exhibits have improved, until the Fair Association now owns buildings, grounds and improvements that are an ornament to the city and a credit to the Association and our people generally. And this year's improvements have been added that make the property well nigh perfect for the purpose for which it was designed.

The exhibits which were very creditable from the first time the Fair was ever held have likewise improved in variety and excellence and our Fair now stands in the very front rank among all the Fairs held in the State. Our crops have been finer this year than any previous year since the Fair was organized, and if our farmers and other exhibitors bestir themselves properly—as the indications are that they will do—this Fair will be far ahead of any yet held.

There is every inducement to bring good and varied exhibits. The advantages that will accrue from the prominence given to the community by the Fair and from the citizens of one locality seeing what their neighbors are doing are two strong arguments for making the Fair as good possible, and the liberal premiums are an enticing incentive to friendly rivalry.

Two thousand and five hundred copies of the premium list are printed and will be judiciously placed. The first copies of them were mailed last night. It was prepared by those excellent printers, N. S. Richardson & Son. It is a neat and pretty pamphlet of sixty-four pages, with an ornamental cover in striking colors harmoniously blended and beautifully shading into each other. There are 665 regular and 50 special premiums besides those offered for races, and there are over a thousand dollars offered for them. The total premiums foot up over three thousand dollars.

Go to work in earnest and let us have a rousing Fair.

Christmas Bower.

Rev. T. P. Rieusd preached a fine sermon, Sunday morning, to a good audience from the last verse of the first chapter of the Songs of Solomon. The sermon was suggested by the arrangements made for the Sunday-school Christmas festivities Friday night. Instead of having a tree, the committee in charge, Messrs. Lodge, Ball and Barrington erected a beautiful arbor or bower over the pulpit, on which to hang the presents, and Mr. Rieusd chose that bower for his subject.

The ladies and gentlemen evinced great taste and skill in the arrangement of the bower.

It was constructed of cedar, holly, moss, etc., with a large five-foot ball of the same materials in the center, and two three-foot balls on each side, the clappers of which were Japanese lanterns. The bower had an arched front with the inscription, "Peace on Earth." The bower was so lovely that it has been photographed by Mr. Edward Gerock, and the pictures will be sold for the benefit of the church.

Insurance Notice.

It is necessary in order to comply with the requirements of all Insurance Policies that when there are two or more policies on the same property that an endorsement of the additional insurance should be made on each policy. I therefore request all persons having policies issued by me to examine and if there is additional insurance which has not been endorsed on their policies to bring them to me and have the necessary endorsement made on them. This costs nothing and may save complication in case of a fire.

POLICE OFFICERS' POWERS.

HAVE THEY THE RIGHT TO MAKE ARRESTS FOR MISDEMEANORS WITHOUT WARRANT.

The trial of a case involving the right of a police-officer to make an arrest for assault and battery or other misdemeanor without a warrant—where the officer is not an eye-witness of the occurrence—was tried yesterday afternoon at the city hall before Capt. John Cowan, Justice of the Peace; the case having been removed from Mayor Fowler's Court on affidavit of defendants through their counsel, Mr. Marden Bellamy.

Investigation of the case before the magistrate showed that two citizens, Thursday evening about 6:30 o'clock, became involved in a difficulty on South Front, near Market street. One of them struck the other several blows and broke a walking-cane over his head. The latter, leaving his assailant standing on the street, met a policeman three or four minutes afterward and demanded that the officer arrest the man who had struck him. The policeman accompanied the man back to the place where the difficulty had just occurred, and (according to the testimony of several witnesses) told the man who struck the blows to consider himself under arrest. The officer was asked if he had a warrant for the arrest and replied that it made no difference, and the citizen then defied the officer, and seized him by the collar of his coat at the throat. The officer ordered the citizen to release his grasp and drew his club as if to strike, when the club was seized by another citizen. While the parties were scuffling, another police officer came up and released the hold the citizen had on the officer, and the citizen and his friend submitted and agreed to accompany the officers to police headquarters, where charges were entered against them for resisting an officer in the performance of his duty. The police officer who first attempted to make the arrest made a statement a little at variance with the above details, claiming that he did not tell the citizen he was under arrest until he (the citizen) had defied him and seized him by the collar; that he simply told the citizen that his arrest had been demanded by the man assaulted.

The case was argued by Mr. Marden Bellamy for defendants; that the police officer had exceeded his powers and had no right to attempt an arrest without warrant; not being a witness of the assault. And Mr. Du B. Cutlar, city attorney, argued that the police officer was justified in his action and that it was his right and duty to make the arrest under the circumstances. The magistrate's decision was in favor of the defendants, and they were discharged. — Wilmington Star.

The Masonic Temple in Baltimore Destroyed.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 25.—The Masonic Temple was ruined today by fire. Luckily the burning took place just before Forepaugh's Theatre, which is in the Temple, would be opened for the day performance. The building is reduced to a mere shell. Nearly all of the records of the Grand Lodge since its organization, more than a century ago, the paraphernalia, uniforms, records of individual lodges, costly banners, relics that cannot be replaced, and the fine library of the Grand Lodge were burned.

The Masons stood sorrowfully about, among them Grand Master Shyrook, contemplating the wreck and ruin. The fine building, which had cost $450,000, was entirely gutted.

Insurance on the Masonic Temple aggregated $95,240; on furniture and fittings $8,000.

The old U. S. court house building, now vacant, has been secured as a temporary home for the burned out Masonic bodies.

The loss on the building is variously estimated from $50,000 to $100,000, but the majority seem to think that rebuilding can be done at the cost of about $80,000. A very large additional loss was on fixtures, in the shape of remarkably handsome carpets, furniture and historical relics. The Commandery rooms of the Templars in the top story were entirely destroyed, with contents involving a loss of $25,000, to which is added individual losses to the Templars of regalia, uniforms, etc., aggregating $100,000.

Forepaugh lost every bit of scenery which belonged to him, and Gray & Stevens lost all of their scenery and other effects, except a small amount of clothing which was still in trunks. The loss of Forepaugh is about $10,000, and of the traveling company about $20,000, as stated by one of the managers.

Fatal Fire at Sea—Two Hundred Lives Lost.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—Further advices from China as to burning the steamship Shanghai near Woo Hoo, in the province of Nghan Hooi, about fifty miles from Nanking, show that the disaster was much more serious than at first imagined.

The earliest advices received stated the victims consisted of about sixty natives, together with several European officers who, it is supposed, have met death either in the flames or subsequently by drowning while attempting to escape from the burning vessel. Now it seems the number of lives lost will amount to over two hundred, and all lost their lives by drowning.

A terrible panic, it appears, occurred among the Chinese passengers and crew as soon as the alarm of fire was heard, and the panic increased terribly when the flames spread beyond control of the terror stricken crew. The few European officers on board the Shanghai seem to have done their best to maintain order among the Chinamen without result.

The Greatest Event of the Season Was on Christmas day, when Big Ike was seen on the streets driving four-in-hand of J. W. Stewart's large bays, with his force of eight clerks, dressed with black suits and Cleveland beaver hats. It was wonderful to see hundreds of people following his carriage and picking up his circulars to see whether it was Cleveland or Big Ike. Some said it was our next President. (Grover Cleveland, and others said it was Big Ike, the Clothing Man, who buys so many merchants out at from 40 to 50 and 67 1/2 on the dollar. The doors, windows and gates of every house and lot were full of people, and all exclaiming hurrah for Cleveland, and at the close of his procession as he drove down Broad street, at J. W. Stewart's mammoth livery stables, which seems to be the center of attraction, there were from one to two thousand people, and all exclaimed, it is not Cleveland, but Big Ike, the Clothing Man.
