ROBERTS & BRID are receiving their fall stock Boots and Shoes, Dry Goods, Groceries and Provisions. They buy at headquarters and can give you Low Prices.

It is stated that Parnell will marry Mrs. O'Shea as soon as the divorce is made absolute.

BABY MCKEE has called upon Mr. Blaine. The young gentleman shows marked sagacity.

The Indian war is one 3000 Sioux are on the war path. Houses and churches burned.

It is said that General Lee once refused $200,000 and a royalty, to write a history of the war.

PARNELL, it is said, consents to retire from the Irish leadership provided Mr. O'Brien is to be his successor.

The picture of Baby McKee has appeared in the papers. Rather early, but he is in line of promotion and stands about a good chance for an endorsement as his grandfather does.

No man can tell the condition of the Indian problem. It may be settled by the disarming of the braves, or it may continue as it has been for years, unsolved—a muddle and a disgrace.

It is estimated that in 1892 there will be 1,000,000 names on the pension rolls, and that the expenditures then will reach $200,000,000, more than enough to run this government economically administered.—Wilmington Star.

A GAG rule cannot be adopted in the Senate except by an act of usurpation and the denial of rights which Senators have enjoyed for a hundred years. But, what of it? The majority in the Senate are Republicans and usurpation is the card they play whenever the game is desperate.

JUDGE PETTIGREW, of Sioux Falls S. D., and brother of Senator Pettigrew died Wednesday night; during his illness he was under the treatment of the Christian Scientists, and their is much feeling from the fact that his death resulted from this circumstance.

The usual New Year reception took place in the Blue parlor of the Presidential mansion, and was carried out after "the old regulation style." Now if the Senate will proceed to business after "the old regulation style" national affairs will brighten up amazingly.

The old hulk, known as the Republican party, came near going to pieces in the storm that broke loose in the late Senatorial caucus. Another caucus will be held during the week and one more effort to reach some conclusion on the Force bill and the propose gag law.

The New York World, of December 31, says: The report of the sale of The World sent out from this city by some fabricator of falsehoods is absolute without any foundation in fact. The rumor was so absurd in its terms that it did not seem to call for a formal denial; but inasmuch as inquiries reach this office from remote parts of the country it may be said once for all that The World has not been sold; that it is not for sale, and that the question of a change in its ownership was never considered by its proprietor.

The Norfolk Landmark well says: The leading financial and industrial papers of the country predict a continuance of prosperous times and an easier money market. Everything points to improvement. The general movement toward development and prosperity will culminate next year in the election of a Democratic administration.

The dallying of Harrison and Blaine with the Behring sea controversy leaves ground for the suspicion that they are holding it in reserve with the express purpose of getting into a tangle with England in order to have a new issue in the next Presidential campaign, to appeal to national pride and divert attention from the issues which have proved so disastrous to their party and promise more disaster.—Wilmington Star.

LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS
R. N. DUFFY—Croup syrup.
R. J. GOODING—Seven Springs water.

Messrs. Howard & Green's steam laundry is kept busy now that it is being found out what nice work is being done on men's linen. Have you ever given the laundry a trial or been down to view it at work?

The oath of office of the Superior Court Judge was administered to Hon. Henry B. Bryan before Chief Justice Merrimon at Raleigh Friday in the Supreme Court room. Other newly elected judges were sworn in the same day.

It is reported that Plymouth had a twenty thousand dollar fire Saturday. The stores of J. M. Reed & Son, N. D. Norman, M. J. Norman, Mrs. Gollet, S. K. Everett and Louis C. Latham were burned. Reed & Son's loss is half the total amount.

Mrs. D. Stimson is making a handsome lawn of the recently purchased lot adjoining her residence, which she has taken in as a part of her front yard. It has been prettily laid out with curved walks, and young silver maples, white mountain ash trees and evergreens set out. It already presents a very attractive appearance.

In this issue our Oaslow correspondent tells of some prodigious ears of corn that he has seen, and declares his intention of procuring some of them for the Fair. That is the way to do. Let every one do all he can in the way of preparing good exhibits and talk of the Fair among neighbors until it is seen that they are aroused and at work also. There is material in this section for as fine a Fair exhibit as was ever shown in the State. Bring it to the front and let everybody see what a magnificent country we live in.

The crowd of idlers that daily congregate at the depot, occupying the waiting room, usurping the seats and other conveniences provided and meant for the accommodation of the travelling public, and blocking up the platform so that it is often difficult and annoying even for gentlemen to force their way through, to say nothing of the inconvenience that ladies are subjected to, has grown to be such an intolerable nuisance that steps ought to be taken to remedy the evil. There is a special city ordinance against a assembling at such places so as to obstruct the free passage of persons or freight, and if some of the offenders were apprehended and the full rigor of the law meted out to them, it might have a wholesome effect in deterring not only the ones convicted, but others who make the depot a loafing place at train time from a continuance of the practice. It would take but a short experience at the depot to convince any one that something ought to be done in this matter.

Saint Cecilia.
The third of the series of entertainments by the ladies of the Society of St. Cecilia will be given on Tuesday evening, the 6th inst., at 8 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Radcliff on Broad street. There will be refreshments and music, and a special musical treat will be that beautiful vocal solo "The Angels' Serenade," with violin obligato. Miss Radcliff's music room is admirably adapted to the proper rendition and enjoyment of good music. The public is especially invited.

Cause of the Fayetteville Bank Trouble
FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Jan. 2.—It has come to light that President E. F. Moore used about one hundred and seven thousand dollars of the broken bank's funds with collateral worth less than forty thousand. Thus it can readily be seen what has gone with the honest stockholders' money. Comment is unnecessary.

Personal.
Miss Myrtle E. Pope returned to her school at Dover yesterday, from spending Christmas in the city with her parents.

Misses Lillie and Clara Morris went up to Kinston for a visit to friends. Rev. J. D. Stanford, of Kenansville, came in last night and is the guest of Mr. C. E. Foy. He will conduct the services this morning and afternoon at the Presbyterian church.

The family of Mr. W. H. Bishop arrived, moving from Wilmington to New Berne.

Mr. J. E. Latham returned from a business trip to Norfolk and Baltimore. He has been replenishing the stock of groceries and farmers' supplies of Latham & Barrus.

Mr. J. W. S. Swart returned from another trip of car horses and mules. A portion of his purchases have already arrived and the remainder will soon be here.

Miss Jennie Willis returned to the school that she is teaching at Havelock. Miss Maria Styron, of Scranton, Mississippi, came in for a visit to her brother, Mr. W. K. Styron.

Mr. W. E. Patterson returned from a Northern business trip.

Counterfeit Money.

In connection with the statements of counterfeit money being circulated in different portions of United States we will mention the fact that letters have been received in New Berne from parties in New York and Florida seeking customers for some of the stuff. One letter that we have seen offers nothing but V's, says they are "just as perfect as the same that comes from Washington and cannot be told from the genuine," and offers to sell $5 of those bills for $2, $30 for $50, and so on, and directs the party addressed that if he makes an order, instead of using his name to sign the order simply by the number 410 and he will understand his address by that. He claims to have one man and only one in this State doing business with him.

Of course no one but rogues will have any dealings with these parties, and whether they possess and would send counterfeit money if an order should be sent them, or whether they would simply keep all they can get without sending anything in return we cannot say. At any rate the fact remains that counterfeit money is in circulation, and for that cause it is well to exercise a little more than usual caution in receiving money.

Prosperity of the Collegiate Institute.

The catalogue of scholars attending the New Berne Collegiate Institute from September 8th to Christmas makes a fine showing. In the regular school department there are 176 resident and 34 non-resident pupils, a total of 210. In addition to these there are 20 of the students in the music and art department who are not members of the school. These run the total list up to 230. We notice in the roll of non-resident pupils scholars from Massachusetts and Delaware. This list does not include the entire present membership of the school for other pupils entered at the beginning of this year.

The spring session begins on the 26th inst., and the Principal earnestly desires that all pupils intending to enter will be present on that day, that a classification may be facilitated and better progress made.

The Institute will also establish a special course at the beginning of the spring session for those who wish to become teachers. It will embrace the study of the history and principles of education, the methods of teaching, school government and psychology, and will be thorough, practical and comprehensive.

The Institute keeps improving and is worthy of the patronage of any one.

The Castaways.

Last evening witnessed the production of this startling nautical drama. Unlike most plays of this class it is based on a motive and that is the exposure of those villains who send ships to sea risking lives of men for greed of insurance. It has a plot which is not only strong but within the bonds of probability. It has a dialogue which is terse, epigrammatic and brilliant. The dramatic climaxes are as novel as unexpected, while the cast fill ably the truly nautical character-istic pictures.

The noble tar (Mr. Chapman) made a decided hit, and Miss Halford was excellent both as fisherwoman and sailor boy. The Little Middy in a capital piece of stage work by Little Mabel, and Mr. Lindley's humor is undeniable.

Tonight, out of deference to one of our clubs, "Little Lord Fauntleroy" will be produced, and the press gives Little Mabel unstinted praise for its rendition. The Norfolk Landmark says:

"She is the sweetest exponent of the play even with the memory of three others before us."—Raleigh Chronicle.

For bracing up the nerves, purifying the blood and curing sick headache and dyspepsia, there is nothing equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

A MACEDONIAN CRY.

AN APPEAL FROM THE WEST FOR AID IN SECURING GOSPEL PRIVILEGES.

MINCO, I. T., Dec. 27, 1890.
Minco is a village situated in the northwestern part of the Chicasaw country, three miles from the Canadian river, and at the terminus of the Rock Island R. R. It is only six months old and there has been no mushroom growth as was the case with the Oklahoma towns, but Minco is here to stay. It may never be a city, but the fertility of the surrounding country will support a good town even though the cattle kings should be forced to the more northern territories.

Minco has about all the investments it needs now except a church, and that need I am trying to bring before the Christians of the States. Two lots have been secured in the best part of the town on Main street for the church. There is not anywhere in Minco save our religious services of any kind save our Sunday-school here in the town.

People here are kind-hearted and generous, yet totally indifferent on all religious matters. Men are ashamed to be numbered with the worshippers of God. Those who once professed to know Christ will drop the banner of the bleeding Saviour and let it trail in the dust, trampled upon by ridicule and skepticism. I tell you this eastern world will try one's faith. Brethren and sisters, can you stand by and witness the awful scene with no feeling of alarm?

Think of the thousands of souls here in the West who know nothing of the death on Calvary! Behold, too, the vast multitude who regard the Bible as only a myth fit to amuse children! Think of the children who are being reared in families where the name of Jesus is unknown! What kind of men and women must such atmosphere produce? Witness the souls wending down to perdition with lightning speed! See! think! realize! There is not one signal along the track! Can you still look quietly on?

We must have a signal service here and station a soldier of the Cross. We need one thousand dollars to invest in a church house. Will you help us? Contribute as churches, as individuals, as Christians, as soldiers in the grand army of the Lord. You shall know just what becomes of each dime. Fifty-five dollars is now in hand for the building fund. Just here I want to thank the Christian Church in New Berne for their contribution of $7.00. Brethren, there was joy around the great white throne as the recording angel penned that act.

The first religious service held in Minco was the opening of the Sunday school on July 27th. The average attendance for the past quarter was twenty-five, principally children. Men attend only as visitors; only three are members of the Sunday school.

Sunday is only a holiday in the West to be spent in whatever way most amuses. Our greatest hope naturally centers in the rising generation, yet constant dropping wears away the hardest stone. Now is the time to build a church here; we can not afford to wait. True, the iron is not hot, but we can make it hot by striking. Help us to strike; there is strength in union.

This petition is to every Christian whose eyes it may chance to meet. Brethren, you know the needs of Minco now. The salvation of these souls depends upon individual effort. Can you say no? Read the great commission: "Go teach all nations."
META CHESTNUTT.

A Great Attraction.
Alden Benedict, who presented "Monte Cristo" some few seasons ago and will be remembered by the theatre going public, presents on next Friday night, January 9th, his latest New York success, "Fazio Romani," a drama of deep interest and a dramatization of Marie Corralis' novel entitled "The Vendetta," and calls for a vast amount of scenic effects, which this company carries—and a rare treat is in store for those wishing to witness a grand production should see "Fazio Romani."

Destructive Fire.

NEW YORK, January 5.—At 11:45 tonight fire started on the stage of the Fifth Avenue Theatre and burned with great rapidity. The fire spread to Hermann's Theatre, and it is feared that the entire block will be consumed. The sporting goods establishment of J. J. Crook's has caught fire; a strong breeze fans the flames, and the Gilsey building, at the corner of Broadway and Twenty-ninth street, is burning. At 12:50 a flaming brand, borne by the strong northwest wind, fell on the roof of the Sturtevant House, across Broadway, from the Fifth Avenue Theatre, setting that hotel on fire.

2 a. m.—At this writing Harry Miner, lessee of the Fifth Avenue Theatre, places his loss at $125,000. Magician Herman says it cost him $45,000 to fit up his theatre. Besides losing this, he loses $25,000 worth of theatrical effects and costumes.

3:15 a. m.—The fire in the Sturtevant House is under control. The upper part of the hotel is badly damaged. The total loss is estimated at about $500,000. Fanny Davenport loses about $50,000 by the destruction of scenery and costumes.

DUFFY'S CROUP SYRUP.

Recipe of the late Dr. Walter Duffy.

DIRECTIONS:

Dose for a child two or three years old, one teaspoonful; for a child three months old, ten drops; for a child six months old, twenty drops; for one twelve months old, nearly half a teaspoonful—repeating these doses frequently if necessary until relief is produced.

This is to certify that I have used DUFFY'S CROUP SYRUP in my family for over six months and I believe it to be most excellent remedy for croup with children, especially as a preventive. Our youngest child had a severe attack of croup about a year ago, inasmuch that we felt anxious about its recovery, but was successfully treated by our physician, but thinking it probable that other attacks might follow we frequently used DUFFY'S CROUP SYRUP and the child has had no marked symptoms of croup since and I believe it is due to the use of the Croup Syrup, and we now keep a bottle of it at our house at all times, and I cheerfully recommend it to all.
