The Illinois steel works shut down last Thursday.

It is reported from Washington that the fate of the Force bill will probably be determined today.

The Chicago Tribune, Republican, says: "The McKinleyites seem to have labored hard to find the shortest and best way to wreck the Republican party."

The latest from the front is to the effect that the Indians are surrounded in the Bad Lands and cannot escape. Last week they had the troops surrounded. So it goes.

"The Illinois Democrats are happy. The Illinois Tariff Reform League feasted in Chicago, and congratulations over the recent victories were numerous and the cheering for Cleveland was loud and long."

The Minnesota Farmers' Alliance held a meeting Thursday, when a resolution to endorse the Ocala platform was defeated, the subject of Sub-treasury ignored, and the Congo lard bill endorsed: after an exceedingly warm session a new constitution was adopted.

The Messenger must have 1000 new subscribers during the present year. Our friends can help us much to gain that number.—Wilmington Messenger. We will see you brother and go 1,000 better. One of the demands of the times is a brave pure, enlightening and elevating journalism. The Messenger ought to be in every home in North Carolina.

The pension business flourishes. Thus far there are 1,522,011 pension claims pending. Under the disability act up to 20th December, 1890, there had been filed 531,399 claims. The prospect for the country is not cheering. It is believed by some of the wisest of public men that the annual sum to be paid by tax payers for the army mendicants will actually reach the huge sum of $165,000,000—enough to have carried on the entire Government for nearly three years under Buchanan just before the war.—Wilmington Messenger.

The Indian news is of more than ordinary interest; Gen. Miles telegraphs that the hostiles, numbering about three thousand, men, women and children, are encamped in a section of Bad Lands, where it is evident they intend to make their fight for supremacy; there is almost a cordon of troops around them, however, with every avenue of escape cut off, and Gen. Miles hopes that he will be able to induce the hostiles to surrender without a struggle; the weather is bitter cold and a heavy snow covers the ground; some sad scenes are reported in connection with the hostiles who were found on the field after Monday's battle.

The World's fair commemorating the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America will be held in Chicago in October 1892. On Friday January 2nd. Mr. Butterworth of Ohio introduced in the House the following resolution: Resolved, By the House of Representatives, and the Senate concurring, that the President of the United States be, and he is hereby requested to invite the several States and Territories to hold suitable memorial service on the twelfth day of October, 1892, commemorative of the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America, and that they and each of them cause to be prepared a statue, painting, tablet or other suitable memorial illustrative of the resources, progress and development of such State or Territory, and that such memorial be placed on exhibition in a group with those from the other States and Territories during the said exposition.

The usual five thousand illustrated Fair edition of the WEEKLY JOURNAL will be issued next week. The Fair opens February 23d to continue one week, and the indications are that it is to surpass all past occasions.

We again call the attention of our readers to the entertainment to be given by the St. Cecilia tonight at the residence of Mrs. Radcliff on Broad street. Those who have before enjoyed one of these charming evenings will fully bear us out in urging all who possibly can to be present.

It was discovered about ten o'clock last night that the store on Broad street owned by I. W. Eubank and occupied by D. Barfield, colored, was on fire near the street inside the wall on the side toward Swert's butcher stall. The fire department was quickly on the spot, and a portion of the ceiling being torn away streams of water were soon being thrown on the fire and it was extinguished before any great amount of damage was done. Probably the greatest loss was the damage to the stock of groceries by water and removal.

Jacksonville is on a boom. The railroad has reached there, a fine store is being built and fifty houses are to be erected immediately. Such is the news from Onslow. Before this year closes we hope to have a similar boom on a larger scale in regard to the way that New Berne is being affected by the railroad's having reached here. Ere long it will be decided which one of the three proposed routes will be used in coming from Jacksonville to this city then "on to New Berne" it will come. Speed the day when it will reach here and pass beyond us going on to Norfolk.

Edward Kolly, A. J. Paipig, G. W. Vandone and Henry Morris coming to the city from Norfolk on business trips; and Messrs. W. J. Wallace, J. E. Willis, W. A. Harris and Robert L. Noticing the Fair.

The sprightly and breezy paper, the Norfolk Ledger, gives our Fair this nice little editorial notice:

"Eastern North Carolina is wide awake to the necessity of developing her resources, among which fish, oysters, etc., form an important item. During the last week in February next New Berne will be the scene of the East Carolina Fish Oyster, Game and Industrial Association, to last six days. Preparations are now being made for it, and as it will be the best exhibit yet gotten up, there will be an unusually large attendance. Norfolk is interested."

We are glad to note the kindly interest thus displayed, and hope the Ledger and other Virginia editors will be present. We will give them a hearty welcome.

Notice to Subscribers.

In revising our books for the new year we find a few subscribers in arrears for both the daily and weekly JOURNAL. Some of them our collector has seen and others could not be gotten up with. Those who are behind must make immediate payment or have their paper discontinued and we will trust to their honesty in making settlement for our labor.

To those who have kept their subscription paid up and in advance, we feel very grateful and promise them that it is our desire and will be our endeavor to furnish them a fair, indelible and wholesome paper, and that its first and highest object is for the good and upbuilding of Eastern North Carolina.

The Indians.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Gen. Schofield this morning received the following telegram from Gen. Miles, dated Pine Ridge, January 2d:

There is a report of an engagement between the Indians and the cavalry, in which quite a number of soldiers were killed and some Indians.

The forces now in the field under command of Gen. Miles is composed of 151 companies. This should mean an actual force of ten thousand, officers and men, but probably the ranks are not filled, so that the regular army under Gen. Miles does not exceed eight thousand at the most.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 3.—A special to the Journal from Pine Ridge gives more definite rumors relative to the reported engagement between Gen. Carr's command and the Indians in Bad Lands. These would indicate that the troops have been driven back and a number killed.

DARING ATTEMPT.

To the North Pole in a Balloon.

The north pole, despite the long, ominous list of martyrs to scientific or commercial curiosity, continues to exert a fascination over many minds. The problem at present discussed is whether there is land, ice, or an open sea at the pole. An attempt is soon to be made to solve the problem by a Parisian aeronaut and a Parisian astronomer, Messrs. Becaenon and Hermite, neither of whom has attained the age of thirty. The plan they propose to adopt, while original with them, is by no means new. In 1870 Silbermann, and in 1874 Sivel, published studies dealing with the practicability of reaching the north pole by balloon. In complete ignorance of these researches, Messrs. Becaenon and Hermite conceived the same idea. In honor of these researches, which they later discovered, and as a tribute to the memory of an illustrious martyr to aeronautic science, they decided to call their balloon by the name of "Sivel."

The "Sivel," when inflated, will measure 16,250 yards, and have a diameter of 32 1/2 yards. It will be capable of carrying 17 1/2 tons, and will have an ascensional force of three pounds to the cubic yard. The envelope will be composed of two thicknesses of Chinese silk, covered with a new specially devised varnish, which renders it absolutely impermeable, and augments the resistance of the envelope, rendering it capable of supporting, without rupture, a pressure of 6,400 pounds to the square yard.

The balloon, which is spherical in shape, will contain an immense internal balloon so constructed as to be perfectly and permanently inflated by 3,250 cubic yards of gas under the same pressure. This is intended to remedy in great part, the grave inconveniences—the chief cause of balloon instability—which result from hygrometric and thermometric variations produced by altitude changes. If the gas becomes thinner, the interior balloon can be depleted. If it becomes thicker, the exterior balloon can be inflated. The "Sivel" is thus always inflated. The internal balloon represents about one-fifth of the entire balloon, a needed proportion, since balloons raised 2,700 feet lose about one-tenth of their gas, independently of the loss occasioned by temperature variation. The "Sivel" will carry several pilot balloons to be used in studying aerial currents, and sixteen balloons to supply, through its valves, the gas of the interior balloon of the "Sivel." The balloon's altitude will be regulated by means of a trail rope of considerable weight, which trails as a species of anchor over the ice.

The car, which is of oxford, is so strengthened by its armatures as to be absolutely rigid. It is so arranged as to maintain in its interior a regular temperature. A safety petroleum heater is used for the purpose. The car will be prepared for all emergencies by making it unsubsorbible and furnishing it with runners for use as a sledge. It is ten feet wide by sixteen long, and will contain, besides the two explorers and their three aids, eight Equimauz dogs, a sledge, an unsubsorbible canoe, provisions and water rendered un-freezable by a chemical procedure. The total weight of car and contents is fifteen tons. Above the car is a bridge accessible by a rope ladder.

The explorers will sail from France in two steamships in the latter part of May, 1892 so as to arrive in Spitzbergen in July. There they will depart as soon as practicable by favorable winds from the south. The explorant will last in all six months. Its cost will be $108,000, of which $12,000 is required for the construction of the "Sivel." The cost is defrayed by Mr. Hermite and some English capitalists of scientific aspirations. While the idea of reaching the north pole by balloon is not a new one, it has had its details on this occasion for the first time worked out with great care.—L'Illustration.

GALATEA, THE MYSTERY.

A novel and Striking Exhibition for Tea Centers.

The dime exhibition of "Galatea," next door to the Academy of Music on King street, is worth seeing. It is seldom that such a wonder can be seen for ten cents. A Sun reporter dropped in there yesterday afternoon and found a good house of ladies and gentlemen. The exhibition is repeated every few minutes. This is what the reporter saw:

The curtain rose, displaying a life-sized stone bust of a beautiful woman, placed upon a table, inside a boxed enclosure, the side to the audience being and remaining open during the entire performance. The stage is brilliantly lighted, and there is no lowering of lights or curtain. The manager took the bust in his arms and brought it down for the audience to examine. There was no hole in it. But they could not have decreased the merit of the exhibition. The bust was replaced and the audience were told to keep their eyes upon it. Slowly the cheeks began to redden, the bald marble caput began to develop blonde hair, the eyes began to open and in twenty or thirty seconds the statue was a live and lovely woman in evening dress. She smiled and conversed with the man on the stage, who gallantly pinned a red rose on her bosom. Then slowly the cheeks paled, and with them the rose, until the woman and flower were both inanimate stone. The stone then became the woman again and the stone rose became a real one. It was now announced that the woman would die and her flesh would dissolve, leaving only a grinning skeleton. It was done in less than half a minute and in a minute more the skeleton became a huge bouquet of flowers, and the flowers evolved again into the woman, and the woman again became the original stone. Galatea had a great run in Richmond, and is doing a fine business here.

IT IS NEW, AND IT is wonderful. Those who miss seeing it will miss a rare opportunity. All ten cent shows are not necessarily cheap John affairs. Galatea is worth more than the admission price.

DUFFY'S CROUP SYRUP.
Recipe of the late Dr. Walter Duffy.

DIRECTIONS:
Dose for a child of two or three years old, one teaspoonful; for a child three months old, ten drops; for a child six months old, twenty drops; for one twelve months old, nearly half a teaspoonful—repeating these doses frequently if necessary until relief is procured.

This is to certify that I have used DUFFY'S CROUP SYRUP in my family for over six months and I believe it to be a most excellent remedy for croup with children, especially as a preventive. Our youngest child had a severe attack of croup about a year ago, inasmuch that we felt anxious about his recovery, but was successfully treated by our physician, but thinking it probable that other attacks might follow, we frequently used DUFFY'S CROUP SYRUP, and the child has had no marked symptoms of croup since, and I believe it is due to the use of the CROUP SYRUP, and we now keep a bottle of it at our house at all times and I cheerfully recommend it to all.
