The Force bill is again the question of the hour.

No settlement of the Irish question has been reached.

The composition of Prof. Koch's great lymph has been given to the world.

GEN. M. L. BONHAM, late Adjutant General of the State of South Carolina, is charged with a default amounting to $5,000.

EX GOVERNOR THAYER, of Nebraska, Rep., surrenders the Executive department, and Gov. Boyd, Dem., is in possession.

The rebel fleet of Chili have declared the ports of that nation blockaded. It is bad enough to be blockaded by a foreign enemy.

MR. BLAIR, Senator from New Hampshire, has been defeated for a renomination in the Republican Legislative caucus. Dr. J. H. Gallinger, ex member of Congress, is to be his successor.

The oyster question is one of difficulty everywhere it exists. The Richmond Dispatch says: "Commander Seth, of the Maryland oyster fleet, is so disgusted with the ill success that attends his faithful labors that he is ready to resign his position."

The vote on Senator Hoar's motion Wednesday night to take up the Election bill was a tie which the Vice President decided in favor of the affirmative. Six Republicans voted with the Democrats, eleven were absent and Senator Ingalls did not vote.

DR. W. K. BROOKS, of Maryland, who is perhaps the highest authority on the oyster question in this country, says "laws are powerless to help us, but intelligent self-interest will some day do all we have tried to do by law, and much more besides." In Virginia this good time will never come until there is something like permanency in the leasehold of plant beds. Few are willing to plant for strangers to harvest.—Richmond Dispatch.

We record with pleasure the triumph of silver because, among other reasons, we wish the United States to lead the way to a cosmopolitan or world wide currency. We wish to see a grand experiment tried by the greatest country in the world. We wish to demonstrate—in other words, to prove beyond cavil, or even a doubt—that there are laws governing the financial world, and that those laws can be discovered.—Richmond Dispatch.

DR. CHARLES E. TAYLOR, president of Wake Forest College, is trying to raise an additional $50,000 endowment, and if successful will thus secure $25,000 from a Northern Baptist, Mr. Bostwick. He has half of the sum much needed in sight, and has until the 1st of March next to obtain the remaining half. He ought to succeed. His people in North Carolina are numerous and a great many are able to give $1, $5, $10, $25, $50, $100 and some might give $500 each and be the better for it. Wake Forest is a meritorious institution, and is a genuine ornament of the Christian denomination it represents.—Wilmington Messenger.

Remember the refined, high-toned literary entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. hall tomorrow night by the ideal and matchless New York elocutionist, Prof. S. T. Ford. A delightful and first class entertainment is assured.

By consent of the officers of the Choral Club, the regular rehearsal will be on Wednesday night of this week, instead of Monday, to allow members the opportunity of attending Prof. Ford's entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. hall.

The little town of Vandemere, Pamlico county, is on quite a boom. A tremendous oyster, fruit and vegetable cannery is going up and a new hotel also. The citizens are now negotiating for a good school to be located there.

We remind our readers again that a special train will be run today to give our citizens an opportunity of attending the meeting in Kinston conducted by Evangelist W. P. Fife. It will leave here at 9:30 a. m. and get back at 11 p. m.

Mr. Jacob Gooding is having a good, pulverized shell rock pavement made in front of his drug store. The sidewalk in front of the Baptist church has also had the same material used on it. We are glad to see these improvements going on. Firm pavements such as these are very desirable.

Major Dennison has added a pressure regulator to his machinery that supplies water over the business portion of the city. By this means the same pressure can be kept on all the time and furnish splendid power for driving small machinery, such as coffee mills and roasters, meat choppers, fans, sewing machines, printing presses, organ blowing, iron and wood working machinery, etc. Where it is always in readiness and can be relied upon, water power is one of the finest and most economical that can be used.

One-third of the Richmond Locomotive and Machine Works, one of the largest establishments of its kind in the South, was destroyed by fire Wednesday night. The damage was heavy as the machinery in the building burned was very valuable. A portion of it was put in expressly to do government work at a cost of $50,000. The company was building the "Texas," one of the largest battle-ships of the country, and without any exception the largest one for which a Southern company ever took the contract. There were twenty-three boilers of the "Texas" in the ruins, but the principal damage to the "Texas" machinery will be in the polished rodwork, bars and plates, the latter being constructed from a peculiar kind of metal. That which has already passed inspection was insured for $285,000. This is the same company that is building the two new engines for the A. & N. C. R. R. The building destroyed will be rebuilt at once.

Foreign Shipments.
It is not generally known, but nevertheless a fact, that a good portion of the cotton sold in this market has been shipped to foreign ports this season. Saturday Mr. James E. Latham shipped quite a large invoice of cotton direct to Bremen, Germany, taking a bill of lading direct from here by the E. C. D. line. Mr. Latham has made a number of shipments abroad this season, and it is gratifying to know that he is sufficiently encouraged to continue and increase it.

Preserve Our Oysters.
The best and only effectual way to stop the depredations on and destruction of our oyster beds is as has been suggested to us, to make all violations of the law by non-residents a cause of forfeiture of the vessel and boats, and implements used by them in unlawfully taking oysters. Such we believe to be a part of the penalties in other States, and the United States uses such penalties to enforce its revenue laws with powerful effect. Of course the property should be condemned and sold by a judgment of the court. We think it is incumbent upon our present Legislature to protect and preserve our oysters. It is now or never.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

1891 a Memorable Year.

The past year for the city of New Berne was one of considerable revival and increase in its volume of business and general prosperity. Her citizens have become impatient and restless for something to turn up and have now about concluded that the best way to get it up is to go and turn it up themselves. We believe that the year 1891 is going to fully witness the fact and as another starter we would like to ask how would it be to issue $100,000 each in bonds by the city and county for public improvements. Pave the streets, grade the sidewalks and put them in the very best condition possible, establish a thorough and substantial system of drainage and keep the city attractive and clean so that it will be a pleasure to walk and drive through it and still further improve our already splendid health statistics. Also waterworks and numerous other improvements are the demands of the times and we can have them if we will.

Another valuable and most important adjunct is the construction of a substantial bridge across Neuse river. It ought to be built and right away at that. Our county roads and bridges want an overhauling, such an one as they have never had to save time in travel and wear and tear on teams and vehicles.

All these things are the outcome of a wide awake and prosperous community and they number among the necessities in any community where they desire to rise to the highest plane of civilization, happiness and prosperity. What say our people? Endorse it or bring out something better.

Prof. Ford's Entertainment.

An opportunity will be offered our citizens tomorrow night, at the Y. M. C. A. Hall, of hearing one of the finest reciters and elocutionists of the country in humorous, pathetic and dramatic recitals. His entertainments are spoken of as grand. He is said to be endowed with a genial disposition, a pleasing manner, an animated expression, and a splendid voice, which is under perfect control, its tones full, clear and melodious, and to possess the power of making the character he represents stand out clear before the hearer. Read these testimonials:

Bishop J. N. Fitzgerald writes: It is difficult to see how one can secure greater pleasure and profit from an evening's entertainment than by attending one of Prof. Ford's recitals.

ANN ARBOR, MICH., June 10, 1889.
Everybody who listened to him went away delighted with him. He is superb in his line, and I have no hesitancy in saying that I do not believe any audience was ever disappointed in him.

HENRY WADE ROGERS,
Dean University, Mich. School of Law.

Prof. S. T. Ford, the talented elocutionist of New York, made his initial bow before a London audience in Victoria Hall last night. He kept those present in convulsions of laughter or in awe, as the case might be, from beginning to end. As a reciter Mr. Ford stands at the head of his profession, and should he give another recital in the Forest City he may be guaranteed a full house.—The Free Press, London, Ont., Nov. 20, 1885.

MT. LAKE PARK, Md., Aug. 15, '87.
I take pleasure in stating that Prof. S. T. Ford gave us two very interesting readings at our Mountain Lake Park Assembly, and won for himself a host of friends by his genial spirit, natural manner and elocutionary skill. I would recommend him to Churches, Assemblies and Lyceums as a first-class reader, and highly entertaining.

C. P. MASEN,
Pastor Madison Ave. M. E. Church, N. Y.

I think I have found my ideal elocutionist in Prof. S. T. Ford. He has few rivals in pathetic expression, and none in irresistible, headlong fun. His humor is something unique—now as delicate as that of the gentle Elliot, and now uproarious but always governed by a careful sense of propriety and refined taste. Irreverence and coarseness are not heard in his readings.

ROBERT R. DOHERTY, PH. D.,
Assistant Sec. Sunday School Union

The entertainment is for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian Association. The admission price is low—35c. for adults and 15c. for children. Come out and hear Prof. Ford. You will be pleased.

Eureka Hair Purifier and Scalp Cleaner.

BOYDTON, VA., Dec. 27, 1890.
PROF. H. H. BELL, Oxford, N. C.
Dear Sir—It affords me much pleasure to certify to the merits of your Eureka Hair Purifier and Scalp Cleaner. When I commenced the use of it my scalp was dry and scurfy, and my hair was fast falling out; now my scalp is clean and healthy and my hair is never in better condition. I also used it on my little sister's head; her scalp was diseased and her hair was peeling off; now she has a beautiful new growth of hair, and her scalp is in fine condition. One has but to try your remedy to be convinced of its merits. I am sorry that you are going to leave our town.
I am, with much respect, yours,
MAGGIE B. HUGHES.

That tired feeling now so often heard of, is entirely overcome by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gives mental and bodily strength.

W. T. Caho Interviewed About Oysters.

Your correspondent had a talk today with Mr. W. T. Caho, of Pamlico, who was one of the shell-fish commissioners who laid off the public oyster grounds. Mr. Caho says the oyster pirates have by this time nearly completed the work of depleting the public beds of oysters. They take all kinds of oysters, great and small alike, and such is their greed that they even take the shells, never stopping to question. At Bay river the commission, two years ago, laid off over 6,000 acres of public grounds, and at that time one man could by tonging take 20 bushels of oysters a day. On the 28th of last month Mr. Caho was at the same place and found that two men with a drag were unable to get over 10 bushels a day, and 5 bushels was the average result of a day's work.

Everybody has been concerned in this wholesale plundering of the public grounds, Mr. Caho says. The natives are in it. Two-thirds of them say that it is wrong, but the other third go ahead. Really the two-thirds are in favor of protection of the beds. The feeling in favor of protection is daily increasing. Two years ago there was very little of it. The vessels came down from Maryland and Virginia and hired particular persons to get oysters. These men thus employed thought nothing better than plundering the public grounds. Those not employed raised a row. Thus there were two factions. This throws a good deal of light on the subject. Many people in other parts of the State have been puzzled to know why the natives did not come right to the front and protect their property. The truth is there were and are factions, the people there being very clanship.

Reports in the Baltimore and Norfolk papers state that there has been fighting in the oyster waters in this State. If a gun has been fired your correspondent has never heard of it, and Mr. Caho says he has not heard of anything of the sort, though millions of bushels of oysters have been taken away, and people who complained were treated with great rudeness and contempt.—Raleigh Correspondent Norfolk Virginian.

My joyful thanks are hereby tendered to all my friends, citizens, soldiers and sailors, including the irrepressible small boy, who responded so promptly at the tap of the firebell to the invitation to attend my annual reunion on the 16th inst.; but especially to the efficient, quick-working fire department which I renew my obligations, hoping that in the next world all its members may have as good a supply of water as they are able and willing to furnish others in this.
