The woman's Suffrage bill has been defeated in the Kansas Legislature.

The Baltimore sugar refinery turned out its first sugar last Wednesday.

On Wednesday the Senate passed the Copyright bill, and in the House there was a long debate on the Shipping bill, Silver Coinage, Cleveland &c.

Governor Hill is opposed to the free coinage of silver. The difference between Hill and Cleveland is about the same as that between twiddledum and tweddled.

The Irish campaign is about to be renewed. The Dublin Express says the coming strife in Ireland will be of a nature never seen there save in time of civil war.

The smallest city in the world is Seward City, Alaska, its three inhabitants being respectively Mayor, chairman of the board of aldermen and president of the common council.

Gen. Butler announces himself in favor of the free coinage of silver. It is reported that he fairly coined silver in New Orleans, and in some instances neglected to remove the stamp of former owners.

The Sioux Indians who have been in Washington, on a visit to the great father, returned home dissatisfied. Young Man-Afraid-of-His-Horse said to a reporter: "We had some promises, but they are like all other promises of the great father. We are not fooled and we go home with heavy hearts."

We fear that the Legislature is getting tender footed. Cleveland having slipped up on silver they are afraid to try to stand firm on anything requiring an expenditure of money. On Wednesday the House voted a tax of 14 cents on property and 42 cents on polls for public schools, in place of 10¢ and 50 cents. This reduction will cripple the public schools. It would be wisdom to increase their efficiency.

The Philadelphia Times commenting upon the defeat of the Force bill, speaks of Senator Gorman as a "leader of leaders." Mr. Gorman is not only eminently level headed but cool headed in proportion. It is said that when he sees a point and starts for it at a critical time, if he discovered that a colony of yellow jackets had located in the rear of his trousers he wouldn't pay them the slightest attention till he had gone for that point and disposed of it.—Wilmington Star.

The special Fair premium of one fine silk umbrella offered by Messrs. Barrington and Baxter for the handsomest baby sack is limited to croquet sacks.

The address of Mr. Len Terrell, the National Farmer's Alliance Speaker, will take place on Monday at the court house at 11 o'clock, instead of as previously announced.

The Galatea party have arrived to exhibit their wondrous illusion at the Fair. A statue appears to become a living lady, then gradually dies away to a genuine skeleton and undergoes other mysterious changes. It is said to be weird, startling and impenetrable. Yesterday 2,000 feet of pipe was laid to furnish gas to the Galatea building, as it will be needed in the performance of this awe inspiring exhibition.

In the set-up of a newspaper every day it is almost an impossibility to have it devoid of all errors, and the wonder is that there are so few mistakes made. Every imaginable kind of hand writing from the Egyptian Hieroglyphics on up has to be contended with in the newspaper office, and if the new copy-right bill will only require copy right before handed in there will be no further need of a devil in the printing office to do the sweating.

Church Notices.
Hancock Street Methodist Church, Sunday, February 22. Services at 11 a. m. and 7:15 p. m., conducted by the pastor. Prayer meeting at 9:15 a. m. Sunday school at 3 p. m., W. R. Barrington, Sup't. The public are invited to attend these services and will receive a cordial welcome.

Personal.
Mrs. U. S. Mace and children and Mrs. H. L. Gibbs have returned from a visit to relatives in Hyde county.

Mr. Harvey Kehoe and bride nee Miss Maggie Bundy of Laurinburg came in last night to visit Mr. Kehoe's parents.

Mr. N. W. Schenck and Mrs. Ada Schenck arrived to visit Mr. J. J. Dison's way.

Miss Lizzie McGrath, of Jersey City is back again visiting her uncle, Mr. Wm. Golligan.

The Steamer Neuse of the E. C. D. line brought in the following passengers yesterday: Miss Gertrude Baxter, of New Haven to visit her relatives in the city; Mrs. J. F. Taylor and children from a visit to relatives in New York, accompanied back by her sister Mrs. Louisa Dickinson on a visit to Mrs. Taylor; Mrs. W. M. Moore on a visit to her sister Mrs. I. C. Yeomans.

Howard's Marine Railway.
Howard's new marine railway is now nearly completed. They are the best and most powerful marine railways on the Atlantic coast, south of Norfolk. Vessels and steamers of 210 feet keel can be hauled up on them. Their facilities for repairing are great, and their reputation as ship builders is excellent. This new railway is a step in the right direction, and is a long felt want, as rapid development of steam transportation has necessitated vessels of greatly enlarged carrying capacity, consequently of greater length, and heretofore all large vessels or steamers navigating our waters in need of repairs have been compelled to visit Norfolk or Baltimore. We may now reasonably expect that much of the business of ship repairing and also building of vessels and steamers will be retained in New Berne, and we will again hear as in olden times, the sound of the caulking mallet and broad axe from the Howard's ship yard. Wooden vessels and steamers can be built in New Berne, that will rank in any marine insurance company with vessels built in any port of the United States.

Old Dominion Steamship Co.
I would respectfully call attention to the new advertisement of our company which appears in this issue. This is the old and favorite "schedule", otherwise known as the "Shenandoah's schedule" by which our merchants can have their goods leave New York and Baltimore, on Tuesdays, and arrive here Friday mornings, and leave on Saturdays and arrive here on Tuesdays. Passengers can also avail themselves of the same privilege and enjoy the beneficial result of an all water route from starting point to destination. We make close connection with the A. & N. C. R. R., for all stations on that road, for passengers and freight, and also offer connections in the Neuse and Trent River, and Contentnea Creek. Through rates from starting points on the A. & N. C. R. R., and to Kingston by both railroad and river. Thanking our kind friends for their patronage for so many years I beg continuance of the same and will do all in my power to deserve it.
E. B. ROBERTS, Agent.

DREDGING SHOULD BE ALLOWED.

But Under Proper and Well Defined Regulations.

We copy below a petition that was circulated asking the Legislature to modify the ninety-day law recently enacted prohibiting the use of the dredge in taking oysters in North Carolina.

From the first breaking out of the oyster trouble in our waters the JOURNAL has been an earnest advocate in the protection of this industry, but it has never thought it to be wise to prohibit dredging, but on the other hand that it was injurious and a great hindrance to the development and progress of this valuable and growing industry.

If we are correctly informed, the quantity of oysters in Pamlico sound and some of its tributaries is enormous, and those in deep water will remain there if left for the tongs, because they cannot operate successfully except in shallow water. Consequently do not allow dredging where tongs work but permit it in certain depths and within certain boundaries. Beds can be destroyed either by tonging or dredging by stripping them completely—leaving no young oysters to grow and replenish the supply, but a bed properly worked, either by tonging or dredging is caused thereby to improve rather than to deteriorate.

Severe penalties should attach to violations of the oyster law than to transgressions of similar enormity on land, because it is more difficult to reach and correct the guilty parties. The penalty should be one that will be dreaded with wholesome fear. Owners and crews of boats will be very careful not to violate any section of the law where confiscation of the boat by the State is the penalty attached to a violation.

But whatever law is enacted will be worthless unless provision is made for its enforcement. A patrol boat must be constantly on duty to make it effective. A tonnage tax imposed on each boat engaged in the oyster business would pay the expense of such a boat and leave a revenue to the State besides. The captains of our oyster boats are willing to be taxed for such a purpose. They go farther even than to express a willingness. They advocate the measure.

While on the subject of legislation, we wish to call the attention of the General Assembly to one more point. Nearly all canned oysters sent out of this State are labelled with the name of some other State. Hundreds of thousands of cans are shipped marked "Baltimore, Maryland." The canners who moved to North Carolina when the beds became exhausted from which they had been receiving their supplies, state that the reason of holding on to the old marks is that their brands are known and sought for and a change would involve some loss of patronage. Admit this, but even then we still hold that the State should not be deprived of the credit of its products. Of course, allow the canners free privilege to use any sobriquet they please as a brand, but that is sufficient. We do earnestly hope that the Legislature will embody in the bill it passes, a provision that every can and every box of canned goods that leaves any cannery in the State shall be plainly marked "North Carolina." At any rate forbid their being marked here as the product of another State.

The petition to allow restricted dredging received the signatures of many of our business men and has been taken to the Legislature by several of our influential citizens. It reads as follows:

To the Honorable the General Assembly of North Carolina:
We, the undersigned citizens of the town of New Berne and Craven county, and also oystermen from surrounding counties and interested in the oyster industry represent

1. That we believe that the present law known as the Ninety-Day Law prohibiting the Dredging of Oysters in any of the waters of the State, is injurious to the oyster industry, and to those engaged in both the catching and manufacturing oysters, and should be modified, so as to allow a limited amount of Dredging in the deep waters where oysters now exist, and where they cannot be caught by the use of tongs, and we do most earnestly request that you do so modify your legislation as to allow the citizens of this State who shall have been bona fide citizens for the space of twelve months, to use scrapes or dredges in the deep waters of Pamlico sound and tributaries, to say not less than ten feet water, and where the oysters abound in great quantities and cannot be caught by reason of the passage of ebb tide, believing that this will afford ample protection to the oyster.

2. That we believe that with a proper culling law that the use of dredges and scrapes in the deep waters would not be injurious to the oyster, but to the contrary would (a limited amount) be beneficial; and we further express it as our opinion and belief that a very large majority of all the citizens of this part of the State favor such legislation as we your petitioners ask.

A PROSPEROUS INSTITUTION.

NEW BUSINESS FOR 1890, $41,000,000;
INCREASE OF RESERVE FUND, $900,000;
DEATH CLAIMS PAID, $2,000,000;
INSURANCE IN FULL,
$190,000,000.

There is a great deal of curiosity at the beginning of the year to know how the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association, the chief among the assessment organizations, has fared during the preceding year. While the annual statement of the company is not yet completed, the following figures were furnished us: The applications received during the year were for upwards of $41,000,000 of insurance; the amount written exceeded $35,000,000; death claims paid during the year exceeded $2,000,000; the total amount of death claims paid to date is about $10,000,000; the cash reserve fund exceeds $2,800,000; the increase of surplus for 1890 was over $500,000; the increase of insurance in force is about $15,000,000; this makes an aggregate of insurance in force at the close of the year of $226,000,000. The year was a prosperous one for the association in every respect, and it enters upon the new year stronger financially than ever before, and with an excellent organization, then stronger and more extensive than it has heretofore known.—The Register, N. Y., Jan. 1, 1891.

To Our Customers!

It seems to be an impossibility for the force on this paper to set up the simplest "ad" without making a mistake. Why this is we can't understand. It may be they do not know how to spell or that the writer of these "ads" does not know how to write, or it may be the two combined. "Young men do you care to know what will make the young lady you are in love with look more favorably on your SHIRT!" That is the way they put it yesterday and it should have been "SUIT" S-U-I-T. Suit—a noun. Solicitation of a woman in marriage; courtship. Such is the meaning SHAKSPEARE gives.

Some mistakes are amusing—some ridiculous, but one like the above is annoying to us, as it prevents us from doing what we promise. Kindly remember the correction necessary for question No. 2, and on Sunday we will give you the answer to ponder over during the day.
