The Puzzle About Easter.

No one person in ten can tell you why it is that Christmas, the day celebrated as our Savior's birthday, always falls on the same day of the month,

In giving a solution of this riddle, the first point to be considered is this: rose from the grave on the following Sunday. The 14th day of Nisan was the Jewish "Passover," the day observover the dwellings of the Israelites, but smote the first-born of the Egyptian. As the year of the Jews is a lunar year, moon day, the Christian church, regarding the observance of the crucifixion of "Passover" of the Jews, determined Easter by the rules for reckoning the Jewish eclesiastical year:

Christmas, intended to commemorate like dozens of other movable feast days, of the Church of Rome, many of them birthdays of saints, it was finally settled that it should be observed on a given

Coming down to the word itself, "Easter" is from the German "Ostern" (rising). The English name is probably derived from "Easter," the Teutonic goddess of Spring, whose festival occurred at about the same time as the Jewish Passover."

The time for celebrating Easter was a subject which gave rise to many heated discussions during the early days of considered and finally settled by the Council of Nice, in the year 325, by adopting the rule which makes Easter day the first Sunday after the first full moon after March 21. By this arrangement of things Easter may come as early as March 32, or as late as April, 25.-Exchange.
