According to the Picayune the Pennsylvania Railroad company is being sued in Cleveland, Ohio, for $118,000 worth of legs and arms that her cars have cut off.

A writer in the New York Sun says that the time is coming when no cotton will be manufactured in England. It will be manufactured in the United States close to the cotton fields.

The united debt of the Australian colonies that are preparing to form a federation is nearly as great as the present national debt of the United States, although the population is scarcely one-twentieth of our own.

The Mexican newspaper, La Patria, published at the City of Mexico, says that the United States government should return to Mexico the trophies captured by United States troops in the Mexican war, and which are now at the West Point Military Academy, thus showing its magnanimity.

Gold while in circulation is handled less than any other medium. It is usually kept in vaults of banks for demand rarely made, and for this reason the loss by abrasion is but onehalf of one per cent. in twenty years. In a $20 gold piece, the standard weight of which is 516 grains, the government allowance for loss by abration is 2.58 grains.

The New York Sun soliloquizes: -A thousand passengers for Lurope. At $1000, only, apiece, is one million American dollars sent by a single day's steamships to keep the Old World's axles greased. And the same Old World folks cackle like a pullet over her first egg when they invest one million dollars in American enterprises. Why, America spends more than that on them every week of the

The Lick telescope is the most powerful glass in the world. It is reported the obs v s at Mount Hamilton have lately sept a sharp eye turned upon the shadow of one of the moons of the planet Jupiter. This shadow seemed double, indicating that the tiny moon which east it is also double. Since the first hint of the discovery many observations have been made through the Lick glass, all tending to confirm the original impression, to wit: That this particular satellite of the greatest of the planets is doublea dot of a moon revolving around the main moon.

The young German Kaiser has taken to reforming the German language, so that those words derived through Latin-French sources shall be expunged. "Captain," "strategie" and "attacke" give way respectively to "hauptmann," "kreigsfuhrung" and "sturm" "Avanciren" becomes "vorgehen." The changes, comments the Chicago News, are patriotic, no doubt. But a battle might be lost while commands were being given in the new patent reform language. Fancy a colonel stopping in mid-action to bid his "oberstwachtmeister" make a charge! The oberst-ctc. was formerly plain "major."

Few men have been greater favorites of the fair sex, avers the New York Tribune, than the late Prince Napoleon. It is said that King Hum. bert smiled when the Prince first made known his intention to marry the Princess Clothilde, who was known as a perfect man hater, and one of the most bashful of women. . Give me only five minutes with her," said the Prince, in answer to Humbert's boast that his sister would not listen to his entreatics. The five minutes were granted to the handsome Napoleon. True to his word, the Prince won the Princess within the specified time. Two weeks later the engagement was publicly announced.

ORANGE CULTURE

A Great and Growing Industry in Southern California.

Hundreds of Orange Groves Paying Handsomely.

The average crop of 1889 amounted to about 2200 carloads, each car containing 300 boxes, which means that Southern California sent east 500,000 boxes, or an orange and a half for every man and woman in the United States. The oranges that are being picked now and shipped will fill easily 3000 ordinary cars. They are marketed in the East at a time when the Florida crop is over, and have to compete with foreign oranges only, such as the Valencias and Sicilian fruit, upon which a heavier duty has been placed to afford the California supply a fair opportunity.

A glance at the hundreds of orange groves in Southern California at the present picking will hardly tend to convince the novice that fifteen years ago there were very few bearing trees outside of the old missions in the country; yet this is a fact. The orange groves of Pasadena, Riverside and other localities are the result of the last fifteen years' work and the actual returns tell that it has paid. Many of those who first came to California expecting to make a fortune in oranges failed, but the possessors of these fine groves today are the envied ones of the community.

The first oranges in Southern California were planted by the old mission fathers, who undoubtedly brought the seed from Spain, whereto it originally was carried from western Arabia by wandering tribes. The orange is a remarkable tree. It flourishes in what is apparently the poorest soil, is always green, ripe fruit will hang upon its limbs for a year, and it is always in fruit or blossom. The tree will bear when 150 or 200 years old, while at Versailles there is a tree known to be over 400 years old, and older still is a famous tree at Nice, that is fifty feet high and still bears 6000 oranges a year. Its exact age is unknown.

The orange craze, as it has been called is the most alluring. The prospect upon the outside is of sitting down and waiting for the agent to come around yearly and buy the crop; yet constant work and attention are necessary. The orange grove requires to be irrigated, ploughed and weeded throughout the year, and so far it is a bagatelle. The chief trouble lies in the various parasites. Two years ago many of the groves of Southern California were almost ruined by the white scale. Orange men were in despair, and orchards worth thousands of dollars were literally given up to the destroyer and looked as though flecked with snow. The Government sent a commissioner to Australia with discovered a ladybug that proved an enemy to the white scale, and today the trees are again in fine condition. But other insect pests, the red and black scale, have to be fought, so that the life of the orange grower is not at all smooth sailing.

The success of last year and the appearance of the grass of the present the United States." season have created an unusual demand for orange land, and thousands of trees have been set out during the past year that will in from four to six years be adding to the productive vame of the country. The visitor to ing ones predicted a hot time. At the California is amazed at the price of . land where the orange grows, but his astonishment wears away as the sums, five minutes the meek-eyed man stood received for the luscious fruit are shown. The crop of Riverside may be taken as an instance. Every year nearly $1,000,000 is paid to the orange men alone for their crops. The figures for 1889 were Circus fruits (oranges), $630,000; deciduous fruits (dried), $80,000; raisins, $375,000. No wonder land in this vicinity is held high and offered to Eastern farmers, unimproved, at from $300 to $500 an acre. The prices appear extravagant, but it has been demonstrated at Riverside that land will pay for itself in about five years, and in six pay 10 per cent. on a valuation of $1000 to $5000 an acre, and in ten years 10 per cent. on a valuation of $10,000 an acre. These are the figures that have fired men's souls, and that are now resulting in the planting of new trees all over Southern California. What especially encourages the grower here, is the fact that in the last ten years the consumption of oranges has increased 500 per cent, in this country, and is on the increase. Not only this, but rival and new roads have opened up a market for California fruit which it has not had in former years .- [New York Sun.

A St. Louis Charity.

A meek-eyed, mild-spoken man dropped around to the hotel in St. Louis one evening jast fall, and as fast as he came to any one whom he sized up as "safe" he said:

"It is a case of charity-a noble charity-but we are opposed to anything like a subscription. The widow wouldn't have it that way, you know. We have, therefore, arranged for a tenround go between the Missouri Terror and the St. Louis Chain Lightning. Comes off at 10 o'clock-admision $1. It's for blood, and the money goes to the widow of the best dog-handler in

It seems a sort of duty to go around with the crowd and pay the admission fee. The affair was to come off in a barn, and when the principals entered the ring there were sixty-two of us dollar men present. They shook hands, "put up" in good shape, and the knowfirst punch the Terror made, bowever, the other fell down seemingly unconscious, and after working over him for up and said :

"Gents, I am sorry to inform you that Chain Lightning is a dead man. He has evidently died of heart faiture, and under the adverse circumstances the fight cannot go on. I'll have to send for the police.'

Of course everybody made a hustle to get away, only too anxious to escape arrest and detention, and the barn was emptied in thirty seconds. Next day, as I was going down the river on a steamboat, I heard two men in the stateroom next to mine disputing.
"Well, make it an even divide," said

. "Of course, its even," replied the other, "Bill worked in the crowd, you played dead on 'em, and I had the rig there to get as off. Purty slick game, but you died too soon. You ought to have waited until I got in one on vou."
