AN Ohio editor wants to arrange a joint debate between David Bennett Hill and Joseph Benson Foraker.

MR. QUAY having been relieved from duty as chairman of the National Republican Committee, is sitting in the shade of a mulberry tree watching "the old hulk" go to pieces. He can gratulate himself upon having left the pilot house before "she struck a rock." The last remark of Mr. Quay is said to have been addressed to Mr. Harrison, and, when translated, it would read, "I—you, I told you so."

The general State election was held in Kentucky on last Monday. There were four tickets in the field, headed respectively as follows: John Young Brown, Democrat; Andrew T. Wood, Republican; Josiah Harris, Prohibitionist, and S. B. Erwin, People's or Third party candidate. The result has not been announced. We are curious to know what kind of a showing the third party made in its first fight with the old parties.

The new manager of the Weather Bureau comes out with a very strong list of "attractions." He assures the people that they will henceforth know all about the pedigree of every storm prophesied, how long it will last, what the rainfall will measure, when it will begin, and when it will cease, whether it will be a warm rain or a cold one, what area of territory it will reach; in fact, everything that one would want to know about it. We will undertake to say, however, that he cannot explain why it should most always rain when people want to see a first-class exhibition of fireworks.—Buffalo Commercial.

AN out come of the late journalistic imbroglio concerning the health of Mr. Blaine is the institution of a civil suit against the Boston Herald for $50,000 damages for libel. The suit is instituted by Miss Marguerite Arline Hamm, of Bar Harbor. Miss Hamm is the authoress of the famous Mail and Express article on Blaine's physical decay. The Herald charged Miss Hamm with being a liar and a disreputable character. Miss Hamm is rather confusing in her explanations of the Blaine sensation, but she claims that while acting as the accredited representative of the Mail and Express she received through that paper written instructions from an attaché and several members of the Republican national committee to keep Mr. Blaine sick by correspondence to certain stated papers at least until September. Why these instructions she does not know, but that the famous Mail and Express dispatch was simply in conformity with her orders. She says she possesses her authority, and also letters of introduction to Mr. Blaine, which she honored. She knows Mr. Blaine is not sick, but as well as he has ever been during the past ten years.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

W. M. WATSON—Notice. Salem Female Academy. Bargain Store—Next time. D. T. Carraway—Insurance.

The Ladies Missionary Society of the Baptist Church will meet at Mrs. Dudley's this afternoon at half past four o'clock.

The yacht club house is near enough finished to begin using, and the first meeting of the club will be held in it tonight at eight o'clock.

A meeting of the naval militia will be held to-night at 8:30 o'clock, at the Y. M. C. A. hall. It is important that all members should be present.

A correspondent gives a good article this morning on water works and other improvements, and advances excellent ideas in regard to the beneficial effects that will flow from them.

A big farmers' dinner will be held at Kit Swamp near Errol to-morrow. A number from New Berne will no doubt be present to share in the hospitalities that always abound on these occasions.

Messrs. Churchill & Parker, the young and progressive Broad street grocers, have just had two nice and attractive signs painted in five colors. One sign is across the upper part of their store front, and the other on the side. Each sign is ornamented with a neat floral decoration.

Two hundred and ten acres of the Spring Garden tract of land including the landing were sold Monday at auction by auctioneer, S. R. Street for $1605 nearly $8 per acre. It was a cash sale and Mr. B. Wetherbee was the purchaser. This land is up Neuse river about a dozen miles from the city. There was a good attendance of farmers and live stock. We are told that the same tract of land was sold less than a year previously at the rate of $3 per acre. It is pleasing to note this upward tendency in the value of good farming land.

Work on the Canal Finished—The Dredge Departs. The steam dredge Albemarle which for a year past has been employed under the supervision of Capt. R. L. Ruokner in cleaning out and deepening the New Berne and Beaufort canal completed the work Saturday and left Monday afternoon returning to Norfolk, leaving the canal in better condition than it was ever in before.

How long will it continue to its present good order? We hope for quite an extended period of time, but judging by the experience of the past there is but little ground on which to base the hope. As is well known the nature of the banks and the mud at the bottom is such that slides are constantly occurring and the canal being obstructed thereby. This goes on to such an extent that the dredge, while at work, was compelled to go back repeatedly over what had already been nicely fixed. This being the case it is likely that the canal will continue to require attention at short intervals unless measures are taken to make the improvements in a more lasting form. It is our conviction that pile driving is absolutely necessary to make the work a permanent success and that it will be economy in the long run to adopt this method whenever work on the canal is again resumed.

The canal is important in water transportation between Beaufort, Morehead, Swansboro and the entire White Oak and New River sections of Onslow county on the one hand and New Berne on the other and it ought at all times to be maintained in as serviceable a condition as it is today.

good Sport. Mr. J. B. Hooker, of Winthrop, in the lower edge of the county, had some fine sport a few days ago. While out deer hunting at Adams Creek he unexpectedly encountered bears and succeeded in capturing two fine cubs that from appearances are judged to be about six months old.

Some of the dogs had taken after the bear but abandoned that chase to join in the one after the deer farther off. After a while Mr. Hooker, not knowing such game was in his vicinity, left his stand, starting to return home and presently noticed a good sized bear's head thrust out of the thicket bushes close to him and quickly withdrawn. He fired instantly where the bushes were shaking and rushed to the spot but saw nothing further of that bear, but did find a cub which he knocked over with his musket and captured.

At that time he saw another cub going up a pine tree and with the aid of a companion captured him without injury. The old bear did not return though the cubs were made to cry out with the view of bringing her to the spot. Consequently it is supposed the shot was a fatal one, else she would have returned to defend them.

The dogs ran the deer into a creek, overtook him there and in the struggle the deer was drowned. Both cubs are thriving and getting tame and Mr. Hooker intends to let some of the colored people of the vicinity bring them up to their Fair which begins on the 25th inst.

A Proof of Merit.

When a remedy proves itself a cure for the very worst case of blood poison, it stands to reason that minor affections of bad blood will rapidly disappear if the remedy is used in time. No remedy in the world has so good a reputation at home or abroad as a cure for all stages of blood poison as B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm).

Benj. Morris, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I suffered years from syphilitic blood poison which refused to be cured by all treatment. Physicians pronounced it a hopeless case. I had no appetite, I had pain in my legs and joints and my kidneys were diseased. My throat was ulcerated and my breast a mass of running sores. In this condition, I commenced a use of B. B. B. It healed every ulcer and cured me complete within two months."

Robt. Ward, Macon, Ga., writes: "My disease was pronounced a tertiary form of blood poison. My face, head and shoulders were a mass of corruption, and finally the disease began eating my skull bones. My bones ached; my kidneys were deranged, I lost flesh and strength, and life became a burden. All said I must surely die, but nevertheless, when I had used ten bottles of B. B. B. I was pronounced sound and well. Hundreds of scars can now be seen on my face. I have now been well over twelve months."

A. P. Brunson, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I had 24 running ulcers on one leg and six on the other, and felt greatly prostrated. I believe I actually swallowed a barrel of medicine, in vain efforts to cure the disease. With little hope I finally acted on the urgent advice of a friend and got a bottle of B. B. B. I experienced a change, and my despondency was somewhat dispelled. I kept using it until I had taken about sixteen bottles, and all the ulcers, rheumatism, and all other horrors of blood poison have disappeared, and at last I am sound and well again, after an experience of twenty years of torture."

Woe to the Conquered.

The Romans cried "Vae Victis!" "Woe to the conquered!" at their triumphs. To-day many of us are being conquered—our peace, our rest and daily appetite wrested from us by that invader of the stomach, dyspepsia. Success we sue for on a hundred sources. Temporary relief we sometimes obtain. But a heavy meal, the simplest indiscretion in diet, and the Proton imp returns with redoubled vigor to torment us. A persistent use of the great anti-dyspeptic and regulating tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is best calculated to drive into permanent banishment every form of indigestion, temporary or chronic. No less efficacious is it for malaria, biliousness, constipation, rheumatism, kidney and bladder ailments. This remedy of specific utility and many uses overcomes them all. 'Tis a safeguard, too, against the effects of temperature apt to revive an attack of "La Grippe."

CONVENIENCES NEEDED.

Establish Water Works and Other Improvements on a Common Sense Plan and Immigration, Success, and Prosperity will Follow.

The general sentiment of the community is in accord with those expressed in the JOURNAL of the first instant on an "Abundance of pure water."

It is a prime necessity, and if New Berne means to keep up with the procession, and take advantage of the tide of success that has set in, then the city ought to provide an abundant supply of pure water.

The contemplated arrangement to be entered into on the part of the municipal corporation for a supply of water from private parties may answer for temporary use, and any expense attending the same necessarily comes out of the public fund. Why not use a little common sense, and treat this matter in a practical way. Let the corporate charter be so amended that the city shall have power to issue bonds payable in twenty or thirty years, bearing interest at the rate of 5 per cent, free from tax, and construct and control a system of supply of water, making it—as in all other places a part of the tax against each lot.

With the present valuation the amount assessed would be small but ample to pay the entire running expense and provide something for a sinking fund to pay the bonds at their maturity.

It is a great mistake to expect the tide of immigration to come this way increasing our population to any great extent unless we provide the conveniences of living, there is something else to be done besides writing and talking "blue promises." Let us get rid of the idea so many have that because they are satisfied with the existing condition of affairs, others ought to be. This is an age of snap and push, and if New Berne is to take rank with the progressive ideas of the age, we want to be far ahead than we are, considering the age of the town. Give us water works and other conveniences for living and not only will the city boom, but many difficulties experienced in domestic economy, now contingent on the lack of these things, will find an easy solution.
