COTTON—New Bern Market—Sales yesterday 117 bales at 7-14 to 8.

Today and tomorrow will be a general opening day with the milliners in New Bern. From appearances their stores contain all the requirements to adorn and beautify women.

The prospects are that there will be a large number of delegates in attendance to the State Christian Missionary Convention which convenes here Wednesday. It is the usual custom that such bodies are entertained during the convention which will no doubt be expected on this occasion.

Mr. L. H. Outler has finished thoroughly repainting his residence including the fences, and it presents an extremely attractive appearance to the eye of the Spectator. It is a lovely light drab, trimmed with tan and several shades of olive that harmonize beautifully together.

A correspondent from Goldsboro to the Wilmington Messenger says: "It is expected that work on the Orphans' home to be erected by the Odd Fellows near this city will be commenced by November 1st. The situation is very desirable and when the building and other improvements are completed, will be a place of much attractiveness."

Notice is given this morning of the withdrawal of Mr. E. W. Fox from the firm of Moody & Fox, saw mill proprietors, and the formation of a new partnership, Capt. Daniel Roberts associating himself with the Messrs. Moody to continue the business. The firm will hereafter be known as Moody & Roberts.

The suit of the city of Durham vs. the Richmond and Danville and North Carolina Railroads for the possession of a strip of land running through Durham which the city claims as a street and the railroads claim as a part of their right of way was decided in Chatham County court in favor of the city. The railroad appealed. The case has been in court several years.

The land of the Reizenstein improvement company begins to present the appearance of a small village of itself. A number of those who have purchased lots have erected residences on them and are occupying them, a colored society is putting up a large hall for their meetings, and Messrs. Dunn, Reizenstein and Ives have commenced work on the forty which they have decided to build on the land themselves.

Rev. T. P. Ricard, in his lecture last night, took the position—and backed up his statements and arguments by scriptural quotations that the inferior races of mankind did not originate with Adam, that some races were in existence prior to and co-temporaneous with him, that the flood, contrary to the generally received opinion, did not extend over the whole world, that these races did not therefore become extinct but that their descendants are inhabitants of the world to-day, and the separate origin of their ancestors accounts for the vast differences so manifest in the various types of the human family to-day.

The lecture was listened to with rapid attention and there was a general whoop on the part of the audience that it had been longer.

The Norfolk Virginian copies a reference to the JOURNAL made to the N. W. and O. E. R. and then adds: "In this connection it may be stated that the committee appointed by the New Bern Cotton and Grain Exchange to receive the projectors of the Norfolk, Wilmington and Charleston railroad met in joint session with the board of Council at city hall Friday afternoon and completed all their arrangements. Such energy for such an object can scarcely be of great advantage to both New Bern and this city."

The Exhibits Doubled.
A Raleigh exchange says that work is still going on at the exposition grounds and that much has been done in the arrangement of exhibits, particularly by Granville and Edgecombe counties.

One thing should be borne in mind, and that is this is a Southern Exposition. Everything displayed is from the South.

Mr. John Robinson, commissioner of agriculture, says he has never seen anything grow so rapidly as this Exposition. The exhibits are twice as numerous and interesting as they were at the opening. People who come will find something worth seeing; something to instruct and to please.

Buildings Shattered by Earthquake.
NAPA, Cal., Oct. 13.—The heaviest earthquake shock ever felt here was experienced at 10:34 last night. People rushed into the streets in their night clothes in great excitement, chimneys toppled over, and several buildings were shattered and badly shaken. The drug store situated on Broadway, however being thrown from the window to the floor and other damage was done. The Masonic Temple, a fine building, was shattered. All the State income tax great settlements prevailed, the police being almost unmanageable.

WILL OPEN SATURDAY.

The Mammoth Mercantile Establishment of Messrs. Hackburn & Willett a Marvel of Completeness.

Another mark of New Bern's rapid progress greets and delights the eye of every passer along the chief business portion of Pollock street. We refer to the transformation wrought during the last two months in the former Geo. Allen & Co.'s store by Messrs. Hackburn & Willett, the present owners, who have remodelled and thoroughly renovated it, and will open therein next Saturday with one of the fullest and most varied stocks that can be found, embracing in the grocery line the best of everything that the most exacting house-keeper need wish for; in the hardware line full supplies for the home and for the field, for woodworkers, machinists and mill men, and in the dry goods line everything that the community uses.

The store they occupy is an excellent business stand, and is now the handsomest in the city and among the handsomest in the State.

It is three stories in height, with two large well-ventilated and well-lighted rooms on each floor, making it in fact equal to half a dozen ordinary stores.

A beautiful inward-sloping glass front trimmed in dark and light green, extends from the first to the second floor the entire width of the building. The brick-work above this rests on a substantial iron girder, supported by posts of the same material, and is built of fine pressed brick brightly painted and striped, and a large sign with showy letters on a black background extends across the very top of the front.

An arch, midway the top of the building, and a wide, nicely finished cornice, just above the glass front, and iron window cornices, of graceful design add much to the exterior appearance, and double windows and two large skylights on either side midway between the front and rear afford abundance of light to the interior, which carries out in full the promise of the inviting exterior appearance, being nicely ceiled throughout and newly painted. The counters, of which there are a dozen, are finished in ash with white panels.

The western lower room is devoted to groceries, the opposite one to dry goods, and the four rooms above to heavy and bulky articles.

The elegant office situated at the rear between the lower stores has the upper half of its partition of glass, and commands a full view of both stores.

The glass portion consists of 14 pairs of sash, the lower one being a single large pane of plain glass and the upper being composed of 25 panes of ornamental Cathedral glass, the central glass being diamond shaped.

A first-class elevator of the latest improved style, a glass front refrigerator affording customers a view of its contents, and other devices on a line with these, make the equipments all that can be desired.

Mr. Hackburn, the senior partner, is a native of New Bern, and has lived here all his life and commenced business in partnership with his brother, Mr. J. H. Hackburn, ten years ago. He withdrew, leaving his brother at the old stand, five years ago, and started a separate store at the stand on Broad street, which he has occupied ever since.

Mr. Willett, the junior member, was raised a New Jersey trucker, but spent several years in the produce commission business in New York. From there he moved to New Bern some ten years ago and served awhile as overseer for Mr. Jos. L. Rhem (his truck farm) by the way, being the largest one in the world), and then commenced trucking for himself, soon forming a partnership with Mr. Dunn, and enlarging his scale of operations, running a combined truck and stock farm. Mr. Dunn afterwards withdrawing, Mr. Hackburn formed a partnership with Mr. Willett in the mercantile business separate until this year, when they formed a partnership throughout, purchased the store of which we have spoken, fitted it up as we have described, and are now running both stores and the stock and truck farm, and operating them on a scale that is truly grand.

Mr. Horace Baxter, an able young New Bernian, is at the head of their hardware department, and Mr. William Morrison, who has had twenty-five years experience in several cities with large dry goods firms, is in charge of the dry goods department and Mr. E. H. Barnum is the book-keeper of the establishment.

Messrs. Hackburn & Willett are scarcely in the prime of life but they are progressive, self-made men, possessed of boundless energy and indomitable will power and the success of their business career has been phenomenal. Such citizens are of incalculable value to any community. Long may they flourish.

Baptist Female Society.
The trustees of the Baptist Female State University in session here and discussed the matter of Raleigh's failure thus far to meet its obligation, which was to give the site for the university. The board agreed to take steps to build the university, if Raleigh fails to do so. The matter now goes before the Baptist State Convention at Goldsboro, which meets November 11, at the board of trustees' office, on this date—Oct. 15, 1891.

Coming and Going.

Miss Blanche Falcher came up from Beaufort yesterday and is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. C. Green.

Mr. Alex. Miller and Mr. Hardy Whitford and family left to attend the State Exposition.

Mrs. R. P. Williams came in on the steamer Newberne, of the O. D. line from a visit to friends in Wakefield, B. L., and New York.

The steamer Newberne took out the following passengers: Mrs. E. S. Hunter, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. R. A. Richardson, returning to her home in Richmond, and Mr. F. Malar, returning to the National Soldier's Home, Va., from a visit to friends in the city.

Mr. W. D. McIyer returned last night from a trip to Montgomery and Chatham counties.

Mrs. L. H. Outler and children who have been visiting her brother, Mr. J. H. Ball, in Washington, D. C., arrived home last night.

Mrs. R. S. Primrose returned home from a visit to relatives in New York.

Mrs. R. F. Broadhurst returned from spending the summer in Richmond.

Mr. J. J. Baxter returned on the steamer Neuse from Elizabeth City and Mr. George Moulton on the same steamer from spending the summer at Hampton Falls.

The steamer Neuse took out the following passengers: Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Howard on their bridal tour, and Mrs. T. A. Green and her daughter, Miss Clara accompanying them.

Dr. G. K. Esby leaves for Kinston this morning and will be absent until Monday.

Cheatham Moves.
Congressman Cheatham has removed his residence from Henderson to Littleton, Halifax County. This became a political necessity to him, as the last Legislature, in redistricting the State, took Vance county out of the Second district, and as he desires to return to Congress he had to move his residence and become a citizen of the district he represents now. He is the only colored member of that body.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

James Stebbes Dies of Hydrophobia.
ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 12.—James Stebbes, the eight-year old boy, who, since Thursday last, was a hydrophobic patient at Elizabeth Hospital, died at 9 o'clock this morning. He was delirious at times, and had spasms. The boy was bitten about ten weeks ago by a mastiff.

MARRIED.
At the residence of the bride, in this city, Wednesday at 4:30 p. m., Mr. J. J. Howard to Mrs. H. J. Foy, Rev. R. A. Willis officiating.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left on the steamer Neuse for a bridal tour to Baltimore and Washington City. Congratulations of the JOURNAL.

Gratifying to All.
The high position attained and the universal acceptance and approval of the pleasant liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs, as the most excellent laxative known, illustrates the value of the qualities on which its success is based and are abundantly gratifying to the California Fig Syrup Company.
