OLD papers for sale at the JOURNAL office by the dozen, hundred or thousand.

NUMEROUS deaths from the influenza epidemic in England are reported.

A SAW mill at Ridgeville, Ind., was wrecked by a boiler explosion and several persons were killed.

TWENTY-six persons were injured in a railroad accident near Cherryville, Kas; three of them fatally.

THE corporation of London has voted 2,500 guineas as a wedding present to Prince Albert Victor of Wales and Prince Victoria of Teck.

JNO. L. FERGERSON, bookkeeper at the National Bank of Kansas City, has confessed to embezzling $20,000 of the bank's funds.

Petitions are beginning to pour into the Senate in increasing numbers urging Congress to enact legislation for the free delivery of mail in country districts. Yesterday Senators Dawes and Hoar each presented petitions from Massachusetts constituents, and Senator Stockbridge laid a petition from Michigan before the Senate on the same subject.

THE experiments, which have been going on in South Carolina to test the ability of the fibre of the Southern moss to form a substitute for the hair which is used in mattresses, saddles, chairs and horse-collars, have at last proved successful, and thus another valuable source of income has been added to the other sources which the South has only in recent years begun to utilize.

REPUBLICAN and Independent papers that are trying to interpret Mr. Crisp's election as a defeat for tariff reform should remember that Mr. Crisp in a speech in Kansas last spring, said: "A reduction of the tariff would further the interest of agriculture, advance manufactures and would re-establish the commerce that has been swept from the seas by a system of laws you have had for twenty-five years."—Augusta Chronicle.

DILLON and George Gould have hastened to inform the public that they never carry about their persons more than fifty cents at a time. The recent experience of Mr. Sage has made all his very wealthy associates timid, but only Dillon and Gould have forestalled the demands of cranks by publicly proclaiming their impoisonousness. It is obviously absurd to ask a man who is known to have only fifty cents in his pocket for $1,200,000. Cranks, however, are not always governed by reason and logic.

THE Delta, the only anti-lottery organ in New Orleans, publishes figures to show that the net profits of that colossal fraud, the Louisiana Lottery Company, amount to $30,000,000 per annum, or twice as much as President Jefferson paid Napoleon for all Louisiana in 1801. No wonder they can afford to pay over $1,000,000 a year to the State for an extension of their franchise. Notwithstanding their princely wealth, however, their opponents feel confident of defeating them before the people.

HARLEY a week passes that it is not reported from South or Central America that an insurrection is about to break out. Honduras is now in a state of agitation which has already resulted in a battle between the revolutionists and the the central or South American citizen floods that life is hanging rather heavily on his hands, he incites his neighbors to rebelion, and for a time the condition of affairs is marked by a succession of very lively events. When this in turn becomes monotonous, he goes back very contentedly to his siestas, bananas, coffee and cigarettes.

THE new raids on the treasury for the veterans was begun by Senator Peffer, who wants to pension all the Federal soldiers and give them a big pile of arrears. Now Senator Pettigrew proposes to appropriate half a million dollars to furnish rations for members of the G. A. R., which meets in Washington next year. The G. A. R. has been holding its re-unions every year since the war and furnishing their own rations, and no doubt would have been willing to go on doing so, but the general raid on the treasury by the Billion Dollar Congress inspires them with hope that they, too can be paperized. The people pay the bills, and yet cannot understand why they are poor.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.
Howard—Christmas comes, etc.
C. E. Thomas—Briok for sale.

Hackburn & Willitt—Go after Christmas presents.

The alarm of fire last night proved false.

The Collegiate Institute acknowledges with pleasure the donation by E. E. Harper of a splendid political map of the United States.

Rev. J. F. Butt, pastor of Hancock Street Methodist church has chosen as his residence in this city Mrs. Virginia Harrison's house on New street just below Craven and has moved in.

Rev. J. L. Winfield, editor of the Water-Tower, will preach in the Church of Christ on Hancock street this (Sunday) evening at 7:30 p. m. Subject: Shall we know each other there?

Mr. Wm. O'Brien, who for several years has been in charge of the National Cemetery at New Berne has been assigned to the one at Stanton, Va., and Mr. Thomas Shea, who has been in charge of the one to which Mr. O'Brien is going arrived last night to take charge of the one here. Mr. O'Brien will leave for Stanton next Tuesday.

The investigation of the bank examiner, Alden, who was sent on from Washington to look into the affairs of the First National Bank, of Wilmington, has brought to light some crookedness. He states that the bank is practically insolvent, and suggests the appointment of a receiver to wind up its affairs. He says he has about done his work there.

The church investigation into the Abernethy-Grimsley trouble could not take place at the time first appointed. J. T. Abernethy not being able to meet with the committee on account of the wound he received in the second encounter. The time for the investigation was changed to next Wednesday. The committee for the purpose consists of Rev. E. A. Willis, of New Berne; F. M. Shambarger, of Kinston; B. R. Hall, of Goldsboro; W. W. Rose, of Fremont circuit; and Geo. F. Smith, of Greenville.

Literature and Music.
Prof. Edward G. Daves, of Baltimore, will spend the Christmas holidays in our city, and while here will assist in an entertainment to be given in the hall of the Y. M. C. A., on the evening of Monday the 28th inst., by the choir of Christ's Church.

Prof. Daves will deliver on that occasion a lecture, one of a course recently delivered before the Peabody Institute of Baltimore.

A Literary Feast.
There is general gratification at the announcement that President Winston, of the University is to lecture here next Wednesday evening and he will, in all likelihood, be greeted by a good audience of New Berne's best and most intelligent citizens. There in two reasons why attendance should be large. Because of the opportunity which only occasionally presents itself of hearing so able and noted scholar and educator and because the money raised will be applied to establish a permanent benefit for the city, a select circulating library.

If you wish to have the right of using more books than you feel able to own or have children whom you wish to enjoy such advantages, attend next Wednesday evening and help the matter along, while at the same time you will receive the full value of the money you spend towards it, by hearing the clearest lecture and also delightful instrumental and vocal music by the Collegiate Institute pupils and others.

The charges will be: Reserved seats 50 cents; general admission 30 cents; pupils and children 20 cents.

Notice.
The public are hereby notified that Christmas dinner, given by the Y. M. C. A., will be held at the Y. M. C. A. building, on Craven street, at 7 o'clock, on Monday, Dec. 21st.

Episcopal Church.
Episcopalians will today for the first Sabbath in several weeks, be able to worship in their church, the work of repairing the whole interior being finished.

The church presents a very nice appearance. The walls are in terra cotta with a wide French blue border above, on the face of which is a graceful scroll with lilies and clover leaves worked in, and midway between each couple of windows is a monogram in gold—two monograms being used alternately, the Greek letters for the name of Christ being in one space and Alpha and Omega, occupying the adjoining one and over the chancel window is a golden cross with the initials I. H. S., and above the scroll work is a line of trefolis, a symbol of the Trinity, encircling the entire church. A repetition of the same is found in the lower border surmounted by fleus de lis in gold.

The organ, which now occupies a place at the left, as one faces the altar, has its front richly decorated in blue and gold on a background of terra cotta, and the robing room, now much enlarged and filling the same space as the organ is at the right and has its front in antique oak, with panels the colors of the side walls.

No portion of the church or vestibule has escaped the magic touch of the painter's brush and whether taken in portions or in its entirety the effect is very pleasing.

A Rare Treat.

Our readers will be delighted to learn that Mr. A. W. Cook is preparing an entertainment of unquestioned merit, to be given Christmas night. The program will consist of selections by the Cook Juvenile Band, recitations, humorous and character songs by Mr. Cook. The main features will be an illusion called "Kalaka," being on the order of "Galatia," which was shown at our last fair, and what is called "The Cyclorama of Phantasms." The latter is a series of magnificent and handsomely colored scenes, occupying the front of the stage to its fullest extent. A few of the scenes to be presented are "The Lakes of Killarney," the moon slowly rising, sparkling on rippling waves, "The Old Swiss Water Mill, showing a summer view with the wheel turning, gradually changing into a winter view with the wheel ice-clogged and still, the air filled with falling snow; "The Bridge Across the Gorge," by day and by night, over which runs a train of cars, the sparks and head-light from the engine making a brilliant effect. Besides these scenes there are many more equally interesting and entertaining.

Aside from the fact that the entertainment possesses merit enough to insure a good house, the various churches and societies of New Berne are under obligations, more or less, to Mr. Cook, who has on many occasions rendered efficient services in their entertainments. Considering all these facts, we are confident that there will be a good demand for seats.

THE STRANGER ABOUT TOWN.
Ninth Round.

Prosperity Multiplies Friends—But has its Disadvantages—Resolves to get Married—Looking Santa Claus in the Eye.

Checked life we lead, ain't it, Mr. Editor?
Who would have thought, a little while ago, when your humble servant first came to town, poor and unknown, and unobserved, that he would have so soon climbed to the lofty pinnacle of fame now occupied by the subscriber? but it is even so. Henceforth let ornary white folks stand aside, and colored ones take a seat way back. If anybody wants to make Sam Slocum's acquaintance now, let them send up their card, or address me by phonograph, and I will think it over for a week or two.

It is astonishing, sir, how I have been took notice of ever since I commenced building that shell rock manse on Slocum's creek. Architects from the National Capital have called on me for working plans. Letters from abroad have come by mail asking for sample packages of the stone. Travelling agents are applying to work the racket on the installment plan. In fact, there is so much danger of a run on the front river deposits, that the Middle Street Improvement Company have begun to hedge fearing that they will not be able to fill orders.

Another thing Mr. Editor, that last boom in my persimmon patent has given me a big lift. There is nothing like success to set a man up in the world. But it's risky! One day a kind hearted minister says to me: "Sam, I tremble for your prosperity. Beware of the vanities of this life." I thanked him, nevertheless, I accept the situation. You would be surprised to see how the big bugs flock around me! It is as much as my valet can do to brush them off. Invitations to pink teas and Kermises are thicker than weeds in an old army biscuit. Twilight warblers chant beneath my windows when the moon and all the rest are full. Wherever I go it is "Slocum, Slocum" all the time. "Do call around and see us, Mr. Slocum." "Mr. Slocum, what will you have to take?" "Sam, let me propose you at the club." "Won't you drive with the young ladies this evening?" "One man has got so far that he asks to borrow a dollar. It is getting to be a regular nuisance, this, and I have half a mind to petition the Legislature to have my name changed; for I am a modest man, Mr. Editor, if I say it myself, and I don't intend to carry my chin so high as to swallow my false teeth. It don't pay. Of course, the bigner up you are, the more deference you get, but you don't have so much fun. You have to walk just so, talk just so, and carry just such a style of a case, and you must keep tradesmen, and all that sort of folks, at a distance, when they call to present their bills. All the goodness which you may happen to have or inherit, you keep to yourself, and you don't give any out. This kind of reserve makes a man distangy.

Dear me! I cannot just make up my mind whether to order a double-breasted coat of arms and train with the Four Hundred, or to continue short hand writing on my own account at the old stand as previous. It sort of goes agin the grain to go back on my profession, but perhaps it may be best to accept the favors of fortune and start in a new line.

Boogah! I have it, boss! I will get married. I will marry some rich man's darter and be provided for. What is home without a motto? Yes, sir, I will do it—I'll do it—go to pieces on the shifting sands of time. I'll take me some fair maiden from off the beach, and make her my own shipwrecked wife. The longest pole knocks the persimmon business. Next year the persimmon business may be bad, and there is no dependence on Santa Claus, whatever I don't ever expect to make any great fortune myself, though I do hope to be rich enough, when I die, to spare a copper for each eye. It is always prudent to have an anchor to windward in anticipation of a squall, and if a certain quality girl I know of don't make a good anchor, I don't know what will. She belongs to a good stock, has plenty of left, and I reckon will hold on by the flukes so long as I give her plenty of scope. I won't need quarters for my coat of arms, for I intend to quarter on her old man. See?

Mr. Editor, I guess I had better stop right here. It is not best for me to say too much against society, seeing as how I have about made up my mind to go into it. It might go agin my interests in the future. Circumstances alter cases, as the saying is.

Right now, I beg to wish you all a Merry Xmas! I wouldn't mind a Xmas, at the same price. When it comes to looking Santa Claus straight in the face, it is as bad as looking a gift horse in the mouth. I'll tell anything that is offered, and no questions asked. Yours till death,
SAM SLOCUM.

Our Country Cousin.
The Durham Sun of the 15th inst., has the following notice of this company which will be at the New Berne theatre to-morrow night:

"Our Country Cousin" was a delightfully amusing comedy and kept the audience in a roar of laughter, last evening. The situations were full of rural charms and rollicking humor. The play is full of interest from beginning to end, and cleverly rendered. All of the actors are good. Frank Jones, as Jason Whissly, the Country Cousin, wasimitable in that character and always brought down the house with his quiet humor. Hickory Hopkins, ambitious for the circus, cannot be beat in his specialties and was repeatedly encored.

The company has decided to remain over here and repeat the play tonight. It is good and is worthy of a full house. If you wish to enjoy a hearty laugh, and good humor, see our "Country Cousin." Tickets on sale at Water's confectionery store.
