THE JOURNAL.

The Commercial Future of the Pacific. William M. Seward once declared that the Pacific Ocean would be the scene of the greatest commerci il activity of the world. Taking up this great prediction, Capt. William S. Merry, who was for many years secretary of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, writes a glowing forecast in the Forum of the commercial future of the Pacific States. He shows the volume of their present commerce with all other countries, pointing FOR THE HOLIDAYS! out how the commerce of Japan is at present worth much more to us than the commerce of China.

The resources of these States are clearly explained; but Captain Merry finds reason to believe that they will never reach their supreme commercial development until the chesper transportation which will be brought by a transisthmian canal, is available; but. after the cutting of the canal through the isthmus, he shows how the Pacific slope will rapidly become the home of as great a commerce as the Atlantic slope, and perhaps even greater.

Only One on His Side.

A capital story is told of a well known judge who is noted for his fondness for conveying to jurors in his charges to them his own opinions with regard to the merits of the case. In one case he had done so with great plainness, but to his amazement the jury remained out for hours without coming to an agaeement. The judge inquired of the bailiff what was the matter, and learned from him that one juror was holding; out against the other eleven.

stating to the jurors that he had ought to be decided, said he underought to be decided, said he understood the one juror was standing out against the other eleven. He proceeded to rebuke the juror sharply. The obstinate juror was a nervous little man, and as soon as the judge was done he rose and said:

"My lord, may I say a word!"

"Yes, sir," said the indignant judge; "what have you to say!"

"Well, what I wanted to say is, I

ATLANT.C ELECTROPOISE — Gentlemen:—
For the a. s: five years my wife has been a sufferer from dispessia. Be completely did the disease make a wreck of her former self that life was almost despaired of. Her nervous system was almost entirely destroyed and the slightest noise would throw her into a nervous spasm, which would last for hours. Medical skill failed to bring any relief.

Through the recommendation of an eminent divine we were induced to try the Electropoise. After a persistent use of the instrument, the effect has been wonderful. Her nervous system has been restored to its almost normal condition; her discation is wonderfully improved; she is rapidly gaining in flesh; and, upon the whole, is making a rapid recovery, which speaks volumes for the wonderfuld curative powers of the E ectropoise, as her case was considered hopeless. If sny are skeptical on the subject, let them try the Electropoise, and the wonderful powers will quickly dispel all doubs.
