HON. William M. Springer is spoken of by the Review of Reviews as a possible candidate for the Presidency should Mr. Cleveland not be in it. EDITOR John H. Williams, col., of the Raleigh Gazette has announced himself as a candidate for Congress. He says his platform will be compensation for ex-slaves as proposed by President Lincoln who stated that they were lawful property of those who claimed to be their masters and proposed to pay $300 each for them, liberate them and stop the war.

THE Mississippi House of Representatives has passed a bill appropriating $64,200 a year for pensions. This will give those now on the rolls $50 a piece. The present appropriation is only $30,000. The bill provides that all indigent Confederate soldiers, sailors, servants, and indigent widows of such, shall be entitled to $50 per year, unless the number at this rate exceeds the appropriation, in which event the amount shall be prorated between them. It is estimated that the indigent clause will put at least 5,000 on the rolls in a few years, compared with the 1,250 now enrolled. If this turns out true, the amount each will receive will be only about $12 a piece. The bill makes the Auditor one of the Pension Commissioners.

It is gratifying to know that the Louisiana Democrats are about to compromise their differences. This is no time for discussion in the ranks of the Democracy. Now if New York will follow the example of Louisiana the skies will be much brighter.

THE World is a Hill organ, nevertheless it knows thunder when it hears it. The wily World says: "Don't invite a contest in the National Convention by presenting a machine-made delegation. The Democratic press of the entire country breathes impatience and resentment. Beware of that sentiment."

TIME was when if any man in the United States dared attempt to capture by political machinations the exalted office of President he would have excited such a storm of indignation against him as would have caused him to hide his diminished head forever from the public sight. So far was the feeling carried that in 1860, when Stephen A. Douglas, for the first time in the history of the country, began making stump-speeches in his own behalf as a Presidential candidate, he excited the disgust even of many of his own following. Yet now-a-days, so degraded has public sentiment become, that it is no uncommon thing for a man to electioneer for the Presidency. — Richmond Times.

LOCAL NEWS.

Weather today: Fair and cool.

There will be a business meeting of the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 9 o'clock. Messrs. W. W. Clark and O. H. Guion returned last night from attending Supreme Court at Raleigh.

Mr. D. N. Wallace offers a large quantity of glass with gilt frame as a special premium for the best home made light bread exhibited at the Fair.

Hon. Geo. A. Shuford, of Buncombe county, has been appointed to the vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge Merrimon of the Twelfth district.

Master Hugh C. Armstrong, of Marietta, 12 years of age, in a letter to his cousin, Master D. N. Knight of the city mentions that he killed 39 black birds at one shot.

Do you realize that season tickets are not to be on sale during the Fair and that the time in which you can purchase them is nearly out? Saturday of next week is the last day you can buy them.

The Greenville Register says that Mr. A. D. Hill, of Farmville, killed a three-year old pig last week that pulled down the scales at 547 pounds, net. It made 225 pounds of lard from the fat of the hog.

The little place of Winton, seeing the importance of a through line of railway, and feeling in doubt about the Norfolk, Wilmington and Charleston railroad coming there, is to hold an election to vote a $25,000 appropriation to the road as an inducement for it to come.

Mrs. S. A. O'Leary died yesterday morning at 3 o'clock at the residence of her nephew Mr. John C. Green, aged 75 years. The funeral will take place this morning from the Baptist church at 11 o'clock. Friends and acquaintances of the family are respectfully invited to attend.

The Farmers' Alliance district convention for the 3d district met in Fayetteville, Tuesday, and selected Mr. Wm. The Davidson College Y. M. C. A. held a brilliant reception in their new hall, February 1st, to introduce the public to their parlor and reading-room, which have just been handsomely carpeted and supplied with elegant sets of furniture in cherry and antique oak, all of which were presented by friends. The furnishings cost about $800.

According to the Baltimore Sun the American Fraternal Circle appears to be on its last legs. Six applications have been filed for it to be put into the hands of a receiver. This is an assessment company which agreed to pay its members $1,000 in case of death, or in seven years if they lived, $300 of the amount to be paid at the expiration of three years, $300 at the end of five years, and the remaining $300 at the end of the seventh year. It was organized July 23, 1888. It is asserted that there is not enough money on hand to make the first payment of $300 to the members who will be entitled to it within the next month, and that $300 certificates will mature in the next two or three months, requiring $700,000 to pay them. The certificates of a number of New Berne members were just coming due.

SERIOUS CHARGES

Made Directly Against Edenton and by Insinuation Against the People of the State.

There is a certain class of people in North Carolina who will not pay any dues, it is possible to reproduce it. To that class the City Council of Edenton apparently belongs. There is another class which opposes and obstructs progress, and to that class the railroad commissioners belong. These have assessed and collected a tax of $1,300 on the part of the Pullman Company which are used on the railroad of that State, either in transit or otherwise. What with rotten hotels, railroad commissioners, debt repudiators and dishonest assignors, the State of North Carolina will soon be given over to foot pads."

The above paragraph is taken from the first number of Southern Progress, a monthly magazine of which Frank A. Heywood is editor and publisher. The object of its publication is said to be the insinuation and information to those who are interested in Southern development and its present circulation is given as 10,000 copies with a good prospect for increase. It will thus be seen that what appears in its columns will reach many readers, over an extensive territory, and is calculated to wield a strong influence for the welfare or detriment of the localities, corporations or individuals whose characteristics are discussed in its columns.

Taking the quotation with which this article starts, as a criterion it might quickly be inferred that "An enemy has done this" but the writings of Mr. Heywood in the past, and the fact that the first article in his magazine is devoted to this State and further, that larger space is given to favorable mention of North Carolina than is bestowed even upon the State in which it is published looks infelicitous to such an opinion. These things being so, render it more important that the complaints he makes receive attention.

The statement of grievance against the City Council of Edenton is thus stated in the magazine:

"The controversy is between Frank A. Heywood and the City Council of Edenton in regard to the payment for a chapter in the Norfolk and South Carolina book. The City Council voted to pay $75 for representation in the work and accepted the manuscript. Heywood alleged his part of the contract but when he asked for payment of the city council, probably acting as the favorite principle of many Carolinians—avoid paying any bill if possible—refused to rettle. * * * It should be said to their credit that the decent citizens of Edenton opposed the action of those who are attempting to cast a stain upon the honor and good name of Edenton by attempting to repudiate a contract, and make some very damaging statements in regard to the personnel of the council."

We know nothing of this case except the statements in the Progress. If a just debt is due Mr. Heywood, and the council is in the wrong the people of Edenton should see that he is paid, but if the board is in the right and his attack is unwarranted every man on it should see that the accusations are refuted, and further, if the councilmen are not to blame in the transaction the citizens of Edenton should rise as one man, uphold them in the matter, cast off the reproach and see that the unjust imputations are made to recoil with a telling effect upon the author.

We fail to see any ground for Mr. Heywood's reflections on the railroad commissioners. Their work has resulted beneficially to the people. As the State Chronicle says:

"The Railroad Commission, has demonstrated its value by increasing the taxable valuation of railroad property $3,000,000, and by regulating the telegraph tariff and reconciling passenger fares and freight charges. It has saved to the people between $400,000 and $500,000. Without the railroad has not been cut, but have merely been compelled to pay their quota of taxation and to give the people fair rates."

Why should not railroads be taxed the same as other property and why should the care of the Pullman company be any exception to the rule? The hotels of the State compare favorably with those of other States in their construction, furnishings, management and comforts afforded guests. "Debt repudiators and dishonest assignors" deserve the severest condemnation. The man who has the money and yet will not pay his honest debts and the one who "breaks to make" should be classed with other thieves both by the law, public opinion and the usages of society and business. That such characters exist is an evil greatly to be regretted but can Mr. Heywood find any State or country that does not contain such devils?

Mr. Heywood's irritation over his grievance, real or fancied, has carried him too far. Boastful through his book are a number of slurs which might be applicable if confined to isolated cases of individuals or firms but which, when made in the form he puts them becomes a sweeping arraignment against the people generally which cannot be substantiated, which deserve resentment and which we are sure the people of both Virginia and North Carolina will condemn. Our people hold high sentiments of honor, and all insinuations calculated to produce a contrary impression cannot be allowed to go unrebuked. A particular stigma has been cast upon the fair name of our sister city. Her board of council and citizens should lose no time in investigating the matter, in making an investigation if from any cause, through misunderstanding or otherwise, Mr. Heywood was not fairly treated or in giving and expressing to their conscience and indignation if the case is otherwise. They one that not only themselves but to the State.

Two BIG Attractions.

The heaviest man alive, Mr. John Hanson Craig, of Indiana, will be one of the objects of interest at the New Berne Fair. He is a large one and no mistake. He is thirty-two years old and now weighs 907 pounds, as much as two bales of cotton! He is six feet five inches high, and measures eight feet four inches around his hips and it takes 41 yards of cloth to make him a suit of clothes!

He weighed at birth 11 pounds; at 11 months old, 77 pounds; at 2 years, 266 pounds; at 5 years, 403 pounds; at 20 years, 601 pounds; at 27, 738 pounds; at 28, 774 pounds; at 29, 792 pounds; at 30, 806 pounds; at 31, 836 pounds; and at 32 his present age, 907 pounds. If he keeps gaining in the same proportion in two years more he will weigh over a thousand pounds.

Mr. Craig is a native of Iowa City. His parents were rather below average size. His father weighed but 119 pounds, and his mother 123 pounds. He is a married man, and his wife weighs 130 pounds.

A monster Alabama hog is to be on exhibition also. His owner, Mr. J. R. Wells, of Montgomery, Ala., is now in the city and has just made the arrangements for exhibiting him. He is 3 years and 1 month old and weighs 1593 pounds. His length is 8 feet 6 inches and his girth 7 feet 11 inches. He lacks just an inch of being 4 feet 1 inch. Mr. Wells paid $65 for him and has been offered but refuses $5,000 for him. If you want to form an idea of the size of this hog remember that he weighs as much as 71 barrels of pork. What a hog!

The Fair managers are hustling. Get your exhibits in as soon as you have a mind to and everybody prepare to come. The railroad fare is only 1 cent a mile and there will be special excursions both by rail and water.

North Carolina Stock. Mr. E. S. Street has just received another large and choice supply of horses and mules from Western North Carolina. Mr. Street makes a specialty of North Carolina stock and expresses his satisfaction with them on account of their toughness and qualities of endurance. The Wilmington Star on one occasion when we announced the arrival of a similar supply commented as follows upon it:

The New Berne Journal announces the arrival there of a car load of horse and mules, but states that the entire lot were from Western North Carolina. If our eastern planters buy horses and mules instead of raising them, it is not so bad when the stock is furnished from Western North Carolina farms, for that helps the Western North Carolina stock raiser along, keeps the money paid for them in the State and helps North Carolina. Adapted as Central and western North Carolina are to grass and grain culture, there is no reason why stock can't be raised and sold at a profit.

We agree heartily with the Star, but go a step farther and include Eastern Carolina also. We are firm in our conviction that this State is well adapted to stock raising, that as good animals can be raised here as elsewhere, that it can be done as profitably and that the near future has in store a great improvement for the industry.

Culinary Department.

The ladies of the culinary department are making a canvass soliciting exhibits in that line for the Fair. We hope all our housekeepers will meet them half way and second their efforts in every way possible. From its nature the success of this department probably comes nearer to resting exclusively upon the efforts of the ladies of our city than any other and all should take pride in keeping it well up with the other departments. This can easily be done by all co-operating. Show your interest and give your encouragement by sending something even if it is no more than a glass of jelly.

Cake, light bread, rolls, biscuit, home made butter, dried fruit, canned fruit and vegetables, preserves, etc., will all come in good play, will all be appreciated and will all stand a chance for premiums that are well worth striving for. We will again remind our readers that good premiums are offered for single articles of almost everything that can be thought suitable for exhibit in this department and that the premium for the best and largest exhibit of canned goods of North Carolina make $35.00 and one additional of $15.00 for the second best and largest. That looks liberal enough to bring exhibits from quite a distance, but let our New Berne people individually resolve to make the success of this department assured by preparing and sending up a variety and enough to make it so.

Rev. H. W. Battle.

The Wilson Advocate has the following good notice of Rev. H. W. Battle, recently pastor of the Baptist church here, which shows the esteem in which the excellent gentleman is held:

The popularity and the fame and the good works of the eloquent Mr. Battle are spreading far and wide, and two other places are eager to secure his services as pastor and preacher. Durham wants him, and so does Petersburg, and it would pull the heart of Wilson out, root by root, to give this good man over. He has endeared himself to our whole community irrespective of denominational affiliation, for all have found in him a Christian and a gentleman.

Push, Pluck and Judgment Did It.

"We return thanks to the Secretary for a complimentary ticket to the New Carolina Fair at New Bern, Feb. 11-17. It push, pluck and energy are component parts in making a fair successful. New Bern will recede the best exhibition of resources ever seen in the State. The JOURNAL is doing the thing up right."

The above is taken from the enterprising Watch Tower, published at Greenville, and in a few words it strikes the key-note to the success which the New Berne Fair has been built up. In the first place the exhibition has always been under the best of management, men of indomitable pluck and energy. Coupled with this they have been met with an able and unflinching assistance from our citizens in the accomplishment of whatever could be done to promote the success of the Fair. Its general character has ever been above all criticism, by extreme measures adopted by the officials in keeping it on a high moral plane. This is the basis upon which the Fair was founded and the only basis on which it can stand.
