INFORMATION comes by way of Charlotte that at a station on the Western North Carolina railroad, a few miles west of Asheville, on the 12th inst., three children were playing on the track in front of an approaching train. THE THING IS A NUTSHELL.

Frank A. Haywood Wrongfully Abuses Edenton's Council.

The Edenton Fisherman and Farmer has the following to say as to the cause of the attack of Frank A. Haywood on the Board of Council of Edenton for a refusal to pay him a bill of $75:

EDENTON, N. C., Aug. 19th, 1891. Frank A. Haywood:

The city council of Edenton empower you to insert at least twelve page reading notice of Edenton and its advantages with at least seven engravings in the Norfolk & Southern book for which they agree to pay seventy-five dollars in completion of contract. The council wish you to submit MSS., or proof of reading notice for approval.

J. L. ROBERTSON, Mayor.

The above is a duplicate of the order by the Mayor, and empowering Haywood to insert advertising matter in the Norfolk & Southern Railroad book. Our readers will see for themselves who has violated the contract. It is stipulated in the order that not less than twelve pages of reading notice and seven engravings are to be inserted in the work, and required him to submit the manuscript or proof for approval.

It is true he submitted to two members of the council a portion of the MSS. (the portion that was published) which was approved by them so far as it went, but, instead of having the twelve pages agreed upon, it was only three and a half—a little less than one-fourth of what the order demanded. As to the engravings, the number was correct, but what about the quality of work? Broad and King streets would not be recognized by one of the many people who daily traverse them, and the Woodward House when shown to the guests was not recognized as their place of abode.

The council did exactly right in refusing to pay the bill presented, and, we hope in the future they will give all such trickish fellows as Haywood a "black-eye."

Had they paid his bill an uncertainty howl would have arisen from the taxpayers of this town. The council in its action did perfectly right and enjoy the good opinion of all property holders in so doing. They are men above reproach and no word from our pen can heighten the esteem in which they are held by their fellow citizens. The body is Democratic, and in accordance with the set principles of Democracy, they have strenuously objected to any waste of the people's money.

Now, we call upon the press of the State to denounce Frank A. Haywood and the Southern Progress as wilfully and maliciously misrepresenting the good people of the Old North State. His reflections are unwarranted and unjust, and should receive the severest criticism. Norfolk, which has been unusually clear in the newspaper line, has allowed a scandal upon her enviable reputation that will not easily be effaced. Such conservative papers as the Virginian, Landmark, News & Courier, Ledger, and others should resent this wrong done our people (the people to whom they owe so much). Such impressions are calculated to alienate the commercial relations that have so long existed between us.

Who is Frank A. Haywood, of Norfolk? Let the press of that city find out and answer.
