It is time to stop and ask, Whether are we drifting? I when we read a paper as the Wilmington Review perpetrates a thing like the following, which appeared in its issue of Monday: There is a family on Greenville Sound who own a remarkable cow. She should have had a calf a short time ago but lost it. They got her up on her feet and milked her. At the first milking she gave butter milk, and at the next a soft and creamy butter. The narrative stops here, but we presume that they milked her a third time and got ice cream.

This shortens the Atlantic Coast Line sixty miles and brings Charleston, Savannah, Florida, Columbia and Augusta that much nearer to Washington and New York. It gives practically an air-line between Charleston and Norfolk, with the grades not in excess of forty feet to the mile and a maximum curvature of four degrees.

LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS
C. E. Slover—Fruits, etc.
Howard—Small sands the mountains.

Rev. R. A. Willis wishes to express his appreciation of and gratitude for a poultice, Wednesday night, and for the valuable articles sent in since.

It is announced that the Atlantic Hotel at Morehead during the coming season will be under the management of a noted Chicago hotelier, Mr. John O. Flack.

Ke-ki-ou-kah or Star lectured Tuesday and Wednesday nights in the Morehead Baptist church to large audiences and is now lecturing at Beaufort.

The freest, happiest and most independent people on earth are those who till their own soil, milk their own cows, eat their own chickens, ride their own horses and mules, and raise their own meat, and owe no man anything. Let those who don't believe it try it.

Mr. John N. Parson, a widower 67 years of age, married Wednesday afternoon for the third time. The bride was Miss Annie Ball aged 23. Mr. Chas. Nelson, J. P. officiated. A big reception was held and a merry time enjoyed after the ceremony. All the parties are of Adams Creek. Some of our New Berne people were present.

New Orleans has just had a $2,000,000 fire which started in the largest retail dry goods establishment in the city, a four story and mansard roof building. It destroyed 10 buildings and badly damaged many others. The buildings almost all are destroyed and estimated to be worth over a quarter of a million.

The chairman of the various Fair Committees in all departments urge upon our citizens to read up all exhibits as early this morning as possible. This is the last day before the opening of the Fair and a tremendous day's work is ahead, all ladies that are members of any committee are expected to be present and assist without waiting to be notified. Come right up and take hold and let no one put off's ending upon exhibit. Send along everything that has not yet been sent today. The earlier and faster they come the better.

South Carolina leads the Southern States in cotton manufacturing, Georgia being second, and North Carolina third on the list. The last named State, however, made greater progress last year than any of her sisters, consuming 39,983 more bales than in 1888-89. Should she continue to make the same progress during the next three or four years she will take her place at the head of the Southern list. More than one-fourth of her cotton crop was last year manufactured at home, causing the circulation in the State of fully six more million of dollars than would have been the case had it been shipped abroad in its raw condition. The Old North State is forging ahead, not only in cotton manufacturing, but in other branches of industry as well, and will make a much better showing in the census returns soon to be made public than it did ten years ago.

Superior Court.
The time of court was taken up yesterday with motions, judgments and continuances—matters not of interest to the general public.

Court is now discontinued for the term.

The Very Last Chance.
The sale of season tickets for the Fair is now in excess of any previous year thus early, and we expect that despite the reported warnings that we have given, there will be some applications for season tickets Monday, but it will be no use TODAY AND TOMORROW IS POSITIVELY THE LAST CHANCE. The tickets are $1.50 each, and can be purchased from Mr. Reizenstein at the Fair grounds all day long, and tonight for the convenience of those who have thus far neglected to supply themselves, I will be at Mr. T. A. Henry's drug store with them from 9 to 11, and that ends the season tickets for this year.

EDENTON AND HEYWOOD.

A LETTER FROM MR. HEYWOOD.

He Lays Stress on the Fact that His Issue is Against the COUNCIL—And Expresses Strong Friendship for North Carolina.

It will be remembered that Southern Progress severely criticized the Board of city council of Edenton for an alleged failure to abide by a contract and pay for services rendered by its editor in a work which he compiled and that we copied the statements of the trouble as it appeared in Southern Progress with a portion of Mr. Heywood's comments, and, while not attempting to enter into the merits of the issue between the two parties concerned, we took exception to certain expressions used because we believed that in the way they were used they were of a nature calculated to create a prejudice against good people of the State.

Mr. Heywood thinks the head which we used over our article put a wrong construction on his language. The head was "Serious Charges Made Directly Against Edenton and by Insinuation Against the people of the State."

Mr. Heywood calls attention to the fact that the issue was made against the city council of Edenton. The body of our article showed this plainly. We omitted the words city council from the head merely to bring it down to a proper length, considering it perfectly legitimate to do so as we regard it just as proper to speak of the acts of a board of councilmen as the acts of the city they represent, as it would be to speak of the action of the United States Government being the action of the United States, and if the recent trouble with the little South American republic had resulted in a declaration of war by Congress no one would have considered it a misuse of words to say that the United States had declared war. Our regard for the act of the council as the act of Edenton was why we considered the integrity of the city called into question and that is why we considered that in defence of their good name its inhabitants should take part and see that a right triumphed and was upheld in every particular no matter who is struck nor how hard so that justice was done.

We aimed to treat Mr. Heywood fairly. We said "if a just debt is due Mr. Heywood, and the city council is in the wrong the people of Edenton should see that he is paid," but we took no sides in the matter in controversy, it was not in our province to do so. We simply gave both sides of the story as far as it has developed. If intentional wrong has been done by either the council or Mr. Heywood the guilty party cannot be too severely censured, as the honor of the whole city of Edenton is involved.

A part of what we copied from Southern Progress read thus:

"Heywood filed his part of the contract, but when he asked for payment the city council, probably acting as the favorite principle of many Carolinians—avoid paying any bill if possible—refused to settle."

We thought this clause alone, without saying anything of others justified the words we used. If Mr. Heywood had said "acting on the principle of many men," no harm could have been thought, but when he said "acting on the principle of many Carolinians" he made his words, as we understood them apply to this whole State and to this State only and whether Mr. Heywood intended it so or not, the natural inference it seems to us, that would be drawn from it by people elsewhere would be that we were cursed with a larger number of dishonest people than other States, which we do not believe to be the case.

But, as Mr. Heywood does not think our position was exactly right and as we wish to give him the benefit of placing himself in the proper light before our readers we copy his letter to us in full:

NORFOLK, Va., Feb'y 17, 1892.
EDITOR OF NEW BERNE JOURNAL.

You misrepresents "Southern Progress" when you state it has made serious charges against Edenton directly and by insinuation against the people of the State. The "Southern Progress" has been and will continue to be the best and truest friend North Carolina has ever had. "Southern Progress" has made no insinuation against the city council of Edenton, and the "sweeping arrangement" you speak of, applies only to a certain class which "Southern Progress" carefully specified.

"Southern Progress" is devoted to the best interests of the South, and will be the friend of North Carolina always, but there is a large number of people in the State, who have no idea of commercial honor, and that gang "Southern Progress" will most certainly destroy. You will find by consulting "Southern Progress" that it has none but the guile and the insinuation you convey that is refer to all Carolinians is an injustice to the paper and myself.

Yours fraternally,
FRANK A. HEYWOOD.

Better and Better Fishing.

There seems to be no telling to what measure of success the new style of fishing (sinking nets to the bottom), which has just been adopted by the Beaufort and Morehead fishermen, may lead. When we told of Beaufort fishermen catching 75,000 croakers and trout in one day about a month ago, we thought that was about as good as need be expected, but a little later the Kingston Free Press, whose editor took a trip to Morehead, told of the fishermen there catching 125,000 croakers in one day, besides a great many trout.

But Thursday's fishing takes the lead over all. On that day from 75,000 to 100,000 trout were caught, and from 40,000 to 50,000 croakers.

We are told that Mr. John Lewis of Morehead, went out with two boats and four men to manage them, and at one time dropping his net caught enough to fill both boats—over $150 worth.

Another instance was cited of four Beaufort boys, two of them sons of Mr. Elijah Lewis, and two of them sons of Mr. Arch. Mason, who went out and in one time letting down their net caught as many as their boat could hold. They pulled the net right in without stopping to take the fish out of it until they reached the wharf, and were back in two hours from the time they left it with fifty-five dollars worth of trout.

Forty or fifty boats were out, and as a rule as soon as they hauled in the first net full they had no room for any more, and in some instances would have to make their way back with dipstick in order to retain all they had caught and yet keep from sinking.

A Splendid Time to Visit North Carolina.

Under the above head the Industrial American of Lexington, Ky., a sterling semi-monthly magazine contains the following notice of the East Carolina Fair:

The New Berne, N. C., Fish, Oyster, Game and Industrial Exhibition will hold its Fifth Annual Exhibition from February 23 to 27th, inclusive.

This section has many features that make it worth visiting summer or winter, and a visit to the fair will be of special interest to the inhabitants of the interior, as a very fine exhibit of game and sea food is to be made.

The value and importance of the industries will strike the readers of this section more forcibly when it is stated that premiums of the same value are offered for fish and game as are offered for a thoroughbred mare and colt.

New Berne is in a county that will enhance in value rapidly. We have before us an article on this section showing that from an investment of $6,000 six years ago, and $8,000 four years ago, or a total of $14,000, the owners took $55,000 net out of it this last season, the two principal crops being 10,000 barrels of cabbage, netting $12,500, and 9,000 barrels of potatoes, netting $38,500. A county that can present such inducements for the rapid accumulation of wealth is worth going to see. For full particulars address, Chas. Reizenstein, New Berne, N. C.

Sunday School Convention.
The Lenoir county Sunday school convention will assemble at the Methodist church in Kinston on Wednesday, March 9, 1892, at 11 a. m.

Each Sunday school in the county, of every denomination, is requested to send delegates to said convention. The county convention will select delegates to attend the State Sunday school convention, to be held at Newbern on March 29-31, inclusive, and will transact such other business as may be appropriate and necessary.

It is expected that there will be interesting talks by the president of the association in this district and by others, and it is hoped that full delegations from each Sunday school will attend.

A programme of the convention will be published next week.—Kinston Free Press.

Craven County people will please remember their county Sunday convention will meet in the Church of Christ at New Berne on the 10th day of March for the purpose of electing delegates to the State Convention. Each Sunday School can send as many delegates as it pleases. Let there be a full attendance.

Coming and Going.
Rev. H. C. Moore, of Morehead, who has been gone about three weeks in the western part of the State in the interest of the Baptist Church now being built at Atlantic Station, five miles from Morehead, returned home Friday night.

Mr. W. A. Rockwell, of Troy, Pa., arrived last night to attend the Fair and to remain some time in the city on pleasure.

Mr. T. E. Pace, of Orange, Mass., arrived with an exhibit of fancy work from the New Home Sewing Machine office for the Fair.

"Small sands the mountains— And trifles life."—YORK.

It is not the big things that make up life, but the trifles.—So it is in dress. There are some trifles that you cannot do without. They consist of neckwear, underwear, footgear and headgear. We have just received an invoice of early spring neckwear. They are very choice and handsome. The prevailing colors seem to be the shades of blue and red—the prettiest colors of all. The prices of these goods are reasonable and you can all afford a new tie for the fair.

WHERE TO STOP

DURING THE
Fish, Oyster and Game Fair.

To the people who attend the Fair to be held in New Berne, February 23 to 28, '92. I would say that proper arrangements have been made for the accommodation of all those who attend. Our doors are thrown open for all at very moderate charges. Our market is well supplied with the best fish and oysters at the market dock, foot of Middle street, and any further information can be obtained by calling at the wonderful Clothing Store of Big Ike, who is now closing out a ten thousand dollar stock which he has purchased at different bankrupt sales since last of January, '89, at 40, 50, and 60c cents on the dollar. This may be your last opportunity to trade with Big Ike. You may not come to New Berne again soon, or he may move to some larger city. Look to your interest and carry the joyful news home to your friends, and when they visit the next Fair they will know
