

Farm Economy. First: Ask ninety-nine farmers out of one hundred this question: Is it not to the interest of the farmer to raise his own supplies and make the farm self-sustaining?

Second: Let me say to all my brother farmers that farming under such a system insures the same rain as it would to a man whose capital was in money, and his family expenses exceed the interest income, and yearly he had to draw on the principal to support his extravagances, which would be consuming the capital in addition to interest.

Third: The plain truth is, to make farming profitable farmers must return to first principles, which is undivided attention to their business; live within themselves, pay as they go, and build up their lands by rotating crops, plowing under vegetable matter and have stock yards and save all manures.

Fourth: It is necessary for every farmer to know the rudiments of agricultural science; it is necessary for him to have a business capacity, some forethought and sound judgment. If he has none of these he will do well to hire out to somebody who has; if he can read an agricultural paper he will do well to sell his farm and go to something else better suited to his capacity.

Money in Apples. Western North Carolina is without doubt the finest apple region on the Atlantic slope, if not in the whole country. The whole South ought to get its apple supplies from this section and yet here the central eastern parts of North Carolina get their supplies of winter apples from the North. The high rates of railroad transportation are blamed as the cause for this, and doubtless this is one reason. But the main reason is that the people have not learned to handle and ship apples. The following rules may be useful: Gather all apples by hand those shaken off are not fit to ship. Put only one variety in a barrel, and only good specimens. Keep the cullings at home for vinegar. Use only good, clean and tight barrels; winter apples should not be shipped in slatted crates or ventilated barrels.

Place the apples in the barrel by hand, don't dump them in. Round them up well about the top of the barrel so that the head must be forced in with a lever or screw press. This is essential point, for if apples are loose in the barrel they will not ship in good order. Plant only a few standard sorts that are well known in market. There are too many kinds now grown in Western North Carolina. W. F. Massey, Horticulturist Experiment Station.

Electroprose. SIMPLE IN CONSTRUCTION. PERMANENT IN DURATION. EASILY APPLIED. ITS SKILLFUL USE QUICKLY LEARNED. The Electroprose is an Instrument for THE CURE OF DISEASE WITHOUT MEDICINE.

Based on new theories of the cause and cure of disease, it deals with the electrical and magnetic conditions of the body and the gases surrounding it in the atmosphere controlling these conditions at will. It is not electricity, DISEASE is simply impaired vitality. The Electroprose constantly adds to the vitality and only assists Nature, in Nature's way, to throw off the trouble.

A 40-page book, describing treatment and containing testimonials from all sections, and for the cure of all diseases, mailed free on application. Address ATLANTIC ELECTROPROSE CO., Washington, D. C., Charleston, S. C., Atlanta, Ga., W. M. WATSON, Agent, New Berne, N. C.

Only Right To Tell. The Rev. Mark Guy Pearse, the eminent English Divine writes: "Bedford Place, Russell Square, London, December 18, 1888. 'I think it only right that I should tell you of how much use I find ALCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS in my family and among those to whom I have recommended them. I find them a very braceplate against cold and coughs.'

HAPPY HOMESEERS. Wm. Timmons, postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Ditters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver troubles." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Elastic Ditters has been the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man."

Wm. Gardner, merchant, same town, says: "Electric Ditters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite, and felt just like he had a lease on life. Only 50c a bottle."
