The Rescued but Injured Captain.

We had a talk yesterday afternoon was broken when his vessel was lost at ow at the merine hospital in this city In noticing the cards being outfor the under treatment by Dr. F. W. Hughes. Capt. Simmons highly praises the efficiency of the life saving stations in ccessible. The captain's leg was brokdashing of his vessel before he left it, handsomest display of blooming plants, being notified by telegraph of the (rouble, the station could not be reached by reason of the terrible weather the city Thursday.

Capt. Simmons, we are pleased to see, is suffering comparatively little, Moulton, $10. but of course he has a tedious time of waiting while the limb is knitting together.

Time Predicted,

Word & Works, a scientific paper published at St. Louis, Missouri, gives weather calculations, a month in advance which are made by Rev. Irl R. are now equally as we'l accommodated Hicks, by astronomical signs. It is stated that he could not have foretold the weather for "the month of January more correctly at the end of the month than he did at the bekinning.

We give some extracts for the latter rove interesting especially to truckers: "A cold wave of great intensity will spread eastward and southward from shout the 10th to the 18th. The 14th and 15th are dates upon and touching which there will be a sudden change to very warm, attended by electrical storms, and followed by change of wind and sharp freezing up to about the 18th.

"A regular storm period is central on March 20th, being within forty-eight hours of the sun's central bearing on our equator. The moon is on the equator. also, on the 21st. The equinox of Mars, on April 12th will also bring Mr. Fred L. Brown of Chicago arrived its fall disturbing power into play by last night to visit his friend, Prof. F. E. this time, so that every warning given for the period 8th to 18th will apply with added force to the period 19th to 23d inclusive.

"Great gales on sea and land must result upon and about these dates. Those who are looking for an open passage into warmer summer weather, will find their hopes, and perhaps, other possessions blighted by frost between the 22d and 26th. Plan for the care of your stock and the protection of early vegetation.

"Another sudden change from cold to very warm will occur 26th to 28th. Two gentlemen who arrived last with rain southward, turning to snow night and registered at Hotel Albert, in the far West and North. The final dash of cold for the North wind will follow up to the 80th.

March will go out with rising temperature and the appearance of storms in the west which will run into the opening days of April."

Mr. Hicks calls upon those into whose hands his forecaste may fall to keep constant and careful watch of the eleats and compare storms and changes as they may experience them or read of them with the predictions.
