A new cure for drunkenness has come to light. A physician of New York has set himself up as a rival of Professor Keeley, and has established an institution, whose treatment is more secret than the "gold cure." About fifty patients are ready to testify to its efficacy.

THE curious news comes from Bombay that an epidemic of cholera has broken out among sailors and soldiers, those terrible monsters that infest the Indian Ocean. The bodies of several British seamen who had died of cholera in the harbor of Bombay were taken out to sea and buried, and it is supposed that the sharks contracted the disease by feasting on the bodies of the human victims.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 12, President Butler, of the North Carolina Alliance, was here today looking after the interest of the third party movement and seeking recruits to it from members of Congress. But he got no comfort. The North Carolina Alliance members informed him that they are Democrats and that they will remain faithful to the Democratic party.—Richmond Times. The Alliance is usually correct, but we doubt the

THE New York Press says: "The King of Siam has recently prescribed that no prophet shall be entitled to public confidence unless he has the gift of sitting unharmed in the midst of a hot coal fire for the space of at least half an hour." What's the matter with trying that test on American weather prophets?

THE old frigate Constitution, so renowned in our naval annals, is still included among the vessels of the navy. She is dismantled, as might be expected at her age, and is kept in that condition at Portsmouth, N. H. She is a craft of 2,200 tons displacement, and now carries no battery in place of the forty-four guns of the days of her glory.

IN the Supreme court room Joseph B. Batchelor, Esq., presented to the court, on behalf of the Battle family, an oil portrait, life-size, of the late Judge William H. Battle, of Raleigh. It is a good likeness. Mr. Batchelor's address, of forty minutes length, was mainly a sketch of Judge Battle's life, and will be published. The portrait was received by Chief Justice Merrimon in a very happy style. It will be placed on the walls, an important addition to the fine collection which is being now quite rapidly made.

LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. Administrator's notice. W. B. Lane—Positively last call. For sale—Webster's Unabridged. Howard—Paid dear for his whistle.

THERE will be Lenten services at the Catholic church tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. H. B. Bryan returned last night from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Fannie Broadfoot of Fayetteville.

The dwelling which Squire Hill is putting up on Pollock street nearly opposite his residence is getting well under way.

The Episcopal rectory is near enough finished for all to see that it will be a handsome building and a very desirable addition to the residences of the city.

Guy Bros. Minstrels gave their first performance in this city last night to an appreciative audience. High class music, mirth and humor flowed freely to the delight of those present. Performance again tonight, with an entire change of program.

The list of delinquent taxpayers will soon be published. If you have failed thus far to attend to the matter, and wish to save yourself the mortification and expense of having your name appear in this connection, seek the sheriff's office without delay and "square up."

Mr. Fife's meetings in Norfolk which lasted two weeks closed Sunday. They resulted in 300 conversions. The collection for Mr. Fife on Sunday night was $400. From Norfolk Mr. Fife went to Richmond. In a few weeks, it is said he will begin a series of meetings in Wilmington.

The eight-ton plant of the ice factory, the old pair, which had temporarily ceased work on account of the brine tank having to be moved slightly to make room for the additional twelve ton plant now being put in, is now turning out the ice as lively as ever. In a little while the twelve ton plant will be running also.

To what extent are property owners liable in keeping up sidewalks. A property owner of Raleigh contended that he could not be forced to have one third of the street in front of his property but the Supreme court said the city could require this and enforce it by assessing a third of the cost against the property, but not from any other property of the same owner.

Rev. R. A. Willis conducted the services Wednesday at Hancock Street church. There were several penitents and one conversion. There was good interest shown last night also. The services tonight will be conducted by Rev. I. L. Chestnut. A hearty invitation is extended to every one to attend these meetings. There were four conversions last night.

Speaking of the Norfolk, Wilmington & Charlotte Railroad the Philadelphia Record says: The road is expected, if built, to open up a fine lumber and trucking country, and to lessen the distance between the North and Florida by over 200 miles. Among the larger towns through or near which the route has been surveyed are Wallacetown, Va., Yardeley, Coleraine, Windsor, Williamson, Potatoes, Johnson's Mills, Dover, Pink Hill, Washington, South Washington, Point Garwell, Wilmington and Pender, N. C., and Conway, Fessner, Georgetown, Santee and McClellandville, S. C. The projectors of the company hope to award the contract for building a portion of the line in a short time, and are now negotiating to raise the necessary funds, the cost of construction the main line being estimated at about $1,000,000.

THE annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Eastern Carolina Fish Canning and Industrial Association will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Hall on Tuesday night 22nd at 7:30 P. M. THE CANNING INDUSTRY.

It ought to be developed 'Aloug With Trucking and Fruit Culture.

Of Interest to All.

It has been obvious for years that there is an opening in New Berne for a fruit and vegetable canning factory.

Mr. S. M. Sindall, of Baltimore, has sent out a valuable article on the canning industry, in which he shows that there are now 200,000 factories operating in 41 states, and giving employment to 1,000,000 persons during the counting season while those directly and indirectly concerned number about 4,000,000. The concluding portion of Mr. Sindall's paper will be read with special interest in the South. He says:

In no part of the country has this industry brighter prospects than in the South. Of all sections which I would look to for great success, the South is the one. The climate is altogether favorable for its success, and not single cases of canned goods should be manufactured in the North and brought to you for consumption. The North has lived for years on the business of the South in this particular. I want to see your product put in hermetically sealed packages by your own people, and at your own canneries. It is time that the business men of the South are awakened to the importance of a broad spirit of encouragement to all enterprises that look to Southern advancement.

As great as has been the work of the Southern people as a whole in the marvelous development that has been going on for five or six years, too many have stood idly by and waited, hoping that others would come in and lead such enterprises and let them grow rich out of it.

Most of the developments which moderate the South prominent as an industrial field have been the result of plucky Southern effort. Let them keep up the motion. I am like others who are at all conversant with Southern affairs, a strong believer in the Southern states as a field for progress and development and wealth-making in the near future.

Investments such as I speak of, pay handsome profits, besides being of much benefit to the city or county where the factory is located. The capital required for conducting this business is small, the cost of the machinery being moderate if our own state can supply farmers operate their own own canning factories in connection with their other duties.

The statements as to the percentage of profit in some cases would be incredible if they were not authenticated by unquestionable testimony, simply substantiated by ascertained facts. With sufficient capital and proper management there is probably no other business known combining such large profits and so high a degree of safety.

The demand for consumption increases disproportionately to the supply. This country would be forced to subsidize distribution are increasing and the trade for canned goods is growing. In every household it is a portion of the daily rations. It is cheap, ready for use, and in all respects is desirable.

Without it there are portions of our country that would be forced to subsidize salt meat and bread. To the camp, the mine and the mariner it is now indispensable.—Beaufort Seaside.

The facts brought out in the above article show that those who have money to invest need have no fear of establishing a canning factory where material for canning is plentiful. New Berne can supply as large quantities of fine vegetables of all kinds as are wanted and fruit to a certain extent. A canning factory will pay the owners, the operators, the growers of the products used, and merchants, owing to their increased business. Who will move in the matter?

Did He Poison Her?

About two years ago a pretty South Carolina girl became infatuated with an employe in a tin shop in Rutherfordton. She visited her friends near the town, and during her stay there arrangements for an elopement were made. The parties were married adversely to her family's wishes, but tonight they gather in an anxious group about her corpse.

Last night, a little after twilight, she awoke with her husband both apparently in good health, while the brightly blue eyed babe of 3 months rested quietly on its pillow. Immediately after the supper the husband, Charles Deale, went away looking the front door and taking the key with him.

A few minutes before 11 o'clock, screams from his house were heard by parties roaming near. Exclamations "I am dying—Oh I'm dying" brought hurried footsteps to the spot. One white and one colored man being the first to arrive. They found her in paroxysms and hurried away. One sought the absent husband and one to get nearest assistance.

When they returned, the husband with them ten minutes later they found her dead. On the floor where she lay was a considerable amount of froth. The examination will probably result in an autopsy, and the stomach being sent away for analysis.—Charlotte News.
