Delinquent taxpayers have been rushing to the sheriff's office to pay up before the list is published. Some came from 20 miles away so anxious were they to settle. Well, today is the last chance. All that remain unpaid by tonight will appear in the JOURNAL tomorrow.

Large quantities of very fine asparagus were shipped from New Berne last year and it paid handsomely. This season's shipments have just commenced. Mr. Wm. Dunn, who generally "gets there" in what he undertakes sent off his first shipment Saturday, and Mr. J. L. Rhem and Mr. W. F. Crockett, making other shipments by the steamer Neuse yesterday.

Great success is attending the evangelistic meetings of Rev. J. W. Lee at Morehead. At the service Sunday night which was the second night they were held there were seventeen penitents and four or five conversions. The church would not begin to hold the crowds that flocked to the meetings and permission to use the teachers assembly building was secured and the meetings are now being held in that.

A day of "Fasting and Prayer, by appointment of the Governor, was observed in Massachusetts on April 14th, 1774. The Proclamation says "It having been the long uninterrupted practice of the authority of this Government to appoint and set apart, at the beginning of every year, day of Fasting and Prayer throughout the Province &c. It had evidently long been the custom there and the Charlotte News is far out of the way in giving Nov. 11, 1775, as the date of the "First day of Public Fasting and Prayer in America."

What an influence for good or evil is exerted by the proper or improper use of money. It seems to be the first essential of modern life. Bad indeed is the lot of that man or that woman without money and without friends. Especially in cases of sickness is the need of money felt most pressing, and yet even the rich with all their money fall into a state of poor health and die, whereas if their money was rightly expended and the proper remedies applied they might regain health and strength.
Z. A. Clark, Atlanta, Ga., says: "I spent four hundred and eighty dollars in gold to cure me of terrible blood poison that affected my limbs and nose and body, with running ulcers. One month's treatment of B. B. B. healed the ulcers, restored my appetite, strengthened my kidneys and added 31 pounds to weight."
Bill, in spite of this and much other testimony there are many who refuse to try the remedy, seeming to prefer to pay large fees to physicians, or visit distant springs in vain hopes of recovery. The great truth however, ever shines brightly and that is, that no one who ever gave B. B. B. (Rheumatic Blood Balm) a trial ever found disappointment.

Dr. H. R. Randolph, Tallahassee, Fla., writes: "I had blood disease for six years, but nothing benefited me, although I paid two hundred and fifty dollars for treatment. At last I tried B. B. B. and found it a quick and cheap blood purifier."

A Rascally Commission Merchant.
It will be well for the farmers to be aware of shipping their truck and other produce to men of whom they know nothing, on the strength of alluring promises. Reliable firms who make nothing but business like offers are the safest and generally the most satisfactory.

From the Washington Post we learn that a commission merchant of that city doing business under the name of M. Nelson Falk, and an accomplice named Herbert E. Turan were arrested Friday on warrants issued by a United States Commissioner, charging them with using the mails for fraudulent purposes.

It seems that the scheme practiced was to send out circular letters offering high prices for eggs, to sell at once below the market price the shipments received, and pocket all the proceeds, making no remittances whatever to the shippers.

Numerous letters of complaint that were sent to the Washington police department by farmers of North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania and by reputable commission merchants who could not understand how Falk could sell eggs at the price at which he sold hundreds of cases led to the arrests but, it is said, not before Falk had sold five thousand dollars worth of eggs.

Lectures on Indians.
Rev. C. G. Vardell in his lecture Sunday night noticed a few of the theories concerning the origin of the Indians and the arguments advanced to support them, which theories however, with all the evidence that can be collected amount to but little more than mere conjecture.

But in presenting the views which some hold that they are the lost ten tribes of Israel, Mr. Vardell showed that they have traditions in a crude form of things taught in the Bible; they believe in one "Great Spirit," they believe also in an evil spirit, and in the triumph of good over evil.

They have also traditions, kept alive by word, impressive, symbolic ceremonies at annual celebrations, which teach the existence of a "first man" the flood a "big canoe" etc., and there are evidences also that free masonry existed among them.
Their good and their bad qualities were both mentioned in the lecture, and their government, which is, contrary to generally received opinion, an orderly one, described in detail. Descriptions were also given of the tortures to which young braves are subjected before they become full-fledged warriors and of some other remarkable customs.

Future lectures, one of which is to be delivered on the first Sunday night in each month until the series is complete, will take up the dealings of white men and the Government with the Indians, the dealing of the latter with them, and missionary work among them from the earliest settlement of the country to the present time.

THE PRESBYTERIAN ALLIANCE.

Dr. Vass to Deliver an Address at the New York Reception Next Month.
Four years ago, in London, Rev. L. O. Vass, D. D., was appointed on the western commission of the Presbyterian Alliance of the world. This commission, and the eastern commission in England, manage the general affairs until the next world's council meets in Toronto, Canada, next fall.

A public reception will be given to the western commission in New York city April 14, by the Presbyterian Union of New York. Dr. Vass has been invited to make the address on that occasion upon "Presbyterianism: Its Doctrines," and has accepted the invitation. There will be some 500 present at this reception, representing Presbyterians in New York city and vicinity.

The council in Toronto will be a notable one in the important subjects to be discussed. -From the Savannah Morning News, April 1st 1892.
We, in common with our people generally love to hear of the success of Dr. Vass. The city itself is honored through the honors that continue to be conferred upon the polished scholar and beloved former pastor of the Presbyterian Church of this city.
