THE United States man of war Concord, while stopping at Helena, Ark., on her way to the Memphis bridge inauguration, caused great excitement among the negroes. MEMORIAL EXERCISES.

THE Louisiana senatorial contest caused by the appearance of an Alliance candidate in the field, but it is still probable that Hon. R. L. Gibson, the senior Senator from that State will be chosen by the Legislature as his own successor.

AT the present writing there does not seem to be any doubt of the renomination of Benjamin Harrison for the Presidency. There is the usual show of dissent among political wirepullers who are maneuvering for position, but there is no open or courageous opposition in any State of the Union.

LOCAL NEWS.

THE Catholic lawn party has been postponed to the 26th inst.

THE flag at the custom house is at half mast in respect to Capt. Richardson, late collector.

WE will publish the address of Col. Green, entire. It is too good to be lost with the hearing of it.

THE funeral service of Capt. John A. Richardson will be held at the Episcopal church this afternoon at half past four o'clock.

THE rose show to be given tomorrow evening at Mr. Henry R. Bryan's will begin at 6:30 o'clock and continue through the evening, and promises to be very pleasant.

OUR people will be sorry to part with Mr. Charles Hallock who has interested himself so earnestly in the advancement of New Berne during his sojourn with us since the beginning of last November, and will welcome his return at any time when it may please him to put in an appearance. Mr. Hallock leaves in the Neuse this evening for New York, en route for his extensive plant in the Red River Valley of Minnesota. Mrs. Hallock and her sister, Miss Wardell, will remain until the 27th.

FROM Senator Ransom.

The following telegram was received about noon yesterday by Col. Wharton J. Green from Senator Ransom, giving expression to his feelings in relation to the address which Col. Green was about to deliver on the career of his soldier brother, General Robert Ransom:

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 10, 1892.
HON. WHARTON J. GREEN,
care Maj. Graham Daves.
I am so sorry that I cannot be with you today. My heart is with you, it would have been a great joy to my dear brother to know that you were to perform this duty to his memory.
Yours affectionately,
M. W. RANSOM.

EVANGELIST FIFE'S MEETINGS.

Evangelist Fife will arrive Thursday and conduct the first one of his series of meetings that night. His musical director, Mr. William J. Ramsey, who accompanies him is now training the choir for the meetings. It is composed of members of the different churches of the city. The hymn book used by Mr. Fife in his meetings is "Crowning Glory," Nos. 1 and 2. Mr. Fife has sent two boxes of them to the city for these meetings.

All singers of any denomination are invited to the Presbyterian lecture-room tonight to practice with them.

The tent is here and will be erected at once at the corner of Broad and Hancock streets. Seats were being made and other preparations were in progress yesterday.

ALL SUFFERED LOSSES.

We learn the adjusters are constantly expected to adjust the losses sustained by the late fire. It is probable the ultimate losses by this fire will fall more heavily upon individuals than usual on account of the inadequacy of the insurance to cover losses.

Mr. Taylor will, perhaps, suffer more heavily than the rest, his insurance being comparatively light. Parsons Bros. lost, $2,000, insurance $500. The losses of Mr. Mace were also heavy—his three stores and two fish packing houses were insured for only fifteen hundred dollars, while worth more than twice that sum, a part of his insurance having lapsed a few weeks before the fire.

Mr. White had no insurance, but as his stock was mortgaged to Mr. Mace for its full value the entire loss falls on him. We learn, however, Mr. Mace will begin at once to rebuild the three burnt stores, and will this time use brick instead of sheet-iron.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES.

FINE Address—Charming Music—Elegant Floral Decorations.

The Confederate Memorial services yesterday were very interesting. The programs were well carried out. The decorations at the hall were neat and appropriate. Over the head of the orator was the name RANSOM, in beautiful letters of white, and in front of the stand in letters formed of green leaves was the wish, "Peace to the Memory of the Brave."

The music was fine, and the address by Col. Wharton J. Green, of Fayetteville, on "General Robert Ransom, His Career and Services as a Soldier," was excellent, touching as it did on the ancestry and early years of our late distinguished townsman, his honorable traits of character, and gallant services in defence of his native land in the hour of peril and invasion.

The exercises at the hall being ended, the procession formed as planned and proceeded to the cemetery for the concluding exercises.

Proceeding to the Confederate monument, which had been decorated in advance, a circle was formed around it, "The Guard Around the Tomb" sung, and then the Memorial Association proceeded to the grave of Gen. Ransom, and after singing a refrain, "Peace to the Memory of the Brave," the benediction was pronounced by Rev. T. M. N. George, and the grave completely covered with floral tributes of esteem—six young ladies with wreaths of flowers leading in the work of decoration.

The floral decorations around the monument were pronounced by all whom we heard give an expression to their opinion the loveliest and most appropriate they ever beheld. The base of the monument was surrounded with a mass of roses, which extended from its four corners to the foot of the mound and encircled that, and in the four vacant places formed by the bands of roses between the monument and the foot of the mound were lovely flags formed entirely of flowers of the right colors and the most beautiful ones that grow. The flag at the left as the monument was faced was the one used by the Confederacy previous to the regular adoption of one; the one at the right was the first one adopted and the one at the front was the flag as used after a change was made in it to the end of the war and the one at the rear was the Confederate battle flag. Two crossed swords, one white, the other red, rested on the front of the monument and wreaths etc., added to the effect.

The Ladies' Memorial Association deserve high commendation for their devotion, their unwearied efforts, and the success they have achieved in their efforts to do honor to our heroic dead.

APPRECIATES NEW BERNE.

"GARDEN SPOT OF THE EAST."

Glowing Words of Praise From a Visitor for New Berne's Fishing and Trucking Industries and Hospitality. Virginia Truck.

He Advises Truckers to come to New Berne.

A letter to one of our citizens from a gentleman who recently spent a short time in the city furnishes another splendid evidence of the superiority of our resources and of the bright era of general and substantial prosperity dawning upon this section with the continued advance in the development of those resources. Here is the letter:

NORFOLK, Va., May 8.

Mr. E. B. Cox:

Dear Sir:—This writing finds me in Norfolk having only a few days since returned from your section or "The Garden Spot of the East" as it is familiarly known.

During that time I have been driving around the country and thinking you might like to know the condition of your crop here, I will give you a synopsis.

Our potatoes are looking fine, a perfect stand and every body is working them out. If the season is good we may look for a good crop of fine stock.

Cabbage are alright but very late. It will be the 25th of May or first of June before any shipments are made and even then they will be light owing to continuing frost. The crop is the most irregular ever grown here.

Berries will pick next week and perhaps a few peas will go in. The pea crop here is cut off nearly one-half but we hope the price will make up for the difficulty.

We need too a little rain just now. Beans here are just about as they are in New Berne but the warmer climate ought to make considerable difference in your favor before it is time to pick.

My short stay there was indeed most pleasant and I only regret not being able to see more of the country and acquaintances. I was so favorably impressed with the abundant fish supply, the facilities for growing and shipping truck, the pleasant location, the hospitality of the people and the outlook generally as to advice several of our energetic truckers to go down on a prospecting tour.

They are all quite busy now but no doubt they will avail themselves of the first opportunity.

It is true that this is my first trip but it certainly seems to me that New Berne has a bright future as a trucking section.

Wishing you good luck,
I am yours truly,
B. T. HARGROVES.

A Card.

EDITOR JOURNAL—For the benefit of my friends, I would like to make a few Beam statements and to make some connections that are being erroneously circulated. Have a few so-called Democrats combined with the leaders of the Republican party to down democratic organization and to say that you can out vote us but we will take the law in our own hands and go behind the returns unlawfully and count you out?

Mr. Editor, as you are aware, I ran for the office of councilman last year, and Mr. Ellis beat me in the convention. I moved to make his nomination unanimous, as any good Democrat would do.

This year my friends said must run again for the same position, and Mr. Ellis came to me and said that he would not have the position again, that he wanted to be Mayor, and asked my support for the same. Notwithstanding this, in his reply to Mr. Lovick's card, he says that he had never requested Mr. Lovick, or any other person to vote for him for that office, and announced himself an independent for councilman before the convention had been called seeing that his announcement was calculated to damage him in the convention some of his friends came to me and asked me to consent to have no convention, and have an old before the war scrabble, but I would not consent. I insisted on a convention, but I believe that had it not been for the honest Democratic Committee of the other wards we never would have had any. We had a convention. A convention indeed! I will not attempt to describe it, for I would be ashamed for the outside world to know that we have such men living in the good old city of New Berne would ruin a convention as that was conducted. It is a shame and a disgrace on them!

Well, did Mr. Ellis get the nomination? No. I beat him the number of votes that he beat me last year.

Did he move to make my nomination unanimous? No. I have been reliably informed that a gentleman asked him if he did not intend doing so, and he replied, "No," he'd be d—d if he did. He cried out his intention signified in his card and ran as an independent.

The election day came and Messrs. Joe Nelson, Chas. Bell and R. P. Williams at all Ellis men, and Mr. Bell, a member of the city council held the election.

Every thing went on all right until near the middle of the day when I discovered among my tickets on the table a good number with the mark O.K. on the back and called too judges attention to them, and that some one had put up a job on me, and Mr. Bell remarked that he knew nothing about them, and said that if any of them had been voted they should be counted for me, and Mr. Williams said that Mr. Goutier voted one of them, and I asked him why he did not say something to him, and he said that was his business, but Mr. Williams, I understand, says that he did call Mr. Goutier's notice to the marked ticket and that I told him to vote it, that it was no device unless it was on the face. Notice Mr. Goutier's affidavit:

This is to certify that R. P. Williams never said anything to me when I voted, and that I got my ticket off the table where the voting was done.

"Sworn and subscribed to before me this 9th day of May, 1892."
"S. R. STREET, J. P."

So when the votes were counted it was found that there were twenty votes in the ballot box with O.K. on them. Mr. Ellis asked the judges to count them for me, and said that he would not have it if they threw them out. Two of the judges, Bell and Nelson, signed the certificate declaring me elected, and Mr. Williams entered his protest on the back of the certificate, and my lawyer told me that I was elected and there could be no further trouble about it, and a time was appointed for the regular Democratic caucus in the office of Mr. Sam. Street, the councilman elect from the third ward, and councilman elect Manly, from the second ward, met us there last Wednesday night for the purpose of deciding on officers for the ensuing year. But we could not agree as to the tax collector, so we adjourned to meet Thursday at 12 o'clock. Mr. Manly did not come as agreed upon, but came to see me Friday morning and said that he was voting with me for marshal with the understanding that I would not vote for Mr. S. H. Lane for tax collector. I desire to state that I never made any such agreement with Mr. Manly, but told him if he got the mayor and I the marshal, that I thought Mr. Street should have the privilege of naming the collector, it mattered not who it was, and I can't see how any fair-minded man could have seen otherwise. So Mr. Manly left us and went in the city board and took the law in his own hands to defeat me, and declared Mr. Ellis elected, made the ticket with Ellis, Crawford and Ebank, utterly ignoring Mr. Street, and desire to state right here that I told Mr. Street ask him that, if Ellis should be elected would he caucus with him, and Mr. Manly replied by saying that there was no need of asking such a question, that he was a Democrat, and he did not consider an independent a Democrat and would not caucus with him.

Why Mr. Manly should take the course he has to defeat Mr. Lane is more than I can see.

These are plain facts, Mr. Editor, and would never have been revealed by me if these so-called honorable men had not acted as they have.

Wishing to thank my friends for their kindness shown me in electing me Councilman of the first ward, and express my indignation against all who had a hand in stealing the office from me.

I remain yours respectfully,
J. J. BAXTER.
