Rev. H. T. Wilson will arrive on the mail train this afternoon and preach at the Church of Christ tonight. Mr. Wilson is pronounced one of the ablest men in the entire Disciple ministry.

Hon. F. M. Simmons will deliver the literary address at Bayboro Academy tomorrow, and at Trenton High School on Thursday the 23d inst. They can both count on something good.

There will be a social gathering tonight at the Yacht Club, commencing at 8:30, for the benefit of the club. An illumination will be one feature. The house and boats will be illuminated, and there will also be burning floats. Boat racing will be engaged in. Refreshments will be served. No charge for admission.

The Morehead City News notices two good platforms recently built at Morehead for the convenience of the people. One is in front of the New Berne House and the other at the Atlantic Hotel. It also tells about the sharpies of the place being submitted to vigorous applications of the paint brush and says: "Thus tastily decorated, how grandly they will appear gladly over the summer waves with a fair tide and before the wafting breeze! No wonder the sick and the hearty, gasping for breath in the interior, fly higher for safety and pleasure."

To show the propriety of the North Carolina Teachers Assembly and how rapidly it is growing in public favor we will state that at its meeting in Waynesville in 1891, it was only 395 strong while last in Morehead City there were 3246 active teachers and interested guests in attendance. The meeting this year is expected to greatly eclipse all former gatherings. To the enterprise and untiring efforts of its wide-awake Secretary, Mr. Eugene Harrell, of Raleigh, much of this increase in interest and efficiency is due. The programme this year has been prepared with great care and is calculated to furnish entertainment and profitable instruction to every one who attends.

Mr. Barnum once gave some good advice to business men concerning advertising, as follows: You do not, any of you, advertise enough. You ought to use printer's ink every day. You are asleep and want your business to run itself. A standing advertisement in a paper commands confidence. The man who for a year lives in a community and leads a reputable life, even though he be of moderate ability, will grow in the esteem and confidence of his fellows. On the same principle a newspaper advertisement becomes familiar in the eyes of the reader. It may seldom be read, still it makes the name and business of the man familiar and its presence in the columns of a newspaper inspires confidence in the stability of its enterprise.

The Yacht Club and its Commodore. The office of Commodore was created at a recent meeting of the Yacht Club. The power of such an office is the supervision of the boating department with established regulations as to the use of boats.

The Commodore has the right to the appointment of two associate officers, namely: Captain of Fleet, and Master of boats. He will also select the ensign style of boating suits.

Prof. Morton is the one elected to the important office of Commodore. He is deservedly popular, is zealous in behalf of the club's interest, and he possesses marked fitness for the position. With his knowledge of boating he is expected soon to systematize the chief objects of the club and facilitate its progress.

The Club is greatly improving its house and equipments, is increasing in usefulness and taking a firmer hold upon the attachment of its members and upon the esteem of the public.

A Correction—A Big Rush Yesterday. A cipher more than was needed caused quite a blunder about the load of the steamer Neuse in the beginning of the article published yesterday morning on "Truck Shipments." The article was written with the prime object of showing the tremendous shipment by rail Saturday—four heavy train loads, between 15,000 and 18,000 packages, which with those that went by steamer, made $50,000 worth for that day. The steamer shipments were given as incidental, showing amounts both for Saturday and Monday, but unfortunately we made one cipher two much in the figures giving the load of the steamer Neuse on Monday, and also instead of the shipment being credited to that day in the paper the date was accidentally set "Tuesday" instead of "Yesterday."

The right figures on the load of the Neuse, was of course 4,100 packages.

Yesterday was another tremendous shipping day. The steamers Trent, Kinston, Carolina, Howard, Nettie W., Laura, Vanceboro and L. H. Cutler were all busy plying up and down both Neuse and Trent rivers, bringing in load after load of potatoes, and wagons and carts were coming in a stream, bringing them in by land by every road.

The steamer Newberne left with a big load for the Northern markets, and a large quantity was on the wharf yesterday afternoon waiting for the Enola of the same line, which will leave today.

Two thousand packages or more were also in waiting at the E. C. D. wharf for the steamer Neuse today.

Some 15,000 packages, nearly all of them barrels of potatoes, went off over the A. & N. C. Railroad. There were 55 car loads—three separate trains—and at night there were four or five thousand barrels more waiting for shipment this morning.

Miss Parthena Hunter, of Stauntonburg, Va., who has been attending the New Berne Collegiate Institute, left on the steamer Newberne returning home.

Hon. O. C. Clark, vice-President of the Board of Directors of the State Penitentiary, returned last night from Raleigh where he has been attending a meeting of the Board.

Messrs. S. G. Roberts and S. R. Street returned from Raleigh where they have been on business.

Miss Lalla Roberts returned from a short trip to Raleigh.

Father Matthew Heu returned from a mission trip to several points.

Mr. C. R. Thomas went down to Beaufort on a business trip.

Mr. Julian S. Mann, in company with Dr. J. F. Mann of Hyde county, left for Beaufort to visit his brother, Dr. C. E. Mann.

Mrs. E. B. Cox and Miss Lucy Brinn went down to spend a few weeks at Morehead.

I. H. N.
A Tribute of Affection to Miss Nellie LaRoque.

"In the midst of life we are in death." With what force and sad reality does this truth fall upon our hearts, where in awe-stricken tones, it is whispered from one to another of our circle. "Nellie LaRoque is dead!" A short time ago, meeting with us in the full vigor of health and youth, with heart and hands ready for any work for the King, she now lies motionless and still, and the heart chilled by the icy touch of Death. But we know that the spirit is transferred to the land where she sees the "King in his beauty" one vision of whose face, more than compensates for any services rendered Him here. From the first of her association with us she manifested much interest in whatever our circle found to do, but recently there seems to have been a quickening of zeal and a greater eagerness to work "in His name." And from her Sunday School teacher, we learn that the same spirit was shown in her study of God's word, committing to memory and treasuring up many of its precious truths. Thus was she ripening for her home in the skies, where she now realizes the full blessing of those who put their trust in Him.

But while we mourn so deeply this, the first break in our earthly circle, and feel that we have lost one of our most loyal and true-hearted members, yet we rejoice in the assurance that our number is represented in Heaven, and that she is now at home in the palace of the King, wearing the crown of life promised to all His faithful ones.

Arrival of Mr. Reall.
Mr. J. H. Reall, one of the principal promoters of the N. W. and C. Railroad arrived last night in company with Capt. A. W. Styron of Washington.

Mr. Reall is here in the interest of the road. The money that citizens of New Berne are asked to subscribe towards the construction bonds of the road to secure the starting of the survey between this city and Washington has nearly all been subscribed and it is hoped that the remainder will be taken at once so that there may be no hindrance to the speedy progress of the work.

Mr. Reall and Capt. Styron drove a portion of the way and are pleased with the condition of the country. Mr. Reall has visited our city formerly. Having formerly been connected one year with a leading Agricultural Journal, he has travelled over a number of the States of different sections of the Union and written up the finest and most progressive farms they contain. Therefore an opinion of his on this line carries weight with it, and we are pleased to hear him pay so high a compliment to the enterprize firm of Hackburn & Willett as to say unhesitatingly that their combined stock and truck farm is the most practical farm in the United States.

Mr. Hower is still here also. We are extremely glad to have these gentlemen with us. The more they see of what we have and what we are doing the better we will like it.

We hope that in a few months more at farthest the work of constructing the railroad between New Berne and Washington will be in progress and that at so distant a day we may have the complete through line so earnestly desired by us all. Let every one stand ready to lend a helping hand towards the success of the matter who can.

North Carolina's Columbian Exhibit. Today the first bulletin to the people of the State, regarding making collections for the Chicago exhibit, was sent out. It calls for choice sheaves of grain of this year's crop; for minerals or crystals; for illustrations of the State's school interests, etc. There will be a map of the State, fourteen by eight, in which will be shown all the public school houses and all the private schools, colleges, etc., in North Carolina. To the forestry division of the State is assigned the task of preparing a monograph on the yellow pine and to also illustrate practically all the phases of development and all its relations to the industries. This will be the centrepiece of the great forestry display from this State. The lumbermen and woodworkers are asked to cooperate in making this particular exhibit. The names of many ladies are being secured who will furnish articles for the culinary department.—Rai. cor. Will. Messenger.

It is proposed for North Carolina to raise $10,000 to put up a building at the World's Fair. One great advantage of having such a building is that what North Carolina sends can be shown as the North Carolina exhibit. If the state should not erect such a building our exhibits would be so scattered and separated in the various departments as to destroy their distinctive feature as the North Carolina exhibit.

Wilmington and Raleigh have each agreed to contribute $1,000 each to the erection of the building and have nearly raised the money. Winston-Salem has also agreed to donate $1,000 and will fulfill the promise.

It is desired raise $500 in New Berne for the purpose and the ladies who have taken hold of the matter are very much in earnest about it.

They think that by general co-operation, each one contributing according to his means, this amount ought to be easily raised and no one feel a burden. They believe the following plan ought to be satisfactory and feasible. For 20 men to subscribe $5 each will make one hundred dollars towards the proposed sum; 50 men giving $3 each will make another hundred and 100 men giving $1 each will make a third hundred, then after this $300 is raised let women and children contribute as they can afford 10, 25, 50 cents &c., and as a finale to the efforts the committee of ladies propose to hold an entertainment in the fall to raise whatever may still be needed if the entire $500 is not secured by that time.

The ladies in discussing the canvass, selected the names of some of our citizens, who from their known progressiveness, local pride and interest in public affairs they count on for the necessary contribution of $5 each to raise the first hundred dollars. It is hoped they will not be subjected to disappointment as they are so zealous in the work. May their enthusiasm spread and make willing contributors of those whom they approach.

"Why is dust and ashes proud?" A reasonable pride should always be encouraged, at least have pride enough to dress as well as you can afford. And when your pride tells you need a new shirt or other things to complete your wardrobe do not fail to try Howard.

We have just received a new lot of Macraes Neglige Shirts with laundered Collars and Cuffs. New lot of Stanly Sashes, White, Black and Russett Canvases Shoes. They are Cheap and Comfortable. Children's White Canvases Hats.
