The German papers, while rejoicing at Blaine's defeat, hope that Cleveland will rid them of Harrison next November, but several of the leading German papers express regret at Blaine's defeat. The British newspapers generally rejoice over the defeat of Blaine for the Presidential nomination. Some of them are pretty harsh in their language toward him and Harrison and also in regard to the last Democratic administration.

We hope the State press will denounce the lynching in Stanly county. It was a white man of social standing who was hanged by the mob. It is not because of that we think it should be denounced. It is because it did not give him a chance he dying protesting his innocence, and taking the law in their own lawless hands. The unpeppable crime against women of virtue is the crime that will not await the slow process of courts.—Messenger.

L. L. POLK.
The Raleigh papers of Sunday last announced that Col. Polk's body would arrive there on the 1:30 p. m. train, and that the funeral would be held at four from the First Baptist church, Rev. Dr. Carter officiating.

The last sad rite is performed over him who was so dearly loved by thousands in the Old North State, and tens of thousands throughout the Union. Requiescat in pace.

L. L. Polk was a model young man. His gentle spirit and magnetic nature attracted the young and old and bound them to him with hooks of steel.
In early life he professed religion and joined the Baptist church. He soon became identified with the benevolent and evangelistic work of his denomination. Such was his hold upon his brethren that he became the President of the North Carolina Baptist Convention. This was an honor of which any layman might well be proud.

But, it was by his association with the Farmer's Alliance that his fame became national and his name a household word from the Lakes to the Gulf, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific. He was twice elected President of the National Farmer's Alliance, and was everywhere held in the highest respect by the members of the Order.

It has been said that Col. Polk was not a farmer and had no affiliation with agricultural interests and pursuits. It will not do to say that in Old Anson. Many a day, week, month and year he followed the plow, and whatever may have been the vicissitudes of his life, every fiber of his being was in sympathy with the plowman and his family. He felt their oppressions as a personal grievance and omitted nothing which in his judgment tended to lift the burden from their shoulders. Neither political criticism nor personal acrimony can disparage the work done for the farmers of the country by L. L. Polk.

Col. Polk was a Third party leader. We differed with him and regretted his defection from the faith of his fathers, but this is a free country and Heaven forbid that we should ever question any man's right to liberty of conscience, liberty of speech and liberty of action.

It is true, as has been often said that Col. Polk was ambitious. No one ever rose to his elevation without ambition. It is the spur of noble souls, no less than the whip that urges baser spirits to do or die. If it was inordinate in him it was a grievous fault and grievously he answered it.

Let no man malign him. Let him rest secure in the affections of his people. We do not blush to drop a tear at the grave of L. L. Polk.

THE defeat of Mr. Blaine is said to have been mainly due to his opposition to the Force bill. The negro delegates from the South are reported to have been especially bitter against the ex-Secretary when they fully understood his position on this favorite measure of theirs. They were out and out opposed to everybody who was opposed to the force bill, and this is why they rallied to the support of Mr. Harrison. They want the force bill passed and, knowing that Mr. Harrison was in accord with them, their allegiance to him could not be shaken, and he was nominated by the votes of the republican delegates from the South.—State Chronicle.

THE theory of the majesty of the law is undisputed; but the peculiar condition sets it aside, and lynching is excused even when none can justify it. It has been so for years past; it will be so for years to come and until some system of government shall be devised to restrain the brutes who assault women, there will be little practical resistance to the enforcement of lynch law where a helpless woman is to be avenged. This is not the common view of the question that is presented in the regulation of deliverances on the subject, but it is the truth, and it is a truth that all should look manfully in the face.—Phila. Times.

Headache and Dyspepsia.
William E. Rockwell, No. 513 West 57th Street, New York, says:
"I have been a martyr to bilious headache and dyspepsia. Any indigestion in diet, overfatigue or cold, brings on a fit of indigestion, followed by a headache lasting two or three days at a time. I think I must have tried over twenty different remedies, which were recommended as certain cures by loving friends, but it was no use. At last I thought I would take a simple course of purgation with BRANDRETH'S PILLS. For the first week I took two pills every night, then one pill for thirty nights; in that time I gained three pounds in weight, and never have had an ache or a pain since."
Disease in one part of the body will eventually fill the whole body with disease. Every year or two some part of the system grows weak and begins to decay. Such part should be removed at once, and new matter be allowed to take its place. There's no need of cutting it out with a surgeon's scalpel. Purge away the old, diseased and worn-out parts with BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

To be gentle and of a sweet spirit is to have an army of angels working for you.
