LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS
Truck train discontinued.
Lucas & Lewis—Hams, etc.

The Woman's Missionary Society of Centenary M. E. Church will meet this afternoon, 4.30 o'clock, at the parsonage.

Washington's first cotton bloom was on the 25th inst. New Berne's first, from the farm of Mr. Jos. L. Rhein, was just one day later.

Mr. Ed. Humphrey, or Big Ike, the irrepressible, bought out a $7,000 stock on Middle street yesterday. He will tell more about it later.

Commencing with today the regular freight train will again be the one to take out the truck, as the special-truck train No. 208—will be discontinued on and after today.

It is stated that an institute for the cure of drunkenness similar to the Keeley institute at Greensboro is to be established at an early day in Raleigh by Dr. Palmer recently of Greensboro.

The Grifton Lamp-light says: "The Methodist church will be finished by the 5th Sunday in July and dedicated at that time. The Methodists are looking forward to a grand time on this occasion."

Messrs. Simmons & Gibbs have opened in their office, South Front street, east of Jones' livery stables, which they have just had repainted and put in thorough good order for their occupancy.

The article which we publish this morning that brings out so many historical facts in reference to brick and brick machinery is by a native New Bernian, Mr. R. C. Gill, now in the model department of the patent office at Washington.

From the Elizabethtown City Economist Falcon we take the following item: "They say the fishing at Nags Head is superb. In fact the Blue Fish 'in the surf are making hook and lines a thing of the past. They run trout up on the beach. If they'd only scale and cook them wouldn't it be nice?"

An exchange gives the following note from a man who wrote to discontinue his subscription: "I do not think men order spend munny for papers my dad did and every body sed he was the late ligenst man in the kounty and had the smartest famaly of gurles and boyes that ever dug taters."

There was a public installation of officers of the Morehead and Beaufort Masonic Lodges at Beaufort, Wednesday afternoon. Judge H. A. Gudger, of Asheville, Grand Master of the State of North Carolina, made an address near an hour in length and interesting to all, on the benefits of Masonry and the good that accrues from it when carried out as it should be. Dinner was served to those in attendance, and ice cream and lemonade were in abundance.

A good number returned from Morehead yesterday morning but others passed through last night to join in the work of the assembly and to enjoy the cool sea breezes and the pleasures of the great Atlantic Hotel. Among those going through were Prof. H. M. Hamill, the distinguished Illinois Sunday-school worker who is to lecture and give Normal training lessons at the Assembly on Sunday-school work; Mr. R. E. White of Durham, Assistant State Organizer for the North Carolina Sunday-school Association also passed through to take part in the meeting; Mr. F. S. Blair, the main State Organizer is already at Morehead. There will be some good Sunday-school work put in tomorrow and Sunday.

The Wilmington Messenger has a special, telling of a horrible affair that occurred near Lumberton. A brutal white man named Frank G. Mears compelled his six-year-old son to walk home eight miles distant, where from exhaustion he went to sleep on the steps. Mears became angry at finding his wife sick in bed instead of cooking dinner and beat her and all the children with a piece of scantling, breaking the skull of one and threatening to kill them all. It is stated that the youngest will certainly die and that the others are unconscious or will be injured for life. Mears was arrested. It is thought that if his neighbors had got hold of him first he would have been lynched. He was suspected several years ago of having killed a negro.

King's Daughters.
The Circle of King's Daughters will open an Ice Cream Parlor, opposite the post office, every Tuesday and Friday, from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

"What Has Been Done Can Be Done Again."

We quoted a few days ago from the Kinston Free Press showing what had been accomplished by the Kinston Knitting mills and how favorably they were looked upon and appreciated by the people of Kinston for the employment they furnished, for the additional people it brought to the place and for the money that flowed in from the sale of its products, making it an additional argument for the establishment of manufacturing industries even if only in a small way at first.

We will now allude to one of our own new industries, the ice factory and the success that has attended it.

When the announcement was made public a little over a year ago that the factory was to be established, how lightly some of our citizens, timid in business ventures, spoke of the enterprise. "Make 8 tons of ice a day in New Berne!" they would exclaim, "what's the use of making it? they'll never sell it," but as our readers know, the plucky men who had taken hold—Messrs. Dunn, Reznstein, Ives, Pellister and Redmond were not daunted by any such discouraging prophecies, but pressed forward with energy and put in a plant of the size first proposed and from the start they found no trouble in disposing of the entire output. Nay, more, it was only a few months before it was seen that the trade required an enlargement and in was decided to add a twelve-ton plant—increasing the capacity to twenty tons per day, and still the factory's orders keep up with producing abilities. It is running on full time and selling all it makes as fast as it is ready for use. It supplies ice in every portion of the city and sends away from 9 to 12 car loads per week of from 10 to 20 tons each.

This shows what can be done when people start out with determination and exercise proper judgment. These gentlemen did so by selecting machinery possessing the most excellent and very latest improvements which enables them to make the purest ice at the least possible expense, thus placing themselves in a position of superior advantage in marketing their product.

What has been done by one company can be done by others. Branches of industry in the manufacturing line stand ready for development. Some of them are of a nature that suggest themselves to the mind more readily than would an ice factory and they could be entered with equal, if not even better prospects of solid success. Who will be the next capitalist or capitalist, to take hold of one of them with a resolution that will admit of nothing short of the full accomplishment of the purpose designed?

Coming and Going.
The following came up from Morehead yesterday morning: Mr. Alex. Miller and son Clarence, Messrs. W. R. Barrington, W. T. Lane, Percy Cox and Misses Jane and Rachel Brown. Also Miss Carrie Claypool, accompanied by Mrs. Julius Lewis, of Raleigh, who came up with her to visit Mrs. E. H. Claypool.

Mr. C. H. Foy, of Kinston, who has been visiting his brother Mr. C. E. Foy left for his home.

Mr. L. E. Duffy who has been in the city on a business trip left for his home at Dover.

Miss Carrie Arndell left to visit Miss Hortense Forbes, of Greenville.

Miss Laura Mace and Miss Chattie Hasteel came up from Beaufort to visit friends in the city.

Miss Nannie Street returned last night from a visit to friends in Trenton.

The following went down from New Berne to Morehead: Dr. Chas. Duffy, son-in-law of Catharine Lake, Onslow county, and his daughter, Mrs. A. A. Moseley, of South Carolina, who have been visiting relatives in the city; Dr. Frank Duffy, Messrs. C. R. Thomas, Jones Wahab and R. H. Jones, and Mrs. N. S. Richardson, Mrs. Jas. W. Eldie and Miss Lida Patterson.

Mr. N. Schultz returned from a business trip.

TEACHERS' ASSEMBLY.

The Grandest Day Yet—Music and Oratorical Contest—U. N. C. Glee Club Concert—Presentation of Medals—A Huge Turtle.

(SPECIAL JOURNAL CORRESPONDENT.)
EIGHTH DAY, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 29, '92.
This was the great day of the feast. The rain ceased with the advance of the morning, the wind stopped, apparently from exhaustion, and the tide receded far away from its usual limit, opening to view the broad, barren, pebbly beach. The sun shone, not in his full strength, but with a cheerful glow—more grateful than when from a cloudless sky it sends down its ferrent heat.

Devotional exercises were conducted by Dr. Currell of Davidson college.

Then came the election of officers. Under suspension of the rules J. J. Blair of Winston was elected President by acclamation.

Dr. B. F. Dixon of Greensboro, was in the same manner elected first Vice President, and Col. E. G. Harrell, Secretary and Treasurer.

At 11 o'clock the "Inter Collegiate Oratorical Contest," for the Assembly medal. The pieces to be original, not more than twenty minutes, with these points, articulation, emphasis, thought and manner—a possible two hundred.

The contestants chose two judges—Prof. E. A. Alderman of Greensboro and Mr. J. W. Maxton of Raleigh; the assembly elected two—Capt. C. B. Denon of Raleigh, and Mr. Alex. Graham, of Charlotte; and these four chose one at large—Dr. E. Alexander of Chapel Hill.

Eight contestants entered, viz: W. S. Single and G. H. Corneison, of Davidson college; John A. Wray and J. P. Spence of Wake Forest; (Mr. Spence was unable to reach Morehead City on account of the storm.) S. J. Durham, and J. H. Crowell, of Trinity; J. M. Cook, of Elon college, and George Wilson of Guilford college. The contest was spirited and splendid.

The Hall was packed with an appreciative and rather demonstrative audience. Wray came first, "Watchman what of the night?" Next, Crowell, "America the heritage of the ages;" then Cook, "Present Tendencies;" Wilson's theme was, "The modern era;" Single's subject, "Imperishable Monuments;" Durham spoke upon "The industrial condition of North Carolina;" and last, Corneison on "The ennobling influence of Literature."

The audience applauded as pleased them during the delivery of each piece, and without stint at its close. The popular award seemed to be to Durham, for the applause rose and swelled and continued and was renewed and repeated.

In the afternoon the "Instrumental Music Contest"—open to any school for girls in North Carolina—the prize a gold medal. Five judges were selected in different parts of the house—unknown even to each other—each to have regard to only one special feature. They were Miss Bessie Kridler of Salisbury, position and pedal; Miss Lena Hudgins of Greensboro, expression; Miss M. Whitaker of Enfield, also expression; Miss Lizzie Porter, Tarboro, fingering; and Miss Laura Peterson, Goldsboro, general effect. Each contestant to play two pieces, the first, one of her own selection, no matter how long known to her, nor how familiar; the second, one she had never seen before, to play on sight. The second piece not immediately to follow the first. The players, in this order, were Miss Carrie Claypool, New Berne; Miss Nannie Speight, Tarboro; Miss Ina Kinsey, LaGrange; Miss Lizzie Taylor, Durham; Miss Daisy Stevens, Henderson; Miss Blanche Murchison, Kinston. During the progress of the playing, Miss Carrie Petty Manly, (Oxford Female Seminary) sang a solo—"Una Voce Poco Fa," which delighted the audience, and was loudly encoored, and Miss Eva Kinsey, LaGrange, gave a splendid recitation—the "Chariot Race," from Ben Hur, and at the close, Miss Emma Simmons, Polkville, sang "The last rose of Summer." The Hall was nearly filled with an appreciative audience, a very large majority of whom were ladies.

Just after supper a party returning from a sail brought in a large sea turtle, or sea loggerhead. It was differently estimated to weigh all the way from two hundred and fifty to four hundred. The test of scales proved that 290 pounds was the weight. It measured 40 inches across the back, 62 inches from mouth to tail and the neck was 28 inches in circumference. When first seen it was in surf bathing—next, walking around the ball room—last, resting and fanning itself. We hope to discover superior qualities tomorrow. Dr. Wythe of Oxford, and two gentlemen from Greensboro, were the first to make its acquaintance and introduce it to society.

At night the "University Glee Club" gave a splendid entertainment. They are glorious fellows, fifteen strong, with Hunter Harris, who has the business in him, for leader—my! how a nice full dress suit does a young man up.

At the close of the concert, the judges in the oratorical contest reported. Durham had scored one hundred and eighty one points, and was awarded the medal. Senator Marion Butler made the presentation. Corneison scored one hundred and eighty and a quarter.

The award in the Musical contest was made to Miss Daisy Stevens of Henderson, and the presentation of the medal, with a pleasant, suitable address by Dr. Winston of Chapel Hill. And to ends the maddest, merriest day of the session—students day.

A TRUE STORY.

Said Baby Ruth, Cleveland to Baby McKee You will call up "Sally" River in March, '93.

When that happy event shall come to pass, Remember, to keep off the White House, I'm real sorry your nose will be out of joint.

Let's tell tales! I can cheer you with one that has point. For my papa told me, and he knows what he knows.

Once on a time—there lives in New Berne, A town that is booming, for each day you turn, They are building new railroad-roads and water works, Electric cars, aqueducts, and the alarm quills;

In this town lives a man, a "Tar Heel" by birth, And a wonderful thing, his name is WAST THE EARTH!

His name is Big Ike, he's "mos' respectable papa, Whew!" said Baby McKee, why Baby, what a whopper!

It isn't, said Ruth, for he keeps a big store, With goods cheap as people can't hear of before, The Farmers' Alliance make it their headquarters, And take with them home for their sons and their daughters, Such beautiful hats, boots, shoes, clothes and rings, Bracelets, ribbons, umbrellas, and would HEAPS of things.

Besides he has trade from all of the town Because of the fact that he keeps prices down.

Well, said Baby McKee, when I am a man, I shall be like Big Ike as he is now, So people can talk of the good that I do, And wear pretty things that I sell them.

Now, said Baby Ruth, as she sat by his side, And turned up her nose with a great pride, Great pride, Friday, July 1st, 1892, Baby Mae, tell the truth, I only ask that, Don't my tale beat your chestnut that "Great Grandpa's Hat"?
