THE young women are coming forward in the Southern Presbyterian Church, much so that a warning has to be given against it. The Assembly at its late session took action encouraging the formation of young people's societies, but did not, so one of their papers tells us, "express its inhibition of an undue conspicuousness of the young women in these societies." That this "undue conspicuousness" needs inhibiting is evident from the fact that this evil has already gone far. We are told, "that young ladies have been acting as leaders in such meetings in the presence of young men." This is pure paganism, and Diana and Minerva could not have acted worse in a session of the gods on Olympus.—Ex.

THE question of Fast Day in Massachusetts has taken the form of a message from Governor Russell, submitting for consideration a memorial suggesting a change of the day now observed as Fast Day, and the observing of Good Friday as a Church fast day independent of State authority; the general holiday recognized by the State to be changed to some other day in the spring. The memorial is signed by the presidents of Williams, Amherst, Smith and Wellesley Colleges, President Eliot, of Harvard, and Professor Smythe, of Andover Seminary, concurring in part. Among the signers were a number of leading Congregationalists, Unitarians, Baptists, Methodists and Episcopalians.

PERSONALITIES IN POLITICS. It is pleasing to observe the absence of offensive personalities thus far in the political campaign. Cleveland and Harrison personate their respective parties, and their nominations would have declared the issue of the campaign as plainly as they are set forth in the Minneapolis and Chicago platforms. This is because of their personal relation to the paramount issues before the country. Whatever may be the personal characteristics of Cleveland and Harrison they are overshadowed by questions of such momentous importance as to absorb the thought and command the attention of the nation.

Dana is noted for his invectives. His weapon of assault is personal vituperation. On Cleveland, in days gone by, he has exhausted the vocabulary of defamation and abuse; but, so conscious is he of the menace to public liberty in the Republican platform, he declares that he would support the devil himself in preference to respectable Benjamin Harrison with a force bill in his pocket. Both the leading candidates—Cleveland and Harrison—have been in public life so long, that nothing new is to be said of them personally. Whatever disparaging criticism may have been indulged in the past is buried in the dust of and racing years or is obscured by the prominence of high purposes, virtuous actions and honorable achievements. It is matter of public congratulation, that the present campaign, is to be conducted on a higher plain than many of the past, and reason, rather than prejudice is the empire to which questions in dispute are to be referred.

Unfortunately harsh words have been indulged in North Carolina, and our object today is to urge a larger degree of Christian charity towards those who for any reason have failed to bestow upon the Democratic party the plaudits of its most enthusiastic admirers. The farmers of North Carolina are born Democrats. They naturally gravitate toward the party of their fathers, but many of them have been led to distrust the fidelity of the party to their interest, and some of them have been induced to contemplate an abandonment of the old landmarks, but they are not the men to seek self-interest to the detriment of the country.

They know the meaning of the Force bill and understand that its defeat must be through the agency of the Democratic party. Firm in their allegiance to the right, they nail their colors to the mast. Welcome, co-laborers in the cause of liberty and right! No third party has been able to seduce you, you will find relief and support in the great party of reform: the party of Jefferson and Jackson; Cleveland, Stevenson and Carr!

On the dizzy heights of the Himalayas in Tibet there is a little Moravian mission station at Leh, in Ladak, which is 11,000 feet above the level of the sea. For thirty-five years these dauntless missionaries have been laboring without encouragement and hoping against hope to bring the stolid Thibetans from their Buddhist religion into the folds of Christianity. At one time almost the whole personnel of the station was swept away by a devastating fever. In these long years, more than a generation, only forty of the Buddhists have consented to become converts, but, on the other hand, the personal and social influence of the isolated little band of Christians is of the strongest and best. The people restore them to an almost filial degree.
