Private Telephone.

The Union telephone, which Mr. Walter Bellard is introducing in the city, is highly spoken of. It works without a battery, and the alarm bell works with a magnet. It is very simple in construction-so simple that there is no danger of its getting out of order except by something falling on the wires and breaking it down, or some similar accident. It is very distinct and is guaranteed to work better than any other telephone in the market at a distance of two miles.

The wood-work is of cherry, ash, oak or walnut, as the purchaser desires, and the metal-work is all nickel-plated, and they are made in different styles so that the wires can pass directly through the Head, and it is stated that they will wall of the room where the telephone is located or go first to rooms above.

The telephones are sold outright instead of being rented or having the use charged for. They can be put up by any mechanic who has once been shown how, and upon removal of the owner can be transferred from one position to another.

How the Rain Did Wilmington.

Wednesday afternoon's rain was much severe in Wilmington than in New Berne. Washouts occuared there and damage to the amount of $200 was done. It was terrific for an hour and was accompanied by loud thunder and lightning. The messenger says the streets run like rivers and adds in addition

The low place along which Jacobs Run flows from Third street to the northeast corner of Market and Second was a perfeet deep in water. On Third etreet, midway between Princess and Market, there is a wall about fifteen; feet high, reaching from ehe pavement to the lot below, and the water poured over the wall, making a perfect Niagara. In a few-minutes the yard below was covered with water about three feet deep and a colored woman, who lives tin a house in the low place, was so alarmed that her cries were heard a couple of blocks away. The streets up in the business part of the city were rushing streams and several merchants had chickens drowned before they could remove the [coops from the sidewalks. Many chickens on private premises were also drowned. The weather bureau reports the rainfall here as 2.10 inches, and strange to say there was very little rain north of Rocky Point, and very little a few miles south and west of the city. The Rainy Spell.

The excessive rainfall in the United States during June and July recalls the following remarks about what kind of weather they have in Japan.

An English "globe-trotter" declares, probably with injustice, that Japan "has weather, but no climate," and that the weather is most uncommonly bad.
