TRAVELLER'S NOTES.

Around Statesville and Amid the Mountains and Springs.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July, 23d, 1882.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—I stopped in Statesville for a day and night, and walked over much of the town. It is a beautiful place. The streets are 100 feet wide, and are very finely shaded, with several varieties of trees, some of them are of large size, and judging from their appearance were venerable patriarchs of the forest. The dwellings on several of the streets, stand equidistant from the side walks, and generally in the centre of large lots, surrounded with shrubbery, and flowers, (mostly exotics) of brilliant hues, and are built in the latest and most approved styles. The public buildings present a good appearance. The stores are of large size and are well filled with merchandise. The merchants appear to be busy; the streets present a very lively appearance. Upon the whole it is a bustling "get up" place.

The industries are many. The largest botanical depot in the world is there; and the shipments of all kind of medicinal plants are large.

In the neighborhood of the town, distant four miles, are several fine springs. One of them is called the "Poison spring" and it was for a long time thought that the spring was arsenical, but the strictest chemical analysis has never yet found the slightest trace of arsenic. The opinion of it being poisonous arose from the fact that cattle always avoided drinking it. It can be drunk in small quantities, and is producing no other effect than a strange sensation in the head. The chemical analysis "developed several varieties of mineral matter, the chief of which was barium salts, and from this property the place has since taken its name." The use of it is fast increasing. Its curative properties are great; it has been used with great success "for virulent growths pronounced cancerous."

The scenery around Statesville interested me very much, it is to my eye, exceedingly beautiful, the country is rolling, and in every direction there are long vistas of lovely valleys, embowered in shade, and swelling heights, clothed with magnificent oaks, tall stately pines, majestic elms and the funeral cedar.

I was told, that from the tops of the dwelling could be seen Pilot mountain, the Brushy mountains, and Kings mountain in South Carolina, the famous battle ground of the revolution where the British and Tories under Major Ferguson were defeated, and where the gallant Ferguson lost his life.

It is a safe prediction to say that Statesville will, in the near future, become a great place of resort for visitors seeking health and recreation, with its fine mineral springs, its beautiful scenery, all that is required to bring about this much desired result is Printers' Ink.

Why Business is Retarded in the South.

The central idea of Mr. Herbert's speech, at a recent meeting of the Boston Bank Presidents' Association, was to point out the causes which retarded business in the South, and we refer to the speech again in order to keep the idea before the public.

It is evident that the industry of the Southern people will continue to prove unavailing against the financial policy which now regulates the business of the country. No people have been more industrious and no people have had their industry so little rewarded.

Mr. Herbert says that one-third of all the money in the country goes each year into the Federal treasury. Now if the government was administered so that a fair proportion of this money returned to the sections from which it was collected for circulation again, the drainage would only prove temporary. But such is not the case, though under a fair administration it would be, and this is one of the South.

The figures show that in 1882 the government collected and spent $450,000,000, and of this amount $135,000,000 were collected from the South. Now under the financial policy which has been inaugurated and maintained by the Republican party only a very small proportion of this $35,000,000 goes back to the South. The South is drained of such a vast sum to increase the amount of money for circulation in the North and West.

No wonder that the Southern people when growing poorer in face of their unsurpassed industry, should inquire into the reason, and demand to know it. The fact stated above is one reason, and a most important reason too. The Southern people may always expect business to be retarded in their section so long as the financial policy of the government is influenced by the Republican party. There is no escape from such a dead weight on Southern industry until the Republican party is driven from power.

Within the last twenty-eight years, says Mr. Herbert, the tax-gatherer has gathered in the South for the Federal treasury the sum of $1400,000,000. This amount stands for the contribution of the South towards the support of the government, and no sooner has it from year to year, reached the treasury than it is paid out never to return to the section from which collected. One fact will impress the force and correctness of what we have written. It is that every dollar of this large sum which the South contributed to the support of the government, during the last twenty-eight years, has been drawn from the treasury to pay pensions—sent to the North and West to pension soldiers who fought us or were in some way connected with the Federal army.

A people thus bearing an undue share of the burdens and receiving little of the benefits of taxation cannot expect to prosper. Can they vote for a political party which has imposed undue burdens?

Health in Old Age.

Edward Collison, Queens, N. Y., says: "I commenced using BRANDRETH'S PILLS over fifty-five years ago. I first bought them in London, and have continued using them since I came to this country in 1836. I am now over seventy-five years old, hale and hearty, and attribute my wonderful health to the persistent use of BRANDRETH'S PILLS. Occasionally I have a bad cold or severe attack of rheumatism, indigestion or biliousness, but four or five doses of BRANDRETH'S PILLS always cure me. When ever my children have bed sick with scarlet fever, measles, acid stomach, disordered digestion or constiveness, a few doses of BRANDRETH'S PILLS restored their health at once."

You can't teach an old dog new tricks—you're mighty lucky if you can make him forget some of his old ones.—Westfield Leader.

Opening the Canal.

The most acceptable proposition that can be made to persons troubled with chronic constipation, is to open that important canal—the bowels. That proposition can be carried out by the parties interested if they resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most effective, most genial alternative extant. It is the mistake of many otherwise sensible people, that they resort to drastic, or, in other words, violent purgatives. Without exaggeration, this is highly injurious, since such medicaments weaken the bowels besides convulsing both them and the stomach with pain. Relief sought from the Bitters comes freely enough, but they never produce pain, excessive action, or subsequent weakness of the bowels. Liver and kidney trouble, malaria, dyspepsia, lack of stamina and a tendency to rheumatism, are remedied by this pleasant substitute for drugging cathartics.

Dar's nobody so po' dat dey can't go toe de circus.

The Population of New Bern is about nine thousand, and we would say at least one-half are troubled with some affection on the Throat and Lungs, as those complaints are, according to statistics, more numerous than others. We would advise all our readers not to neglect the opportunity to call on their druggist and get a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs. Trial size free. Large bottle 50c. and $1. Sold by all druggists.

BIG IKE'S

COLUMN.

KEEPING EVERLASTING AT IT BRINGS SUCCESS.

Advertising is the key note to success. The most successful merchant in the whole county will tell you so. There is no merchant in the town of New Bern who can afford to put as many dollars in advertising as Big Ike, because he sells thereabouts and trusts no living man.

By selling for Cash enables me to put five times as much in advertising as the credit man does, hence the people need not think Big Ike is investing all his profits in advertising.

Will soon be time for the Colored people to have their Fair. Remember Big Ike will give the person who trades the largest amount with him a Five Dollar Bill (during the week). The customer who trades the next largest amount during Fair week will get a prize of Three Dollars, next largest Two Dollars: So you see Big Ike will give Ten Dollars during Fair week in solid cash.

I fear very few colored people read the JOURNAL. To my white friends who peruse Big Ike's two columns I trust they will inform their colored friends of the great laid up in store at Big Ike's during Fair week which will be Aug. 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12, '92.

To every reader of the JOURNAL, you can save your subscription if you trade the amount of Ten Dollars with Big Ike during the year, hence the JOURNAL cost you nothing.

Do not your wife and children often ask you the question when you return home from New Bern, Did you see Big Ike? Don't your children often say let me go to town with you; I want to see Big Ike.

Any person who is not really able to subscribe to the New Bern JOURNAL, that desires to read Big Ike's ads, can send him their names and Big Ike will send them THE WEEKLY JOURNAL for six months free of charge. This offer stands good for thirty days.

Not the fire bell, but Big Ike's Auction Bell. When he opens his auction sales on 8th of August and exclaim to the people in mighty thundering tones.

Thirty days means thirty years.
And thirty years means never—
Save your wife and children tears.
By paying cash forever.

I have the largest Stock of Clothing in the City of New Bern bought at 50, & 55c on the dollar of New York Opt. Ask yourself the question, It is not to my interest to examine Big Ike's stock before I buy.

If it my desire to reduce my two stocks so I can conduct the two in one building. I prefer having an eye over my business, so you can go some bargains by looking over my stock.
