THE great heat has again brought in prominence a fact which is always observable in these severe spells, namely, that sun-stroke is far more common in the Northern cities than in the Southern. All of the leading Northern papers of recent date contain long lists of fatal cases from his source.

THE Republican State Executive committee met in Raleigh Thursday, all members, save two, being present, and by a vote of 14 to 1 instructed the chairman to issue a call for a State convention to be held in Raleigh September 7th. Chairman Eaves is confident that the Convention will put a full State ticket in the field.

LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.
Howard.
E. D. Bangert—Watch and jeweler shop.

The cold wave predicted is overdue. Perhaps it got warmed up before reaching here.

The showers yesterday afternoon were quite welcome after the heated spell. They came according to the forecast of the weather bureau, though there were not the slightest signs of them until after the middle of the day.

Mr. Arthur Rice was arrested for suspicion of having committed the robbery Sunday night at Mr. Biggs Gaskins near Vanceboro. It was intended to hold a preliminary examination Friday, but he took leg bail and left the constable behind and his whereabouts are not known.

Would it not be a good plan for the hands as they work the streets to make a slight grade to the sidewalks and put down a good curbing at the edge? The slope would cause the water to run off immediately during rains and the curbing would add durability to the work performed. Thoroughness generally pays well in the long run.

Coming and Going.
Rev. Jas. Thomas, who has been spending some time with his relatives in the city, left yesterday morning to resume his ministerial work at Rocky Mount.

Mr. E. H. Henderson, who has been spending a few days in the city, left for his home near Kingston.

The following parties who have been spending some time at the Atlantic Hotel passed through en route to their homes: Mr. and Mrs. Ed Chambers; Smith, of Raleigh; Miss Bertie Burwell, of Charlotte; Mr. Nixon of Augusta, Ga.; Mr. J. C. Jones, of Selma, Ala., and Lieut. Lucas of the U. S. Army.

Capt. Dave Strayon and wife have returned from their visit to Ocracoke.

Mr. C. R. Thomas and family left last night to visit relatives at Beaufort.

The following parties went down last night to spend some time at Morehead: Mr. W. B. Boyd and family, Mr. J. W. Stewart and family, Miss Carrie Mayhew and her nephew Master Lynn Hudson, Mr. Wm. Sultan and wife and Mr. M. Blumgardt.

Mrs. W. S. Herbert, of Kinston, passed through en route to visit relatives, accompanied by her sister, Miss Gertrude Dill of Morehead, who has been visiting her, returning home.

Rev. John Gibble came up from Beaufort and will conduct the services in the Episcopal church tomorrow.

THE COLORED FAIR.

Next Week the Time-Season Tickets on Sale.

One week from tomorrow the New Berne Colored Fair will open. It will last five days. The two annual exhibitions already held have possessed decided merit and neither of them was worked for harder or more widely than the coming one has been. The time is so short that every exhibitor should be seeing that what he intends having at the fair is all in readiness. It will be opened by Mayor Manly and Hon. F. M. Simmons. Rev. J. C. Price and Congressman Cheatham will be the orators of the occasion.

The manager desires and request all trade associations, societies and fire companies to join in the parade. On the first day all such organizations will be admitted free. The procession will form in front of the court house at 9:30 o'clock, Monday August 9th.

Season tickets for the Fair are now on sale. They can be procured at the New Berne Drug Company's store or from the Secretary of the Fair at the Custom house. The price is $1.00.

The leaders of the Fair wish to get our merchants and business men generally to aid the Fair by the purchase of season tickets, considering that the Fair is a great help to them and the community.

Brilliant German at the Atlantic.
A correspondent at Morehead writes us as follows:
Never in the history of this popular resort has a more brilliant and beautiful Favor German been given, than was given last night by the clever and courteous manager, Mr. Jno. O. Plank, and his estimable lady, complimentary to the guests of the Atlantic. The favors were costly and beautiful. Champagne, punch, ices, fruits, confectioneries and cakes were served in cafe, which was elaborately decorated with flowers and flags.

Too much credit cannot be given to Mr. H. P. Hill, steward, late of Palmer House, Chicago, for the elegant "spread" which was one of the events of the evening long to be remembered.

Mr. J. W. Cooper, of Philadelphia, a very clever gentleman and an accomplished dancer, led in his usual graceful manner. The figures introduced were new and very much admired, and in keeping with the surroundings.

The ladies were elegantly gowned and adorned with precious stones in abundance. To make individual mention of the elaborate costumes worn by the ladies would be beyond my descriptive powers.

The music closed with the beautiful strains of "Home, Sweet Home," and every one seemed perfectly delighted.

At Morehead on the Tenth.
The big mass meeting of business men of the State which will be held at Morehead City on the 10th of August grows apace. Advice from Salisbury, Fayetteville and Wilmington are to the effect that the business interests of those towns will be represented, and it is understood that the families of many of the solid men of the State will accompany them on this pleasant jaunt. Besides practical addresses mentioned in the original call for this meeting, subjects of interest will be discussed by representative men. Hon. W. H. S. Burgwyn, of Henderson, has consented to deliver an address on "Banks and Banking in North Carolina," and Dr. R. H. Lewis, of Raleigh, owner of one of the finest dairy farms in the State, will deliver an address on "The Best Cow for North Carolina." There will be other addresses of interest, and this meeting will characterize the biggest time at Morehead for this season.—News & Observer.

THE SILVER QUESTION.
All sing a song of hard times.
Of pockets empty, too;
Of hustling round for money
And scolding 'round so blue—
Because you act so foolishly
And buy your goods so rash—
Not looking to your interest
But wasting your good cash.

You know right well a dollar
Can take care of itself,
It is the little penny
You must lay by on the shelf—
Buy the would teach a lesson
That will not cost you dear—
Trade with him—watch the silver
You can save up in a year.—EJ

No use to name his bargains,
He tells you every day;
Go to his store to find out,
And see the easy way
He sells his hats, boots, shoes and clothes,
Best goods of every sort
His bargain sales have now become
A popular resort.

Don't fret because the Senate
Defeats the "Silver Bill";
The silver that most interests you,
Is that, your pockets fill—
Buy the will help you do it.
It's like him you can save
And flourish in the land of free—
And home of all the brave.

WELCOME TO THE EDITORS AT CHARLOTTE.

(A poem by Miss Lisette Clayton Hood read by W. F. Marshall of the Gastonia Gazette at the Press Convention.)
Welcome! Welcome! Quill men bold—
Minds of steel, and hearts of gold—
Welcome now to one and all,
Gathered here at Duty's call.

From the mountains, wild and grand,
To the surging ocean's strand
From hills and rolling plains,
Towns where peaceful quiet reigns—
From the city's rush and din—
Striving fame and wealth to win—
From each "Auburn of the vale,"
Nestling village, quiet dale,
From "all roads that lead to Rome,"
Leaving business cares and home,
Here has met each staunch "Tar-head,"
Working for our North State's weal.

Come and view that North State's pride,
Gem and Queen all towns beside,
Famed in history—story—song,
Charlotte, fair, to whom belong.

Honors that no other spot
E'er can claim; for she begot
Sons who first the galling yoke
Of the "Mother Country" broke.

Critics, jealous of her fame,
Or have sought to rob her name
Of the glory of that day,
Long years gone, in "merry May."

But all nations, states, and tongues
Grant that fame to her belongs;
Mecklenburg now bids you see
Cradle here of liberty.

View our busy marts of trade,
Railroad centres that have made
Charlotte now the sign and name
Of wealth, and pluck, and business fame.

View her factories, presses, mills,
Fertile lands the farmer tills,
Where the fleecy staple yet
Gathers in the broker's net.

See her broad streets, stately homes,
Stretching far as eye can roam;
Cares of lightning, horses, fleet,
Bid at Latta Park to meet.

Courteous men and maidens fair,
Welcome to extend you here,
Beauty's smiles are all for you,
Gallant editors and true.

So thrice welcome Charlotte bids
To these men of noble deeds—
Men whose pens of living fire
In the cause of truth ne'er tire.

Hospitable doors are open,
And our best and highest hope
Is that Knight of Quill and Pen,
Soon may visit us again.

CHARLOTTE'S PROGRESS AND ITS CAUSES.

Extract from the Address of J. L. Chambers, President of the Chamber of Commerce, Before the Press Association.

"The old South and new South meet and react on one another. I call upon the press of North Carolina to testify if there is a happier combination, whether found in Charlotte or elsewhere. While striving with the pressing demands of the day we are reminded of the splendid traditions of the past, if disposed to linger with and rely upon these we are soon crowded out of the contest. The spirit of greed which marks the present age is checked by the memory of higher aims, while the spirit of domination, which was a tendency of a past era, is forced to respect intelligence and skill in the professions and in the mechanical arts. I trust we have not grown at the expense of our morals or our manners. I am sure we do not rely upon our history or our birth for public recognition or favor.

The natural outgrowth of such a combination of elements in one community is that its people should make for themselves comfortable homes and surround themselves with those things which contribute to health and individual growth and development, and herein lies our second claim for recognition. The best hope of any town or people is to be found in the confidence of its people. We claim a larger holding of real estate by our own people than any town which has begun to show signs of growth and less investment elsewhere.

The best evidence of a spirit of legitimate enterprise is the actual investment in industrial plants and local improvements.

We claim that without question there are a larger number of industrial stores and manufacturing enterprises in Charlotte than in any Southern town whose manufacturing interests are twice as great.

The best growth is a steady and reliable growth. Our tax books show an increase in real and personal property of $405,777 in 1890 and an increase of $500,412 in 1891—something over $1,000,000 in two years. The last annual report of the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce shows a court record of nine corporations organized in 1891 for purposes of development of our local resources with a capital stock of $850,000. I can count on my fingers, ends two-thirds of that amount for the present year which is scarcely half gone.

Within the past thirty days, when the condition of the South has been repro-duced in manufacturing enterprises in Charlotte than in any Southern town whose manufacturing interests are twice as great.

A feature of the manufacturing interests which is to be regarded with especial satisfaction is that it is not confined to any one article. Of thirty-nine institutions employing power and hiring labor of one or less skilled trades are twenty different kinds. Twelve years ago we had three in all and two in kind. One hundred and fifty people were then employed, while the number now reaches beyond or is rapidly approximating 3,000.

A glance at the map will show a star which radiates five prongs with regularity to the distance between them which looks like design. These are the five Charlotte factories of trade. With Charlotte as a centre and a radius of twenty-five miles, the circle will include as thoroughly and as intelligently cultivated an agricultural district as is to be found in either of the Carolinas and one perhaps, as thickly populated. But this is not all. Within this circle are to be found eighteen towns with an average population of over 1,000 people, not including Charlotte, and of manufacturing enterprises that of cotton factories alone is represented to the extent of thirty-two, covering an investment which, certainly cannot be less than a three and one-half million dollars. Ten years ago, three of these perhaps were in operation. Every one of these towns; all of these factories are within an hour's ride. Access to these and to the great centres of trade is afforded by twelve passenger trains which leave our stations every twenty-four hours, the same number arriving. Four trains leave for New York every twenty-four hours, and a night riding brings us in sight of the dome of the national capital, carries us out of sight of land on the Atlantic ocean, or through and beyond the mists of the Blue Ridge mountains.
