The Boanoke Herald voices the sentiment of the people when it says:

For years this writer has been convinced that the public roads afforded the only field where the convict could benefit the community and do injury to no one. Even when employed in building railroads the convicts crowd out honest labor desirous of employment, but work on the public highways is a beta nois, shunned and disliked by all, and here the convict can perform labor which will add millions to the value of real estate and aid largely in attracting the capital and immigration needed to develop our won-

North Carolina Cotton Factory News.

We recently gave quiten list of new cotton mill enterprises in this and other States. From the last issue of the Tradesman we take the following additional items in reference to North Carolina textile mills

The Florence cotton mills, at Forest City, N. C., will be enlarged. The knitting mill at Gray's Chapel, N. 2., has begun operations and bids fair to become a successful cuterprise. R. L. & J. H. Holt, Jr., of Burlington N. C., have placed an order for 832 spindles to be put in their cotton mill at that

> The Charlottesvile Woolen Mills, Charlottesville, Va., are about to add five more Knowles looms to their equipment, making thirty in all. They run 2,100 spindles and will probably increase their number at the same time.

A new cotton yarn spinning mill is to be creeted at Charlotte, N.C., with a capacity of 10,000 spindles. Fine yarns only will be made. The plant will be completed about January 1. The Atherton Mills have been chartered at Charlotte, N. C. This will make the seventh cotton mill for that town. The company desire to start with a capital of $60,000, and of that amount about $51,-000 have been subscribed. The plant will manufacture bed ticking. E. C. Holt, of the Elmira Cotton Mills, Burlington, N. C., visited Chattanooga recently, it is said, with a view to erect ing a large cotton mill here. Mr. Holt i part owner of thirteen cotton mills in North Carolina and is one the largest cot ton manufacturers in the South

Startling Pension Figures.

2 An exchange figures out as follows the cost of Federal pensions to North Carolina and the average cost to families and "The pension system of the United States already costs the people about 150 65,000,000 people (even numbers) this is a fraction over $2.30 tax per capita for every man, woman and child. For an average family of five this amounts to $11.50 a year.

The population of North Carolina

(census 1890) is 1,618,917, and multiplying the population by $2.30 per head gives the amount paid by North Carolina support this mammoth pension system as $4,125,764.85. Over four million dolars per year paid by the people of North Carolina to pensioners is a constant and increasing drain upon the people." The last census gave New Berne

7,843 inhabitants, Multiplying this number by the average cost per head gives $18,038.90 as New Berne's pro portion of the pension burden. Carrying the calculation on to the county which has 20,533 population we find that its share would be $47,225,90 an amount almost equal to its entire State and county taxes combined.
