At night when you look back over the events of the day, ask your own conscience, "How far have I and avoided to serve God today?" And if you have forgotten Him, if He has not been in all your thoughts, then ask His forgiveness and grace that tomorrow may not witness the same sin.

THE armor which God provides for us we ought to put on. We need to study, to pray, to worship; we need home influence, church influence, to fit us for the fighting, which we cannot shirk if we would like to. However strong we feel in the Lord, we are not strong enough to meet our enemies with anything less than a full suit of spiritual armor, and the approved weapon which God proffers us.

IF the Third party managers propose to hoodwink the public into thinking that they are reformers only and are not seekers after office and its emoluments, they should not have Radical wire-pullers openly manipulating the action of the convention in making up its State ticket. The public will not be deceived. The Third party is a Trojan horse which will betray the Democratic party and let the enemy into the battlements that guard the safety of our Commonwealth.—News and Observer.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

T. Daniels—Stock for sale. Big Ike—The Fourth Party, etc. Miss Mollie Heath—School opening. Mrs. A. T. Jenkins—School opening.

The Tabernacle on Sugar Hill is nearly completed, and services will be held there at 5.15 p.m., and everybody is invited to attend.

Mrs. N. F. Nunn's residence is receiving a thorough repainting. The work is nearly finished and it improves the appearance of the property considerably.

In the list of the winning horses at the Raleigh races we failed to mention Mr. J. W. Stewart's black stallion Adrian. He won third money in a race against eight others.

At Raleigh, the board of aldermen have appropriated $2,000 to be used October next in celebrating Raleigh's centennial. The management is in the hands of a committee of sixty gentlemen and twenty ladies, all prominent in business or society. Great public interest is taken in the success of the occasion.

Prof. C. H. James has just closed his summer school at Beaufort. The closing exercises were held Thursday and Friday. He passed through yesterday morning accompanied by his family to spend some time in rest at Greenville, Pitt county.

Mr. C. F. Bland, one of his assistants also passed through en route to his home in Pitt county.

It has been decided to run a Democratic campaign paper in this city. It will be published by the Craven County Cleveland and Carr Campaign Club and will present the true issues in their proper shape and put in sharp blows for the Democracy. It is to be a 7-column weekly paper. It will be edited by Gen. C. A. Battle.

Another delivery wagon was on the street yesterday for the first time. It is that of Churchill & Parker, grocers. Their increasing trade makes this step necessary. The wagon is a handsome and substantial one, and is a New Berne production, having been built for these gentlemen by Messrs. G. H. Waters & Son.

The excellent sidewalk on Craven St. below South Front which the property owners along that block have been building is finished and is a wonderful help to the appearance of things in that locality, so much that it ought to encourage others to do likewise. Now, when a stranger enters the city by steamer and first finds so good a sidewalk when he comes ashore his first impression of the place are bound to be much more agreeable and favorable than otherwise would have been. We hope to see many such improvements consummated.

Have You Any Conscience?

This question is propounded to the delinquent subscriber who has the boldness and effrontery to refuse to take his paper from the office without even writing or notifying the publisher in any way about his indebtedness. Is it right, is it manly, is it honest?

In answer to the question we will only ask such an person to give the matter serious consideration for only three minutes each day for six days in succession and if they can come out with a perfectly clear conscience at the end of that time and so inform us, we will cancel all indebtedness for his subscription and give a receipt in full.

There are those who are so poor as to be unable to pay their debts, but none, not even the beggar, who should be so void of principle as to show no disposition to pay that which he is due his fellow man.

Sunday School Conference.

The Sunday School Conference closed yesterday. There were several good addresses on the subjects announced in the programme. The same officers were re-elected.

The time of holding the meeting was changed to the first day before the church district conference and which makes one gathering do for all, and as that conference devotes one day to Sunday School work, the combining of the two will give the usual length of time to the Sunday School Conference, and as the District Conference meets next time at the Straits this change necessarily decided that as the place of meeting for the next Sunday School Conference also.

Permanently Located.

Mr. T. J. Baxter, the new jeweler, who occupies a portion of Mr. L. S. Wood's store, has been receiving repeated additions to his stock until he is now making an elegant appearance as every person who glances in the window can readily see. Mr. Baxter got his sign up yesterday, and it is one of the handsomest in the city. An American eagle on a globe with wings expanded, holding a watch in his beak except the faces of the watch, which besides the hands and figures bear the name of the proprietor.

Mr. Baxter has further identified himself with New Berne by purchasing from Mr. L. S. Wood a home for himself in our midst, it being the house and lot adjoining Mr. Wood's residence.

Why Divide?

The following ringing words were uttered by the chairman of the late Georgia State Democratic Convention in his opening address. They are as sound as they are eloquent. We commend them to all who have been inclined to listen to the suggestions of those who would stir up dissensions and bring strife and division into the Democratic family circle.

"Divide, and divide for what? To turn back the tide of progress and send into factions the peace and prosperity of a happy people, and bring upon us the dire calamities that discord must bring to every people who submit to its reign? No, never! There is a secret curse and special bolt hidden in the heavens that will blast any man who seeks to divide us, and who, to gratify personal ambitions, is willing to build his personal fortunes on his country's ruin. (Applause.) Say what you will of the important issues of this campaign. But to you, my countrymen, to us Georgia, the most important thing is to keep Georgia where her intelligence, her virtue, and her honor can control her affairs and guide her to the manifest destiny that awaits our mother State."

Revival at Wheat Swamp.

There has been quite a large and successful revival at Wheat Swamp church in this county. The meeting began on the first Sunday and closed last Friday night, lasting six days. Rev. J. L. Winfield, editor of the Watch Tower, did the preaching. The singing was led by Prof. Robt. Powell, who is quite an expert in vocal music. Rev. S. W. Samrell, pastor of the church, rendered good service. There were thirty additions to the church.—Free Press.

THE POTATO IN MANUFACTURES.

It Will Give More Starch to the Ace Than Any Other Product Grown—The Making of Farine or Potato Flour and Starch.

The large supply of potatoes left on the farmer's hands this season after the price fell beyond the point at which it was profitable to ship them caused several papers to suggest the idea of a starch factory, and inquiries in regard to it were made. A back report of the United States Department of Agriculture has an article on the subject by A. S. McEae, Toronto, Canada, in which he remarks on the singularly small attention paid to the manufacture of potato flour or farine in the United States when a trale to the extent of perhaps millions of pounds sterling per annum is carried on in Europe, Scotland, Germany, Belgium, France, etc.

"The first cost of potatoes is the permanent foundation of success, and whatever county can produce them the most economically must ever have the best chance in the profitable manufacture of farine. The immense extent of territory, the variable yet suitable climates, the accessible water power, and above all, unequalled mechanical resources render the United States a favorable field for agricultural products, among which the conversion of potatoes into potato flour is one of special promise and importance.

"Farine is used for many purposes. Its most important use is the manufacture of starch, in the production of which it competes with wheat, Indian corn, sacro and other farmaceous substances. It is also used in calico printing, for sizing and for the manufacture of artificial gums, varnishes, grape sugar, syrups, confectionery, etc. But the chief use is for starch and sizing. Whether sold as farine or converted into starch the result is the same, so far as a steady and assured sale is concerned.

"While the potato affords essentially only from fifteen to sixteen parts of starch and wheat affords as much as 40 parts, still the total amount of starch is in favor of the potato in the ratio of 2,400 to 996, the produce being estimated at 120 cent for the potato against 16 cent for the wheat.

"It may be stated that everywhere farine manufacture is in the hands of farmers. The manipulation is so easy and the results so methodical that ordinary farm laborers can do all that is required and the apparatus which is good today is good also twenty years to come. Lastly the manufacture can be carried on all the year round, and the process of farine manufacture is exceedingly simple and may be summed up in a few words. Steeping the potatoes, washing them, rasping or grinding the object of which is to reduce them to a pulp, the separation—by brushes and the meshes of a fine wire of the farine from the coarser pulp and fibrous matter, then purification by standing in settlers several hours drain ing and afterwards agitating in fresh water and straining, then drying or desiccating and lastly packing."

A FOURTH PARTY.

Having carefully studied and analyzed the Democratic party, Republican party and Third party's political platform and finding them all rotten and corrupt to the core, and believing that ruin threatens our country, we propose organizing a Fourth political party, made up entirely of the rag-tag, bob-tail, dissatisfied, disgruntled, grumbling, growling, whining members of other political parties.

I hereby call a mass meeting of such men as above to meet on the wigwag that will be built on the corner of Broad and Hancock streets on the night of the 1st of September, between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing and fully equipping this Fourth political party.

One shall not hold office or even become a member of this party until he fully endorses and subscribes to the following oath:

"I do solemnly promise and swear that I will under no circumstances vote for any man for office who can read or write, or whose State and county taxes amount to more than two dollars a year, except Big Ike.

I do furthermore most solemnly and sincerely pledge myself to believe that the property accumulated by hard licks, industry and economy of our wealthiest men ought to be divided equally between that lazy, disgruntled members of their party, so that they could trade with Big Ike and get more for their money.

I furthermore do solemnly pledge that I will never be satisfied until this is done. I furthermore do solemnly and sincerely and anxiously promise that I will never plant more than a half crop of anything, and will under no circumstances half work that; and furthermore I will do all that I can to keep my neighbors from working theirs and paying their debts, for Big Ike has no debts at all.

And now, to cap the climax, I sincerely pledge that I will take all of my wife's butter and eggs to town, sell them for cash and trade it out with Big Ike, where my wife can get more for her butter and eggs than anywhere else on earth.

Believing that a party made up of the whole of North Carolina will be a good omen to be prompt and numerous in meeting at the above time and place.

Shell Rock Wanted.

Sealed proposals will be received for thirty days, for furnishing 1,000 tons shell rock, delivered on wharf at New Berne.

Afraid to Hear the Truth.

At a recent meeting of the Third party, held in North Carolina, a resolution was adopted declaring that none of their adherents should attend Democratic meetings. What's the matter, are they afraid of hearing the truth? It can be easily understood why the Third party objects to a division of time with the Democratic speakers, but what objection there can be to the rank and file attending Democratic meetings is not so clear, unless it be that the truth may be hurtful to them. "It's a bad day," says the Savannah News, "for any people when they become so blinded by prejudice that they refuse to listen to fair arguments."

The good people of North Carolina, who may have been misled into a connection with the Third party will soon see the eleven-foot of the organization, and will repudiate all such sort of Republicanism. They have too vivid a recollection of the rule of Radicalism prevalent in North Carolina and its sister Southern States during the reconstruction period. They will not tolerate a Force bill tyranny. And they will not be slow to visit on the heads of the demagogues who would make them false to their State and section the just condemnation they so richly deserve. The people of North Carolina will listen to Democratic Truth, and will remain true to the moorings of Democracy. Norfolk Virginia.
