Fine Addresses by Fminent Speakers -Telling Work for Democracy.

A good crowd gathered at the court and Octavius Coke.

Mr. Beddingfield, one of the most prominent and patriotic Alliance men of the State, led in the speaking. He made a quiet, able, sensible, practical speech, fications of the leading Democratic candidates, State and National.

He paid a fine tribute to Grover Cleve land as the friend of the farmer and people, standing squarely with the Alliance on the demand for relief from tariff taxaand nrged the support of Cleveland, tion. Mr. Beddingfield avowed his belief in the correctness of paying just pensions, but he took a solid position against the sought them not to throw their enormous frauds, rascality and corruption of the pension system, which was draining immense sums from the treasury into the pockets of beneficiaries without the shadow of justice.

> Mr. Beddingfield showed that Cleve land was not the tool of Wall street, and that that was the reason why he was defeated in 1888, and that Wall street did all in its power against his receiving the aomination this year.

Mr. Beddingfield spoke in high terms of Hen. Adhai Stevenson, in whose veins flows North Carolina blood, and who is coming to the State at an early day.

As for the Democratic party, he called attention to the fact that the backbone of the intelligent and honest yeomanry of the night. > "We learn that very large fortunes have been made in the northwest, and else where, in the manufacture of starch from the Irish potato. Now then, here is an industry which should be started somewhere in Eastern Carolina for there can be nowhere else in the world where it would pay better. The quanity of potang raised is enormous, and when the price is low, as has been the case this year, there would certainly be great profit in their fuse in manufacturing starch, ways low at the latter part of the season; and there are thousands of barrels of culls which are never shipped. A factory could afford to pay a price which would pay the farmer to raise them, and would therefore be of mutual benefit to both the manufacturer and farmer. But we are so slow to seize the opportunities. seem afraid to get out of the old beaten tracks. Why is it our people will not wake up and put their money in manufacturing enterprises, which would not only pay them, but benefit the entire community? Starch factories, canning factories and many other enterprises of the kind would afford a market for the farmer at remunerative prices, and prove a bonanza to the manufacturer.
