In the August number of the Republican Magizine a prominent place is given to a paragraph quo- sham to be equal, or as good, or the ted from Senator Hoar's speech on the Force bill. "Not till the American ballot-box is as sacred as the American hearth," says Mr. Hoar, "will the mission of the Republican party be ended." The white men of the South should make a note of

It was a commendable organization. and as such attracted to its body not only the best of the far-mers, but those of their sympathi-zers who were permitted to join. To aid in disseminating this use-iul knowledge officers and lecturers were elected and paid salaries, whose mission it was to instruct the farmers in the premises. It was dis instly understood as the very basis of the acciety that it was to be non-partisas; it was for busi-ness, not politics. Organized on this principle it was faithfully conduc-ted for some time. The officers tion, and as such attracted to its ted for some time. The officers and lecturers, in return for the salaries, milesge, etc., which were paid them from contributions made by the farmers no doubt accom-plished beneficial results for the Alliance. But in an evil hour the glitter of political office, the thirst for power, governmental power, -- no pent-up Utica, nothing short of our whole boundless continentcame as an intoxicating vision be fore the imagination of these Alliance office-holders. The res olution was formed to make a stroke as bold as Cataline's, and having thrown off their farmers garb and changed their attitude as thoroughly as did Dr. Faustus when he sold his soul to the devil, they moved into the lines of Weaver and the Third party and called upon their farmer friends to follow. Non- partisan with a vengeance what do these deluded And eaders sxpect? Do they think that the majority of the farmers of going to abandon these noble, philosophic, patriotic, true and tried principle which are comprehended in the name . PERVEBSION OF THE ALLIANCE.

In this free country the voters may organize themselves into as hides to make morocco leather, as many different parties as they please. There is nothing either in the law or the genius of our people to prevent a third or thirtieth party. Furthermore, there is nothing in the law or the genius of our people that even discourages the peaceable advocacy of any form of Headache. government from the wildest dream of the extremest free love, churchhating Anarchist to the severest autocracy. And the people have the right to choose that character of government which they may deem best suited to secure the greatest good to the greatest num-

But as the people have already agreed upon one form of govern-ment and have agreed with each other that the terms and conditions of that government shall remain steadfast until it is altered by the will of the people, to be ascertained and declared in certain ways, the man or set of man who true ways, the man or set of men who try to break through the limitations fixed by the people themselves is either an open enemy, or as is generally the case, a secret foe of American Lib-These men, of whom the erty. best that can be said is that they are agitators, are almost universally failures in any useful and proctive pursuit and take to poli-
