THE Third party is making preparations for a sweeping campaign in Georgia.

A FAMILY of Marinette, Mich., having run out of names, have called the latest arrival "Thirteenth."

THE mere rich man in a community who keeps his money locked up is not near so useful to the public as the common hod carrier.

THE New York papers are calling on the authorities to "clean the city." The Democrats will make a clean sweep of it in November.

HON. J. O. C. BLACK Democratic candidate for Congress in the 10th Georgia district met Tom Watson at Crawfordville on the 3rd of September, and took his scalp.

THE dense silence which Senator Hill maintains while all true Democrats are hard at work for Cleveland and Stevenson, is naturally the cause of no little comment and the comment is decidedly uncompilimentary to the senator.

EVEN so excellent and wide-awake a paper as the Atlanta Journal speaks of Julian S. Carr as the Democratic candidate for Governor. He is the president of the State Association of Democratic Clubs, while Elias Carr heads the State ticket.

HON. HENRY G. TURNER, is expected to meet Weaver at his appointments in Georgia, and Gen. John B. Gordon has offered to escort vice-presidential candidate Field through the State. Weaver and Field will find Georgia a hard road to travel.

THE Force bill is on the heart of the Republican party, and there it will stay until the slackened vigilance of the people shall give it the coveted opportunity to saddle upon the country a piece of legislation subversive of all the principles of the fathers of '76, but well calculated to maintain in power indefinitely the organization which shall have at once the power and hardihood to enact it.—Massachusetts Times.

If the foreigner pay the tariff taxes, as the more rabid and ebullient Protectionists insist, what a relief it must have been to the foreigner when we made him a present of over $50,000,000 a year by remission of the sugar duties! And, if the duty on sugar has not enhanced the price of the domestic product, what an ass Uncle Sam has made of himself in giving the sugar growers a bounty of $10,000,000 in lieu of their lost opportunity to pick the general pocket by reason of the tax on imported.—Philadelphia Record.

LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.
J. W. Bidle—Notice.
Miss Mary S. Brown—Night school.
A. & N. C. R. R. Co.—To stockholders.

Fair weather today except on coast. Slightly warmer.

Now that the "Old Mullet road" has become able to declare a dividend, we hope that the double daily train, so anxiously desired by our citizens, will meet with favorable consideration.

The last sentence about Mr. Abernethy's address at Riverdale in yesterday morning's paper should have read "he did not squarely, unequivocally and in unmistakable language say vote that ticket."

Maj. A. R. Dennison has secured one of the large sea turtles that are now being caught in Neuse river below New Berne and he proposes to keep him alive for exhibition at the New Berne Fair. He is a jolly good sized fellow. He measures 5 feet in length, 2 1/2 in width and weighs 251 pounds.

To pay the 2 per cent. dividend declared by the directors of the A. & N. C. R. R. will require $36,000. As North Carolina owns 12,000 shares, $24,000 of this sum will go to the State. Craven county owning 1,200 shares will get $2,400. The Board of Directors passed a resolution of thanks to President Chadwick for his success.

Those who send articles to the JOURNAL for publication are requested to read the fifth paragraph in the publisher's announcement which we keep standing at the top of the first column on the 2d page. We have several communications from different parties now in the office which will not be published on account of the violation of some rule there laid down.

As New Berne is not to be one of the points visited by Gen. Stevenson while making addresses in this State, every effort ought to be made without delay to secure its selection for one of the addresses that Gov. Campbell, of Ohio is to make in North Carolina. He is a fine speaker and one of the foremost men of the country. Good would come from securing his services. Strick vary; lets be one of the first places to seek an appointment from him.

Governor T. M. Holt, and Messrs. Ed. Chambers Smith, Herbert Norris, Chas. Dewey, Dempsey Wood and J. W. Kennedy passed through last night on the parlor car, "The Old North State," en route to Morehead. The object of the trip, as we stated yesterday, is for the Internal Improvement Company, consisting of the first three gentlemen named, to inspect the A. & N. C. R. R. The work of inspection will begin this morning at Morehead and will progress right on to Goldsboro. It is expected to be finished today.

The speech of the Vice-Presidential nominee, Gen. Stevenson, at Goldsboro on the 23d inst. will not begin until noon, consequently as the regular mail train arrives there at 11:10 every one who goes from along the line of the A. & N. C. R. R. will have ample opportunity of hearing the entire speech. The prominence of the speaker and the very low rates put on for that day ought to and doubtless will cause one of the largest assemblages at Goldsboro that has ever occurred in its history. A round trip ticket from Morehead will cost only $1.50, from New Berne $1.00, from Kinston 75 cents and from intermediate points in proportion.

Y. M. C. A. Secretary Arrives.
The Y. M. C. A. General Secretary, Mr. T. O. Wilkinson, arrived last night from Claussen, S. C., and is registered at Hotel Albert. He will immediately enter upon the work.

Every one at all conversant with the affairs of the Association readily perceived the greater activity that prevailed while a General Secretary was here, and now that the temporary vacancy is filled and a young man specially trained for the work is again in the lead, we look for the Association to go forward as bravely as at any time in its history in its career of active usefulness.

Democratic Executive Committee.
The Democratic Executive Committee of Craven county is hereby called to meet at the Gaston House in the city of New Berne, next Saturday at 11 o'clock for the transaction of important business. It is specially desired that every member of the committee be present.

THE GREAT PRIZE FIGHT.

JIM CORBETT IS NOW CHAMPION.
He Wins $25,000—Sullivan Knocked Out on Twenty-First Round.

The great fight between John L. Sullivan, of Boston, and Jim Corbett, of California, took place in New Orleans, according to announcement. Wednesday night, Sullivan won the prize of $25,000. Corbett 187. Both were stripped with the exception of trunks and shoes and stockings.

In the first round Sullivan led with left, Corbett dodged. This was repeated and Sullivan with a rush tried to corner him, but Corbett slipped out laughing heartily. Not a blow had been struck when the going sounded.

Sullivan was still the aggressor on the second round. Again a rush was made but at last tap. Corbett slightly, they clinch and there was rapid exchange on head and stomach. Sullivan began per spring.

On the third round Corbett set in the best blows. At its close Sullivan was wringing wet and Corbett also per spring.

The fourth round was a case of strength against science. Sullivan makes vicious swings but misses, and catches a left on the head. Corbett laughed tantalizingly every time Sullivan missed, and landed both hands on Sullivan's head as the round closed.

Corbett drew the first blood on the fifth round. Sullivan made a frightful, swinging miss, which nearly took him off his feet. Sullivan after blood was drawn was wild, and Corbett rushed at him and landed him right and left. Sullivan had the worst of it. Corbett stuck with him and there were wild blows for him.

About a tie up to ninth round, then they clinch exchanging light blows and the round ends with Corbett's putting in a wicked one on Sullivan's stomach at end of round.

Towards the close of the twelfth round Sullivan chased Corbett around the ring. Corbett stopped, whirled and put in a good one on Sullivan's neck, and then ducked in time to avoid a right swing, which would have settled it, as the round ended.

No sign of sulking up to the fourteenth round.

On the fifteenth round Sullivan was bleeding from the mouth. The Irish boy taps him repeatedly and slips away. Corbett in again with left on head, then gets a resounding bang from Sullivan right on the body. Corbett jumps on Sullivan's stomach. Sullivan in again on Jim's chest, but gets a right in stomach which sounds like a base drum. Cheers for Corbett.

John rushing they counter with the left on the start. John tries his left on the head but John tries it off with his shoulder. John tries the killing right but is short. Jim lands on John's neck with left and gets in on Sullivan's stomach three times. A moment later he hits John at will then jumps away, two more on John's nose, then a clinch. Jim in again with a straight right and they laugh at each other. Time.

Eighteenth round. Not a sign of a fight on Corbett. Sullivan came up slowly but looked good for an hour. A number of blows exchanged. Corbett's were delivered with the rapidity of lightning. Sullivan's much slower.

Twenty-first round—John up O. K. again. John leads with weak left. Corbett watching an opening. The house is now all Corbett though Sullivan was the prime favorite here. John spurs for time. Jim gets him as he pleases. Sullivan knocked out. Jim the winner. Corbett fights him to the ropes and bangs him right and left. Sullivan falls three times. He tries to rise and falls soundly back again. Blood is pouring from his mouth and nose, as he is lifted into his corner.

Corbett is showered with bouquets, his friends embracing him and the wild scene of excitement ever seen in the club-encus. Corbett has positively not a scratch on him and he stands humbly and bowing modestly while poor Sullivan lies back in his chair the picture of despair.

We beg to notify our patrons and the public generally that having purchased the good-will and fixtures of "John Brown, the Barber," we hope by polite and strict attention to business to "Prince of Wales" aims to merit a continuance of the patronage so generously bestowed upon our former employer.

From North to South, from East to West, Come throngs of buyers eager, Because my prices are the best To suit the means when meagre.

Here comes the toiling artisan To buy an honest penny, The hovey handled farmer, too, To see the bargains many.

The rich, the poor, they throng my doors, Each one the chances to embrace, They buy their goods from Bio Ick's famous stores, And go home with a happy face.

Bio Ick wages war on prices high, His banners now unfurled, Bio Ick with his mammoth stocks and prices low Can surely beat the world.

Begin Saying Exhibits for the Fair.

The Agricultural feature of the New Berne Fair is a most important part and there is one part in connection with that which should never be lost sight of in order to represent many crops there properly the specimens for exhibition must be selected now and taken care of. It will be well for our farmers now that cotton is maturing to pass through the best portions of the fields and mark the most promising stalks by a string tied to them or a stake stuck by them and direct that such marked stalks be passed by the pickers. Then when they are in the most suitable condition for it they can be pulled up and used on all the beauty of their full-ripe cotton-wool.

Extra large and tall stalks, of course stalks with very fine ears or a large number of them, on them green or discolored and saved and found this stalks packed also as gathered. Specimens of fine heads of rice and other small grain select choice potatoes at digging and on with all products of the soil.

It is well also to plan ahead for the exhibition of live stock. Select tip-top specimens of horses, cows, calves, sheep, poultry, etc., give them the best possible care and show them in a handsome manner.

Honsekippers, likewise, can do much in preparing in advance for the Fair by setting aside some of the most beautiful jars of preserves and pickles, a case of jelly, etc., expressly to be kept for the Fair and not allow them to be touched until they have been exhibited in the exhibition.

Many other things can be done in readiness. Maj. Dennison's business interest by having a good lot of good-seeded corn for the Fair, should be set in the Fair all along as occasion may require something for it and as a reason from since to success as we have seen since the Fair was first held.
