CARDINAL GIBBONS has been invited to deliver the closing prayer at the opening exercises of the World's Fair.

The sugar bounty paid this year amounted to something over $8,500,000. It will take $9,000,000 to foot the bill next year.

SOME few men are perpetual renegades—they join every party which starts and prove traitors to every one.—Goldboro Argus.

The Democratic candidate for Governor of Indiana is an Alliance man. He ran two years ago for State Treasurer and was elected by 30,000 majority.

The news of the Democratic campaign in the doubtful states of the north is extremely encouraging. It only remains for the south to hold herself solid, and victory is ours.

An Italian murdered in Chicago Sunday night is believed to be a victim of the dreaded Mafia which caused such trouble in New Orleans a little over a year ago. There is evidence that there is a branch of the society in this city.

Long distance telephoning is an accomplished fact. The line has been completed between New York and Chicago, a distance of 1,000 miles, and works perfectly. It will be open for business in a short while.

SOME of the Third party leaders are misleading the people by telling them that the Government can't do anything. It can do anything it wants to. Keenan, at Lemon Springs, said the Government could pay for the railroad in twenty-four hours by just printing money and handing it over.—Southern Campaign Index.

Forty-five Indianians who are either natives of this State or are some of North Carolinians have just paid a visit in the Western part of this State. They are traveling in a special car. They are in the Democratic camp. They will go back to their homes. They state that the Democratic party are very hopeful of carrying the coming State election and that the National and State tickets.

"I HELPED dem holler, but it'll be late when I vote for him." The Kinston Free Press quotes the above remark. It was made by a negro after Dr. Cy Thompson had concluded his Third party speech. It is quite characteristic.

How would the farmers of North Carolina who have such hard work to pay the taxes they now have to pay, as small as they are, and make ends meet, like to be saddled with the $14,000,000 of repudiated special tax bonds issued when the Republicans had control of the State, to build railroads which were never built? The men who hold these bonds hope yet to have them recognized and get the money for them. They will never do it while the State is under Democratic rule.—Wilmington Star.

Tennyson, the great poet is dead.
Goldboro had frost Sunday night.

Georgia's Democratic majority is 79,355. Hurrah!

The Durham Sun says: "Durham sold largely over ten pounds of leaf tobacco the last fiscal tobacco year. She will largely increase these figures this year."

The Kinston Free Press says there will be a re-union of Company A, 40th regiment N. C. State troops in the opera house in Kinston next Wednesday, October 12.

A house near DeBrah's was burned yesterday in the day with a colored woman in it. There is suspicion of foul play. The coroner will go out this morning.

Tomatoes, radishes, string beans and other spring(?) truck are still offered for sale in New Berne. The second crop of Irish potatoes will be ready for digging in about a month.

Clinton has had a tremendous fire. The loss is from $75,000 to $100,000. The Caucasian, Marion Butler's paper, the jail and fourteen business houses were destroyed. The fire originated in an Alliance store which had failed and was being closed out.

The sewerage company is moving lively in the work of construction. They are now down to Hancock street with the work on Broad street and from the junction of Broad and Metcalf, the work has been extended to Pollock. Very near one hundred hands are at work.

It is said that a part of the plan for the Confederate monument to be erected at Raleigh in honor of the soldiers of North Carolina is for each county in the State to contribute a block of granite to be built into the monument and to have engraved upon it the name of the county and the number of soldiers it furnished and possible other suitable inscriptions. A good idea.

Mr. W. F. Crockett received a high grade Jersey bull calf from Philadelphia yesterday. Mr. Crockett has several pure Jersey heifers of Georgia stock and he proposes to raise thoroughbred Jerseys for sale. We are glad to note such progressiveness. New Berne has an extensive reputation and a far-reaching trade for her fancy poultry, and there is every cause to believe that the raising of the best breeds of cattle will likewise meet with good success.

Gentlemen just in tell of Gen. Ransom's speeches at Catharine Lake and Alum Springs. Gen. Ransom has been doing excellent work in Onslow county. The Third Party had considerable following in Onslow, but under the powerful arguments of the eloquent Senator their strength for evil has much weakened. Great crowds would sit spell-bound for three hours or more at a time, never trining in the least or noting the flight of time.

The Kinston Free Press says that Mr. J. W. Russ' mill, located about 3 miles from there, was burned down last Saturday about 1 o'clock. It is thought that the fire originated from sparks in the ashes flying into the sawdust. There were 1,000 cords of wood and about $100 worth of lumber destroyed, the total loss being about $2,000, no insurance. The mill has been rebuilt and work is probably going on today.

There is now to be regular steamer, freight and passenger transportation between New Berne and Beaufort. The steamer Dauntless, Capt. T. E. Harvey, arrived yesterday evening for the business. The Dauntless has heretofore been running between South Mills, N. C. and Norfolk, Va., and was led to make the change in her field of operation through the accident that stopped passage through the Dismal Swamp Canal which she had been running. The new line is expected to be permanent. Twelve is the number of passengers she is allowed to carry.

THIRD PARTY COUNTY CANVASS.

The Republican Aid Society Meeting with Poor Encouragement.

Local Third Party speakers are now canvassing below New Berne, but they do not find things their way near so much as they would like. They had a meeting at Havelock, Thursday. A correspondent writes us that there were ten Third Party men present. The Cleveland and Carri-flag was floating over the heads of the speakers while they were orating.

Mr. Gwaltney, candidate for register of deeds, addressed the crowd first, on the currency question, the condition of the farmer, etc.

Mr. John A. Jackson was next. He held the stand about three-quarters of an hour. He wound up with the old chestnut of the philosopher and the calf's tail, thanking the people for their courtesies, etc.

Mr. W. H. Smith, the "Canadian," was the next man. He talked for thirty-five minutes, and during the time not a cheer was heard.

Mr. Sutton, "chairman," then arose and said there were fifteen hundred present at Rocky Mount to hear General Weaver, and that ten hands went up for Cleveland and one for Harrison, and he supposed the balance of the fifteen hundred were for Weaver.

Mr. Sutton asked everybody who was going to support Weaver to hold up their hands. The hands of ten men went up. They were all Republicans except three.

The crowd dispersed a little after noon leaving the Cleveland and Carr Club flag still flying in the breeze.

We are also informed that at Harlowe the previous night a large force of Democrats were present and they took a hand in the talking, and the Third Party fellows were considerably more crestfallen at the close of the meeting than when they came to the place.

Mr. John A. Jackson left off in the speaking. He charged that with all their promises the Democratic Congress of '78 had done nothing for the people.

Mr. J. R. Bell here told him that he was knowingly misleading the people. That Congress passed a bill over the Republican President's veto for the coinage of $450,000,000, and he demanded a correction of Mr. Jackson's statement. Mr. Bell's point was not disputed.

It was agreed that time be divided with the Democrats, and when Mr. Jackson was through, Dr. C. N. Mason, Mr. C. W. Bell, whose card of withdrawal from the Third Party we recently published, and Mr. J. R. Bell took the stand in succession, exposed the Third Partyites, and urged both Alliance and Third Party men to vote the Democratic ticket and save the State from Republicanism. The speeches were sufficient to show to the satisfaction of any fair-minded man that the Third Partyites are aids to the Republicans.

After they spoke Mr. W. H. Smith had his say so. He agreed that when his speech was ended he would answer any question those in the audience might ask. The Democrats took him at his word. One of the questions asked Mr. Smith by a speaker was if he had figured out how much his share would be in the additional $300,000,000 that Weaver wants for Northern soldiers. His reply has not been heard from. But in the questioning after his speech, the Democrats soon made him acknowledge that he fought against the South in the war, that he had never voted anything except the Republican ticket, that Weaver was in favor of the force bill, greater pensions, etc.

Seeing how the poor leader was getting under way, one of his friends moved to adjourn the meeting and it was done.

Still Moving Forward.
Mr. J. W. Stewart is moving with his accustomed activity in anticipation of the approaching busy season. He has just received a large supply of fine carriages and extra nice Dexter spring buggies of various styles, beautiful in design and elegant in finish, besides other stock that he will receive at no distant day.

Mr. Stewart has been fortunate in securing the services of Mr. J. M. Pace from Richmond as business manager. Mr. Pace has quite a reputation among the livery stable men as a reliable man of experience and good judgment, and through his skill he will be of great use to Mr. Stewart both in buying and in selling.

Columbian Celebration at Goldboro.
Goldboro is going forward in the matter of publicly celebrating the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America. A joint committee of ten, five Aldermen and five other citizens were appointed Tuesday night to take the matter in hand. The 21st of this month has been designated as the day of celebration.

The Argus says the special committee has held an enthusiastic meeting and appointed a number of other committees for carrying forward the work. It is proposed to have a parade in which the public schools, the military company, the fire department, the veterans and the lodges of various kinds shall take part. In addition it is urged upon the business houses that they prepare floats of various designs illustrative of some scene in the life of Columbus, or some scene in the history of our country and also that every industry of the town be represented and advertised in the trade. Speaking and music are expected to be prominent features of the celebration.

Y. M. C. A. Notice.
There will be a business meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association, Monday night at eight o'clock, to resolve the report of the committee appointed to revise the constitution, etc. A full attendance is earnestly desired.

By order of the President.

Mr. and Mrs. Sol Ottinger, who have been visiting at Mr. O. Marks returned to their home at Kinston.

Mr. H. B. Harly who has been in the city in the interest of the Raleigh Chronicle, left for La Grange.

Mr. David R. Henry who has been visiting his parents in the city left on the steamer Neuse returning to his home in Brooklyn accompanied by his mother on a visit.

Miss Annie Berry left on the steamer Neuse for Brooklyn to attend an art school.

Mrs. W. Sturman and little son arrived on the steamer Neuse yesterday from New York to visit her parents Mr. and Mrs. Schultz.

The following parties, who have been spending the summer in the western part of the State, returned home last night. Judge Seymour and wife, Mr. Wm. Ellis, Mrs. E. B. Ellis, Miss Emma Katie Jones and Mrs. C. E. Slover.

Mrs. Susan Churchill returned from a visit to her daughter Mrs. C. V. McGehee of Madison.

Miss Fannie Holland returned from a Northern trip.

The family of Mr. Wm. Heugh, superintendent of Hackburn & Willett's farm, who has been here about two months, arrived, moving here from New Hampshire.

Mrs. Mattie Washburne, of Jones county, arrived to visit at Mrs. J. J. Howard's.

Mr. Frank Tisdale, who has just finished his law course at the University and stood a successful examination for license to practice his profession, returned home last night.

Mr. Ferdinand Hahn returned on the steamer Neuse from a Northern business trip.

Capt. Belo and wife, of Salem, who have been spending a few weeks at Morehead, passed through yesterday morning returning home.

Weaver to Speak at Pulaski.
Weaver has an appointment to speak at Pulaski, Tenn., the main place of his frauds and barbarities during the war. The speech is fixed for today. Many people of the county hold that he was tyrannical, cruel and unjust in his treatment of them, both as to person and property during his command at that point. And yet the citizens of the town have held a meeting to adopt measures to insure Weaver a respectful hearing, but some of the conservative citizens fear that trouble may result.

An effort was made to have his committee withdrawn the appointment, but it failed. The citizens there will do all in their power to prevent a disturbance. Chairman Carroll of the State Democratic committee has written to County Chairman Stacey urging him to use all the influence of all the good citizens to prevent a disturbance. Wise council may yet prevail.

Furnishing the Orphan's Home.
The work of furnishing the Presbyterian Orphan's Home, rebuilt to take the place of the one burned last winter is now going on. A correspondent of the Presbyterian says the ladies of Winston Church furnished one room, the ladies of Mocksville Church another and Lexington Sunday School one. One guest chamber will be furnished by Mr. H. C. McQueen at a cost of $100 and arrangements have been made to furnish two memorial rooms but the names have not been announced as yet. And, so the good work goes on. The question is asked if some kind friend will give $200 to furnish the school-room.

Dr. W. S. Currell has of his own motion undertaken to start a library, and is making good progress. Those desiring to help along this line are requested to address him at Davidson, N. C.

Church Notice.
Sunday services for Hancock Street Methodist Church—6:30 o'clock a. m., prayer meeting. Prayer meeting at 11 a. m. Sunday-school at 3 p. m. Professor Adams will hold service at 7:30 p. m.

We have several times noticed curious freaks of nature and now another has come under our observation, the hybridization of walnuts and pecans. Mr. F. C. Roberts has a thrifty tree of each in his yard only about fifteen feet apart, and the limbs have intermingled where this has occurred walnuts have fallen from the tree of the regular walnut appearance, round and with the hull slightly rough, others of a slightly oblong shape and smoother than longer and still smoother until they are fully as long in proportion as the pecans and partake considerable of their appearance. Mr. Roberts proposes to send some of them to Dr. R. H. Battle of the N. C. Experiment Station, and will let them go on to the Columbian Exposition if Dr. Battle chooses to place them with the collection of exhibits being gathered for it.

Y. M. C. A. Notice.
There will be a business meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association, Monday night at eight o'clock, to resolve the report of the committee appointed to revise the constitution, etc. A full attendance is earnestly desired.

By order of the President.

That Illicit Distilling Trouble.

Two more men, Messrs. F. L. White and E. L. Riggs, of Cove, were before United States Commissioner, E. G. Hill yesterday morning charged with violations of the Internal Revenue law. The alleged offence was receiving and taking away distilled liquor in the spring of 1891 from the illicit distillery then there. They were bound over to Court.

The law against illicit distilleries is very strict; it makes it a misdemeanor not only to own or run one, but also to knowingly work at one, to receive or take away any distilled liquor from such a place or even to take any liquor to it or any grain, meal or other raw material. Such being the law it can readily be seen how easy it is for one not posted on the law to get into trouble in a neighborhood where such a distillery has been established. We uphold no violation of the law and we pass no opinion as to whether or not the parties now being accused have transgressed any of the above regulations. Court will decide. The parties plead not guilty.

Under present circumstances as the charges are being brought at such a wholesale rate against good, honest, industrious farmers, it is but just that along with the publication of the accusations that we give some of the circumstances connected with them.

The distillery was reported to be owned by C. E. Moore, but it was run by Janus A. Taylor, both of whom were formerly of Lenoir county. An attempt was made to bring the two men to justice and an examination was held in Kinston, sufficient proof was not brought forward at the time against Moore and he was discharged. (He has since, we are informed, run away.) Taylor was bound over to the last term of United States Court and the trial was postponed to the coming term, which commenced on the 23d inst. And this man Taylor, himself under indictment for wilful and continuous violation of the law is the witness against the citizens of that neighborhood in the suits now being brought!

How Harmonious They Are!
The Raleigh correspondent of the Wilmington Messenger tells of the following relationships existing between the Republicans and Third parties:

"A gentleman of prominence who arrived here today from the Fifth district brought news which goes to show the extent of the 'combine' between the Third party and the Republicans. W. B. Lindsay is the Third party nominee for Congress, Settle the Republican. Friends of the latter met Lindsay and told him he need not go on the stump, that Settle would look after his interests. 'So Lindsay is bush-whacking. On the stump Settle is speaking for both himself and Lindsay. He compliments the latter and takes care to say some good things about the Third party.'

"The gentleman who gave this information said also that just now the Third party people are putting forth their strongest efforts. As he facetiously phrased it, they are 'embodying the water.' They are desperate and are making desperate efforts."

"In this county a Republican said a few days ago that the Republicans had agreed in Wake to support the Third party men this year in consideration of an agreement that the latter would in the next election go for the Republicans. Perhaps the compact has been made in other counties also."

"In the canvass of this county the Third party speakers say that they do not attack the Republicans for the reason that the latter are not fighting them."

What better proof does any one want that the Third Party is playing into the hands of the Republicans?

Mt. Calvary Temple.
Mass meeting at 4:30 p. m. You are losing much to absent yourself from this meeting; there has not one been held there without much of Holy Spirit influence. The same prejudice that keeps you away from there if this is the cause, will keep you off Heaven.

The Sunday School at 9 a. m. has children who attend, some of whom go nowhere else and greatly needs teachers.

Does it speak well for the piety of New Berne when out of 1,000 or 1,500 members of the different churches less than half a dozen have volunteered to help brother Ball in this part of the work. "Do unto them who are at ease in Zion." Do come up to the help and get some stars in this humble work for Christ.

The 12th at the University.

The 12th of October will be a big day at the University this year. It is the 99th anniversary of the foundation of the University, the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America, and the 40th birthday of President Winston. The day will be celebrated with great rejoicing at the University. At 11 o'clock exercises will be held in the Chapel; there will be appropriate readings from the Bible, singing of the University Hymn by the Glee Club, and an address by Superintendent Graham of the Charlotte Graded Schools. In the afternoon athletic sports will be celebrated on the athletic grounds, and at night President Winston will give a reception to the students and faculty of the University, the visitors, and the citizens of the village.
