THE JOURNAL.

W. E. HARPER - - Proprietor.
O. T. HANCOCK - - Local Reporter.

Entered at the postoffice at New Berne N. C., as second-class matter.

JUPITER PLUVIUS and the election betters started in together to put down the rain.

THE Sugar Trust has abandoned the use of barrels, but before doing so it sent a well filled one to Chairman Carter.—New York World.

"I WENT to hear Mr. Thomas Brackett Reed last night," remarked the young man at the ribbon counter to the maiden who presides over gloves. "Did you find Mr. Brackett an entertaining reader?" she asked, sweetly.—Pittsburg Chronicle.

A WOMEN'S Suffrage bill is to be introduced in the British Parliament at the coming session. Women are forging to the front in politics in England as well as in this country; but they find their road a hard road to travel so long as "old women" shall constitute the bulk of the membership in the House of Lords.

THE Union League may pile statistics that prove nothing mountain high, but every American workingman knows from his own experience that the McKinley tariff does not, and cannot, add one cent to his wages, while it does diminish the purchasing power of his earnings in the markets in which he is compelled to buy the necessaries of his family.

PRESIDENT HARRISON is early in the field with his Thanksgiving proclamation setting apart November 24 for the Holiday. Despite the drought, the [illegible] Hessian fly plague, [illegible] he has ills, it is likely that the farmers throughout the land will find much to be thankful for before the set time of observance; while in commercial and industrial circles this breathing spell before the holiday season is more highly valued with each succeeding year.

KINSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

ACCIDENT.

While coupling cars at the Atlantic Coast Line depot, here, on Tuesday evening last, a negro named George Bask was crushed. His breast bone was broken. He will probably die.

OUR MILLS.

The industries of Kinston are in full operation. Orders ahead keep them busy. The Orion knitting mills are compelled to run at night to keep up with the demand for their goods.

POLITICAL.

Before this meets the eyes of your readers the destiny of our Republic will have been sped for weal or woe. We will abide by anything that is legal. There are no more law-abiding people than we of the South. But I do not think it be for some, if oppression and tyranny become the order of the day.

We live in critical times, whether reference be made to political, social or moral matters. The great ruler of the universe seems to be giving us an opportunity to work out our own political salvation, in more ways than one. May our country's ruler be wise.

A SECOND SPRING.

The warm weather of the past week brought out the flowers again and the flower yards of Kinston are fragrant with the odors of spring. Garden vegetables have taken on new growth and cast a fresh green hue over the recent barrenness. A thunder storm on Friday night was appropriate.

POULTRY RAISING.

Mr. George Webb, of Kinston has an incubator. He has now one thousand young chickens. He has shown that the thing can be done, that man can beat the hen at her own game.

A QUIET SATURDAY.

There were many people on our streets, on Saturday last. There was no noise or confusion. Men were seen, from one end of Queen street to the other, in groups, earnestly talking on the vital issues of the day. There was more thoughtfullness in their expression than we have ever noticed before.

STILL BUILDING.

The spirit of improvement continues unabated in our little city. Mr. S. W. Chadwick is putting a considerable addition to his residence on Independence street. Mr. Quinnerly has replaced the former fence around his premises by an elegant enclosure. Even in the South, Kinston, among our colored citizens there are many evidences of improvement about their lots.

GAME.

Our sportsmen have gotten their guns ready, and every few days they bring in full bags. The pointers and settlers run around eager for the sport. 'Possums in fine order are offered for sale on the streets. Everything indicates the approach of winter. ARACHEL.

A Waspish Sting.

"What some wag terms 'the business end of a wasp" stings with scarcely more acuteness than the acid eructations of gas from the stomach to the gullet that are characterized as heartburn. Never was there a case of indigestion without this symptom. Both cause and effect are removable by the fine carminative tonic Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which confers regularity and vigor upon a disordered and enfeebled stomach with certainty and despatch. Besides checking the pranks of a rebellious stomach, the Bitters wakes up a dormant liver, and causes the bowels to move like clockwork. An immense reputation has also been won by this protean quality upon medicine as a means of counteracting and preventing malarial troubles and counteracting a tendency to rheumatism and kidney complaints. Neuralgia [illegible] also readily [illegible].

It matters not to the dead ashes the curious glass, why cannot an omnipotent God, of dust and ashes make glorified bodies fair as crystal?

Second—They are purely vegetable [illegible] act immediately.

Third—The same dose always produces the same effect—other purgatives require increased doses and finally cease acting.
