100 MILLS AN HOUR

Great Things Expected of Messrs. Richard's New Locomotive

A working model of the present locomotive, invented and patented by Master Mechanic Jackson Richards, of the Reading Railroad, has been placed on exhibition in the hall of the Builders' Exchange, Philadelphia.

Speaking of his invention, Mr. Richards said: "If the new engine I am about to construct for exhibition at the World's Fair in Chicago cannot make over ten miles an hour I will give it away to the first person I meet. I do not claim that it will be the highest rate of speed it will be suitable for making, for I believe the speed will be practically unlimited."

Oh, What a Cough. Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Sinton's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves coughs and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Sinton's Painful Pleasur, sold by N. W. Berne-Druggist.

"The new inventions will enable a gigantic stride to be taken in the matter of high speed locomotives, and it is more than likely that the time between Philadelphia and New York will be decreased to less than an hour. I intend to make the first trial trip between the city and Chicago with the engine I will have built for the World's Fair."

"In outward appearance the locomotive will not differ materially from the speedy ones now used by our company between this city and New York. The driving wheels will be a trifle larger, being six feet high in place of five feet eight inches, as at present, and the engine will weigh fifty tons, a small increase over the present weight. The peculiarity of construction lies in the fact that instead of the two cylinders as at present used there will be four.

"One cylinder will be placed on each side of the locomotive frame as at present, and the other two will be cast on what is known as the cylinder saddle. The inside cylinders are to be cast in one piece, and will be horizontal to the outside ones. The four cylinders will entirely overcome what is known to engineers as the dead center, and the engine will be perfectly balanced without any counterbalance in the driving wheels. This latter improvement will be the means of saving from thirty to fifty per cent. of the present wear and tear on the roadbed, as it will do away with the violent pounding which has proved so destructive to modern roadbeds.

"The engine will glide smoothly and easily along and will not be any of the sudden starts and jerks so noticeable in the case of the present time. These are peculiarly noticeable in the starting, when it is necessary to reverse the engine before a start can be made. In my invention, owing to the perfect balance, this will not be necessary, the engine starting forward as soon as the valve is opened.

"You can see how smooth and easily the engine works by the model. This, though it has been running 100 miles an hour for over a day, and though it is placed on a moveable support without any fastenings whatever, has not shifted during that time an sixteenth of an inch from its first position.

"An easy way to describe my locomotive would be to say it is two engines consolidated into one, no adjusted that when the balance of one's driving wheel is on top that of the other is beneath, and vice versa."

The Population of New Berne is about nine thousand, and we would say at least one-half are troubled with some affection of the Throat and Lungs, as those complaints are, according to statistics, more numerous than others. We would advise all our readers not to neglect the opportunity to call on their druggist and get a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs. Trial size free. Large bottle 50c. and $1. Sold by all druggists.

Some Foolish People. Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which is sold at Sinton's, they would find the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 50c. and $1. Waste and Want. A waste of flesh and a want of digestion. These go together. People who cannot assimilate the food they swallow must of necessity lose bodily substance. To remedy this, render digestion easy and thorough with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a tonic which the world over for its strength and health-giving qualities. Appetite and sleep are both impaired by indigestion, which begets nervous symptoms, heartache, flatulence, irregularity of the bowels and palpitation of the heart—the latter often being erroneously attributed to disease of that organ. All these manifestations disappear when the Bitters is resorted to. Malaria, rheumatism, liver and kidney trouble are effectively counteracted by this superb corrective, which is not only effectual, but permanent.
