ON Dec. 9, a cotton compress at Waco compressed 1,340 bales in nine hours and five minutes. This beats the world's compress record.

ABOUT 800 negroes in Arkansas have been defrauded by a colored Baptist preacher pretending to be a Government agent. His dupes killed him.

THE Governor of New York pardons a woman who has been in the penitentiary thirty-three years for poisoning her husband and two children. She was 75 years old.

A COLUMBIA, S. C. dispatch to the State Chronicle, Dec. 10, says: A bill was introduced in the senate today by Senator Hemphill providing to amend the constitution so as to give women the right to vote and hold office.

EX-PRESIDENT HAYES makes public the fact that he was inaugurated twice, the 4th of March falling on Sunday and the oath being administered to him on that day as well as on Monday as a precaution. This was another case, however, in which two wrongs did not make a right.

At a lecture on "The Decline of Literature," the eloquent orator shouted: "Where are the Chaucers, and Shakespeares, and Miltons, and Spencers, and Macaulays? Where are they, I say?" And a voice answered sadly from the gallery: "All dead!"

A NUMBER of railroad and steamship men met in Atlanta on Thursday last and discussed the question of direct trade from Southern ports with Europe. A plan suggested by Col. A. Pope, by which steamships may be reimbursed for loss on the return voyage, was adopted. The English gentlemen interested in this movement are expected the latter part of this month, when the final consummation of the plan will take place, and a port will be selected. The difficulty has been the import freights.

Our sister town, Washington, is to have a new bank with a capital stock of $50,000. Mr. Thos. Latham of Norfolk, who formerly of New Berne, will be cashier.

Judge Seymour yesterday decided the libel case against the steamer Carrie Parsons for seaman's wages, which was heard the previous day, in favor of the libelants.

Mr. George McArthur, of Canada, a young traveling salesman, is quite sick at Hotel Albert with typhoid fever. He has been sick about a week and appears to be improving.

Stanley News says: "Two wild turkeys were captured on the streets here Saturday eve. They had been frightened and almost completely exhausted when they lighted in the streets."

The State Chronicle says: "Dr. P. L. Murphy, has been appointed by the Governor as director of the North Carolina school for the deaf and dumb at Morganton, vice Hon. Samuel McD. Tate, resigned."

Rev. J. R. Sampson, Synodical agent, who is lecturing in behalf of foreign missions, left yesterday for Kingston. He will visit every church in the state and be in New Berne again next year in the prosecution of his work.

Mrs. Margaret McLean, whose home was with her son-in-law, Mr. Nash Matlocks, near Stella, died while visiting her son, Mr. Everitt McLean, in Richmond, Va. The remains were brought to her old home and buried from Lebanon church, Onslow county. She was near 70 years of age.

The preliminary trial of Mr. L. R. Stany yesterday resulted in his being bound over to Superior Court in the sum of $350. He gave the bond. On the examination Mr. W. D. McIver represented the State, and Messrs. L. J. Moore, Robt. Nixon and S. C. Bragaw the defendant.

The Charlotte Observer says: "Burglaries are beginning to be every night affair in the city. Rev. Geo. A. Page is the last victim. Yesterday morning, between three and four o'clock, burglars entered his house on East Eleventh street, and after rifling the pockets of all the clothes they could find, and discovering no money left."

Rev. Rufus Ford returned last night from attending the Baptist convention at Raleigh, and delegates from below passed through en route to their home. They report the convention the most largely attended and one of the most successful ever held. $8,000 was raised for the centennial mission fund besides the money for other purposes.

Mr. Joshua Dean of Pamlico, informs us that as the Legislature approaches, the oyster question becomes of more interest. Extensive petitions are already being freely signed by citizens living near the grounds. It looks as if the same old controversy will arise—some wishing restricted dredging, and others none at all.

Mr. Wm. Nash Matlocks had the misfortune to have his residence near Stella destroyed by fire on the night of the 25th ult. It is supposed to have caught by a spark lodging on the roof where the L. joined the main body of the house. It was discovered in time to have been put out but for the failure of the water supply just as it was getting nearly under control. The total loss was not less than $1,500. There was insurance on the house to the amount of $750 and on the furniture to the amount of $800. A portion of the furniture was saved.

STILL PROGRESSING.

OVER $1,000 MORE IN PREMIUMS THAN EVER BEFORE.

Some of the Special Attractions That Will be Shown at the Approaching New Berne Fair.

Matters have got into definite shape for a number of the special attractions that will be shown at the New Berne Fair in February and negotiations are pending for still others.

V. Reale & Co's Italian parlor orchestra have been engaged to furnish select music during the continuance of the Fair.

Two progressive industrial exhibits from the World's Fair will be shown in operation in Machinery Hall. One is a Jacquard Power Loom. It will be put on exhibition and run by Mr. E. F. Anderson, of Patterson, N. J., the great silk manufacturing city of the country—more silk goods are made there than in all the rest of the United States together.

Mr. Anderson will weave fancy designs of the World's Fair buildings, the landing of Columbus and lovely souvenirs of various patterns. Mr. C. Reizenstein, Secretary and Treasurer of the Fair now has a book mark the product of the loom that is one of the most unique and beautiful things of the kind we have ever seen. Woven in ordinary size letters and figures as perfect as any print or painting is "The Last Rose of Summer"—words, music and beautiful picture. Every visitor to the Fair will have a full opportunity to view the whole operation without the expense of a long distance trip.

Another exhibit, the like of which has not been seen here before will be wood working machines of latest and most improved kinds. Every mechanic and every one interested in the manufacture of anything made from wood will find a careful examination of these machines a source of pleasure and instruction, and every one will find delight in watching the ease and rapidity with which fancy wood work is turned out. The machines do very nice work and the exhibitor has a contract to exhibit their workings at the World's Fair.

The old stand by, Mr. F. J. Dugan of Norfolk, Conn., will by special request be on hand again making pottery.

Another novelty attraction of an entirely different kind this being of a sporting character, is a trotting dog. He will trot every day both against time and against horses. The dog comes from Carlisle, Pa., and a contract has been made for him to be on exhibition at Barnum's museum for the year 1893, with the exception of the week spent at the New Berne Fair and the time consumed in making the trip. That he takes with the public is shown from his being sought by so noted a caterer to public amusement as Barnum's show.

There will be several balloon ascensions and parachute leaps by a young lady aeronaut.

As we said in the beginning negotiations are pending for other special attractions. These added to the ones enumerated above and those we have already mentioned will assure a splendid variety of new and interesting attractions.

The premium list is now ready. It contains several pages more than the list of any previous year. The premiums are greater in number and larger in amount than ever before. They have been increased more than $1,000 over those offered at the last exhibition. Everything points to the approaching exhibition of the New Berne Fair as being the best ever held in the State. Get your exhibits in readiness and make your preparations to attend.

Coming and Going, Rev. C. W. Robinson, of Morehead, passed through yesterday morning to attend Conference at Goldsboro.

Mrs. A. H. Webb and Miss Matilda Dixon, of Morehead, spent yesterday in the city purchasing articles for the Christmas tree of the Methodist Sunday school of that place.

Rev. C. F. Sherrill, pastor of the Beaufort Methodist Church, who connected himself with the Virginia conference at its recent meeting passed through yesterday morning with his family. They are moving to their new home in Ashland, Va., but Mr. Sherrill will first attend the North Carolina Conference now in session at Goldsboro.

Prof. W. R. Skinner of Clinton Military Academy, left yesterday for his home. A number of his former patrons who met him while here expressed a desire to have him back in this city and gave him encouragement to return and again run a school in New Berne.

Mr. J. W. Waters left on the steamer New Berne on a business trip to New York.

Mr. Schultz left for the North to purchase Christmas goods.

Rev. R. A. Willis and Mr. J. K. Willis left to attend the Methodist Conference.

New Approach to Market Wharf.
On and after to-day the alley way leading to the market wharf between the Ice House and the brick row south of it will be closed to vehicles going from Middle street to the end of the wharf and returning. Such vehicles will hereafter use the approach between the drug store of U. S. Mace and the tenement of H. H. Tooker.

The dock has been filled up at the place mentioned, and a cart-way opened, and all vehicles having business on the wharf-proper will take that route. The old alley-way in rear of the brick buildings will be closed for alterations and repairs.

An Item of the War.
Mr. J. S. Mann, a day or two ago found in his mother's trunk a war item clipped from the Progress of February, 1863, in reference to one of New Berne's young men, Maj. Thomas W. Mayhew who enlisted at the breaking out of the war. Mr. Mayhew was a brother of Miss Carrie Mayhew, still a resident of this city. We reproduce the item:

"MAJ. THOMAS MAYHEW—We very much regret to learn that this officer, who was reported as missing in the late battles near Fredericksburg, was wounded and has since died in the hospital at Richmond. Maj. M. was captain of a company from Hyde county, and was captured at the fall of New Berne, and taken to Sandusky, Ohio, where he remained for some considerable time. Upon his return he was promoted to be Major of the 33d regiment. He was a brave and true man and will be a serious loss to his family, consisting of a wife and child, the regiment and the country."

Why is it?
The productivity of the oyster rocks in the waters just north of this State diminished very considerably a few years ago, but the last year or two we are informed the yield of oysters has again become abundant. The exhaustion was attributed to reckless and unrestricted dredging, the recuperation is credited to those who favor restricted dredging, mainly to the enforcing of a proper crimping law and we were recently consulting some documents containing facts and figures that bore out this position, which, if they proved explicit enough to prove of value in throwing needed light on this vexed and many-sided question we intended to give, but as yet we have not received the promised documents.

The Carteret Times, a strong opponent of all dredging laws, the full resumption of work in Maryland canneries and the cessation of work in the North Carolina canneries to the results of defective laws in the past. It says:

"The real cause of the factories not opening is this: The oyster beds of the State have been robbed by foreigners, under the laws allowing dredging, and their oyster plants in the Chesapeake bay and this sea, protected by the existing laws against dredging, there in force have grown to be the finest kind of oysters, and today the waters of the Chesapeake are teeming with the luscious bivalves, stolen, practically, from North Carolina. No, we do not want, need or intend to have dredging in this state. The people have said it and 'The voice of the people is the voice of God.'"

Raise Better Chickens.
In an interview with Mr. John Phoenix, who is one of the most successful poultry merchants in the State, the Patriot learned that our people pay little or no attention to the breed of their fowls, seeming to think the only thing necessary is to raise a large number of chickens and get a good supply of eggs. Mr. Phoenix says that if the merchants North should establish the system of buying fowls by the pound, North Carolina would not stand a chance as the breed of the chickens raised in the Northwest are so far ahead of ours in weight. Now as there is a chance that this system may go into effect at almost any time, should we not pay more attention to the breed of our fowls. It is just as easy to raise heavy fowls as it is to raise poor, scrawny ones. Mr. Phoenix claims that North Carolina ought to be a better place to raise fowls than the Northwestern States, for the fact that we have more months in the year to raise them. All we have said of chickens applies to eggs, our farmers and their wives should find out the kind of fowl that lays the heaviest eggs. Our farmers should study these things intelligently and try to better their stock.—Greensboro Patriot.

We will add to the above that if you want to study the various breeds in their perfection and meet most successful growers and find out from direct conversation with them their experience, you will have no better opportunity of doing so than to come to the New Berne Fair next February. Our local breeders are establishing excellent names for themselves and fancy poultry from New Berne yards can be found in the frozen regions of the North and in the far distant slopes of the Rocky mountains. Finest specimens from the yards where these were raised will be on exhibition and there is assurance of exhibits from noted breeders of other States who intend to take advantage of the opportunity afforded by the Fair to meet together and to bring their fowls to direct notice of its thousands of visitors.

The East Carolina Poultry Association recently organized will be a great aid in promoting the merit of this department of the Fair. The coming exhibition will be a great opportunity for breeders and farmers. Do not fail to make full use of it.

Lost, Between New Berne and Washington, a value containing clothing, one pair spectacles and a letter addressed to Mrs. A. Berry, Swan Quarter. Finder will be liberally rewarded upon returning same to W. R. BROWNELL, 214 1/2 W. At Harrington & Baxter's.

From James City.
ED. JOURNAL—Some time ago an article appeared in your paper about my house being robbed:

Please allow me to give to the public the cause. There are some good people in James City as anywhere, but one Phillip Wiggins sometime in September asked me to go with him to see Mr. Jas. A. Bryan and talk over our law suit matter. Six of us started, Phillip being one but fagged behind and told that a committee led by Hunter had gone to see Mr. A. Bryan to sell James City out. This made the people of James City indignant. But Phillip has told it since that he fixed this plan upon Hunter because he (Wiggins) was stopped from having a celebration in James City and that he believed Hunter was the cause of it and that this was his plan to get revenge.

This small delegation of five men made no bargain nor arrangements with Mr. Bryan, but simply talked the matter over from Wiggins' plan, who started behind and circulated that malicious lie that caused the people of James City to act so.

A Correspondent Writes us From Kernshaw.
Married on the 7th of December at the residence of the ladies brother Mr. J. A. Gaskins, Miss Dimmy S. D. Gaskins to Mr. Charles H. Jacobson, Mr. R. W. South, J. P. officiating.

The brides maids and groomsmen were as follows: First, Miss Mary L. Gaskins and Mr. Billie Jacobson, second, Miss Della A. Ippock and Mr. Geo. C. Gaskins, third, Miss Ida Purser and Mr. Noah E. Gaskins, fourth, Miss Allie E. Ippock and Mr. Joseph A. Gaskins.

After the marriage ceremony the bride and groom and bridesmaids and groomsmen took a pleasant trip through the town of Vancoloro and back, then supper took place which was a fine one.

On Thursday the bride and groom took a pleasure trip to Aurora, Beaufort county.

They have all the well wishes of their many friends, we wish them a long and happy life.

Office Clerk Sup. Court of Craven Co.
New Berne, N. C. Dec. 13, 1892.

ED. JOURNAL—In explanation of the publication in your issue of the 12th inst. of the judgment of the court in the case of the State vs. Wm. Ellis, I deem it proper to say, that the publication was not made by me but presumed by Richard P. Williams and for reasons peculiar to himself.

Mr. Williams applied for and paid the fee for a certified copy of the judgment which I had no right to withhold even with a knowledge of his intent.

Respectfully,
W. M. WATSON,
Clerk Superior Court.

Satisfied With His Bargains.
I, Geo. D. Conner, of Riverdale, N. C., make oath that I have this day received from Big Ike, one eight dollar suit of clothes, a premium which he offered 1st day of January, 1892, to the person who traded the amount of one hundred dollars during the year with him. I take pleasure in stating that I believe that the different purchases made by me from Big Ike during the year could not have been sold at the same figures elsewhere in the town of New Berne. Big Ike has so much the advantage over other merchants in buying his goods at 40, 50 and 67 1/2 on the dollar. I subscribe that in the future I will advise all my friends to go and do likewise, if any promise made by Big Ike will be promptly met.

Geo. D. CONNER,
Sworn to and subscribed before me this 12th day of December, 1892.
