At this time of the making of good resolutions those politicians who have been monkeying with financial systems of the country for political purposes would better make at least one, and live up to it.

L. Q. C. LAMAR is dead: such is the message that has flashed over the country. His death at any time would have been a misfortune occurring at this time it is a calamity. By it a vacancy occurs on the Supreme Court which Mr. Harrison will at once fill by the appointment of a Republican.

But one of the men convicted in Chicago of the murder of Dr. Crokin remains alive, the others having died in prison. Daniel Coughlin has been granted a new trial, and the story of one of the most sensational crimes of this generation may again be rehearsed in open Court. Whatever may be the outcome, there can be little doubt that Mafia and Carbonari methods in this country have received a deathblow in these proceedings.

THE NEW BERNE FAIR.
Preparations and Arrangements Now Going on Indicate That It Will Eclipse All Other Fairs Ever Held in the State.
NEW BERNE, N. C., Jan. 23.—Readers of the Chronicle know full well that this writer for some years past has taken much interest in this association, and I believe those who have attended the fish, oyster, game, agricultural and mechanical fair at this place, will agree with me when I give as my reason for said interest that it is an institution of education for those who attend; and a fair that is calculated and that aims to truly represent the resources of the state, thereby rendering the state great service. Such being facts, in my opinion, citizens all over North Carolina should feel proud of and take interest in the New Berne fair.
This is no advertisement or paid for article, and I am prompted to write this letter only for the desire to encourage the people all over the state to attend the approaching fair and be convinced for yourself that it is the most complete combined association ever held in the state. The fair will open on the 29th of February and hold till after the 25th of March.
In conversation with Mr. Chas. Reizenstein, the clever secretary, I gathered the following notes about the approaching fair:
Adjoining the fish and oyster building with a partition door, a new building has been erected expressly for live, four-footed game of all kinds in which snipe, pens and cages have been placed. In this department will also be placed live birds and all kinds of wild birds.
Since last season in the poultry department all of the old coops have been replaced by a new modern improved coop, and while at former fairs the flocks of poultry here has been the finest that I ever saw in the state, arrangements have been completed to make this fair excel all others.
In the machinery department (which will be filled) Messrs. Anderson, Broox of Patterson, N. J., silk manufacturers, who will make an exhibit at the World's Fair, will leave New York on the 11th of February for New Berne. They will show one of their looms in operation, weaving souvenirs of the World Fair building.
Mr. George Worth from Brookland has been engaged to bring his novel hand sawing machine and will make fancy puzzle block, etc., right on the grounds.
Mr. M. B. Tiede, of Newark, has also been engaged to put up one of his circular saw bench machines, doing all kinds of fancy bracket and moulding work out of wood. There will be a great many other attractive and interesting pieces of machinery and manufacturing implements to be seen in this department.
The agricultural department is in charge of two competent farmers and they say no efforts on their part will be spared to gather the finest specimens of truck, field and home productions ever shown at any fair.
The racing, bids fair to be exceptionally good, the prospects at this writing is that there will be not less than forty fine trotters and runners. The association has offered $2,000 in purses this season, more than has ever been offered by any other fair association in the State.
The fish, game and oyster department, under the management of that clever, competent gentleman, George N. Ives, cannot fail to be full and complete in every respect. He has been for many years a successful fish, game and oyster dealer, and besides he has had charge of this department of the fair since it was first organized, and no man anywhere knows better how to arrange a display of this kind than Mr. Ives; so those who attend the fair can now prepare their minds to see the finest display in this department ever seen before, the weather permitting.
The Floral Hall department is in the charge of the ladies and this is enough to say, they always do their duty (especially the New Berne ladies) they never fail.
A grand tournament will be held on the race track Friday Feb. 24, in front of the grand stand. One hundred dollars in cash and sixteen handsome special premiums consisting of a fine bridle and saddle, set of buggy harness, lap robes, etc., will be given to many as twenty knights, but more than twenty can enter if desired. There will be four balloon ascensions by a lady during the fair.
In the way of amusements, proper side shows and innocent games will be allowed, but under no circumstances whatsoever, will anything like gambling, fakery or a bar-room be allowed. The grounds will be strictly looked after by a special police force. Ladies and children will be entirely safe to go where they please all over the grounds. There will be a grand display of fireworks at night during the week. Arrangements are now being perfected by the members and managers of the association to secure a good many other new and novel attractions that will be well worth coming to see.
There will also be a fine display of stock, cattle, horses, mules, etc. The premium list is large and complete; if you want one send to Mr. Chas. Reizenstein for one. The city will throw open its gates and the clever citizens their doors to provide for and take care of the visitors during the week and if you will apply to the secretary or ticket office for board at reasonable rates you will be accommodated; provided you can not get in at the hotels. Railroads rates are 1 cent a mile each way, all winter travel is also reduced, so now send for if you want to have a good time, enjoy yourself and learn a good deal don't fail to come to the New Berne fair.
In State Chronicle.

"BIG IKE."
Two little boys went out in the country one day.
To help their uncle gather his hay, One tore his pants and the other his shirt, Poor little fellows were full of dirt; Never mind said Bobbie to Mike, We'll buy more clothes from the store of Big Ike.
The next afternoon their uncle got through; Gave each one of the boys a quarter or two; They started for home feeling rich as a Jew, Oh; Bobby we're grand, said poor little Mike; And on our way to the store of Big Ike. They were walking with heads so high; A crowd of boys by chance did spy; You look like your pockets are full of tin; We've got money said dear little Mike; And going to spend it at Big Ike's.
How to spend it don't you fret, A plum cake would taste nice you bet, So let us go to a baker's shop, Then we'll buy our little boys' chops, Come along with us Mike, Don't you go to the store of Big Ike.
Bobbie stood and looked around, Planted his foot firm on the ground; Said please get out our way, If you want money work by the day; You are not going to take Brother Mike! We will go to the store of Big Ike.
Please Take Notice.

THE COLDEST PLACE IN THE CAROLINAS.
"Otogeanian" writing from Davidson river, N. C., puts that portion of Transylvania county down as the coldest in North or South Carolina.
The day after Christmas the weather there was two degrees below zero and the ground has continued frozen ever since. On the 16th of January the mercury fell to 19 degrees below zero and at Brevard, three miles above, it fell to 25 degrees below zero and three miles above Brevard it fell to 27 degrees below zero! But the cold came on gradually and the people say they did not suffer much. There were three snows during the time. They aggregated 18 inches in depth.
The same correspondent says that 21 years ago, the mercury fell there 15 degrees below zero and on the 1st of March snow fell to the depth of 15 inches.

The Barrel Factory.
The busy season for the sale of fertilizers, farming implements, etc., and for the growing of the truck crops is at hand. Advance preparations to a certain extent are already being made for the shipping season. One of the most important of these preparations is the erection of a building by Mr. S. A. Harris for Messrs. J. C. Whitty & Co. on their island property at Union point to be used by the barrel factory of Messrs. Jones & Co., the quarters they used last year not being adequate for their expected output this year. The new building is a two-story one 40x75 feet.

Arthenia Lodge, No 8.
At a meeting of Arthenia Lodge, No. 8, K. of P. held on the 24th day of January 1893 the following officers were elected:

Craven County Stock and Fence Bill.
House bill 189, for the protection of crops in certain localities in Craven county, came up on second reading Monday in the House. It is a bill to protect the crops in certain localities in Craven county, requiring those owning stock not to let them run out further than their boundaries. This bill protects those who are greatly damaged in their trucking business from cattle.
It forbids the running at large beyond the limits of the owner of certain domestic animals. Certain men to be appointed on lines (specified in the bill) of a good and efficient fence, regularly inspected, a tax for the building and maintenance of such fence to be levied upon the beneficiaries of such protection. Trespassing animals to be impounded, the rates of costs fixed in the bill.
Mr. Allen would not oppose the bill, but objected to the clause which holds the commissioners in office during good behavior and authorizes them to elect their own successors saying that it would make the fence commission a perpetuity in succession.
The bill was then amended so that these commissioners should be allowed to hold for only two years.
Mr. Vance, of Bancombe, called attention to the fact that in the consideration of the bill the committee was unanimous. The parties directly to be benefited are the only ones to be burdened by the tax. The bill with the amendment passed.

Surprising as it may seem, the ice was almost all gone from both Neuse, and Trent rivers, by yesterday afternoon. But little remained outside of the docks, except floating detached pieces.
Tuesday night a mink invaded the sitting room of Mr. Stephen Priest while the family were assembled there. After a lively chase around and around the room, Mr. Priest at last dispatched him with a shot from a pistol.
The liquor dealers of the State of South Carolina have organized to fight the new liquor law, in the court. At a convention of one hundred delegates from most of the counties in the State it was decided to raise a large sum of money for legal expenses.
All who use ice now have plenty—thanks to the cold snap. The fish dealers gathered bountifully. Messrs. Watson & Daniels not only stored in a large supply in their buildings at the end of the market dock, but built an additional building along side and filled it. Mr. Chas. Wallace also put up a building and stacked it full of ice.
Walter Walker, the colored man who resisted an officer while the wood delivery was going on last week has been tried and committed to jail in default of $10 fine and costs. The reason of the delay was that he was taken sick and on account of his ill-health Mayor Manly made his punishment only the small fine spoken of instead of enforcing the full penalty of the law.
Mr. Geo. Henderson, Agent of the E. C. D. Steamship Line, telegraphed for news from the other end of the line Wednesday. He received a reply that the ice was very firm and solid in the sounds, and about 8 inches thick. Efforts are now being made to get the Str. Albemarle (which it will be remembered was frozen up thirteen miles from Elizabeth City) through the ice—but the officers wire that they cannot say when trips will be resumed.
