THE mistakes of woman result almost always from her faith in the good, and her confidence in the truth.

It does not require learning to be a Christian. It requires an honest heart and a willingness to obey God.

If the mercies of God be not load-stones to draw us to heaven, they will be mill-stones to sink us to perdition.

MANY lights may be kindled from one lowing torch; and many souls can be soothed through one living, loving Christian effort.

LIFE'S years are like a bundle of arrows shot at a target. Some of us are about to shoot our last. Let the hand be steady and the aim right.

WHAT a difference there is between the kind of headaches people have or rainy Sundays and the kind they have when the clouds are in town.

THE promises of God span the path of the follower of Christ like a bow of hope. In trial they are his encouragement, in weakness they become his strength.

If men realized that they are disclosing themselves by what they say about others, they would, perhaps, be more charitable in their expressed judgments of those about them.

THREE of the sailors of the Norwegian bark Thekla, from Philadelphia, rescued from the foundering ship by the Danish bark Harman, have been arrested for killing and calling a sailor to prevent themselves starving. The sailor was a Dutchman and the starving man drew lots as to which should die, the lot falling on the sailor.

It is sadly to be regretted that so few parents bring their children with them to the services of the church. They seem to think that the Sunday school is "the children's church," and the children are likely to regard the Sunday school in the same light, and therefore when they have attended upon its session, they regard themselves as free to use the rest of the day in the attainment of their own wishes. The great trouble however is, that when children have not formed the habit of attending church, the Sunday-school has but a slight hold upon them, and when they arrive at the age of fourteen or sixteen, they are likely to drop out of the school, and be lost boys to the school and to the church.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

H. B. DUFFY—Dress goods.

C. DISOSWAY & BRO.—Common prayer.

C. DISOSWAY & BRO.—Envelopes and writing paper.

Messrs. Hill and Gaskill our crack cyclists left for Morehead City yesterday on their wheels. They will return today.

The steamer Neuse of the E. C. D. line left Elizabeth City on schedule time yesterday afternoon with a full cargo. The Albemarle also left at 2 o'clock this morning for New Berne fully loaded.

Major A. R. Dennison has recovered the stray ox for which he has been advertising. He had gone to his former home at Riverdale by crossing Trent river on Clermont bridge above the city.

Mr. Ben Hahn was out driving yesterday with two handsome and well-matched dark iron gray mules of M. Hahn & Co.'s last importation. They are Kentucky bred of good stock and weigh 1,100 pounds each.

The monthly meeting of the Female Benevolent Society will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Dudley. The annual sermon before the Society will be preached at the Presbyterian church by Rev. Mr. Vardell this evening.

The thermometer has been ranging pretty high lately. Yesterday it was up to 45 1-2 and the lowest point reached the night before was 37. On Friday it was as 64. The cold wave signal was flying yesterday however and the mercury was falling fast toward night.

The Stinson Lumber Company is starting off under its organization with two improvements—the building of a two story office 16x24 near the mill and the putting up of another between the mill and the ice factory to be used as a machine shop by Mr. James Maxwell. The new officers of the Company took control on the first of February. They are C. E. Goodwin, President; C. M. Dockham, Secretary and Treasurer and Z. R. Folsom, General Manager.

Locomotive No. 2, of the A. & N. C. R. R. which has been in the shops for some time undergoing a thorough overhauling is out again in good shape. She made her first regular run yesterday, the old passenger coach No. 9, has also received attention and comes from the shops sound and bright, ready for the extra service during Fair week. One of the express and baggage cars has had some work 'on 'er during the week and will be turned out of the shops Monday morning.

The Alabama legislature proposes to amend the Constitution of that State so as to allow school districts to levy a special tax within their respective districts not to exceed one-fourth of one per cent, to be applied exclusively to the public school. It is provided that the money collected from white persons may be by law applied to the education of white children, and that collected from colored citizens shall be applied to the benefit of colored children. The joint resolution now awaits the Governor's approval, which it will doubtless receive.

Opposition on principle is developing among democrats to the confirmation of Jackson's nomination on the grounds that it is not proper for the outgoing President to fill life places of such importance. There is no question that the senators on both sides of the chamber are deeply concerned by a probability of a nomination of a republican circuit judge to succeed Judge Jackson, the democrats being determined in advance to resist the installation of the republican on the Southern circuit and republicans fearing that they would have a hard struggle to confirm such nomination at this late stage in the session.

Another Reward.

Governor Carr yesterday offered a reward of $500 for the capture and delivery to the sheriff of Chatham county a negro who has passed under the names of Williams, Phillips, Lee, etc. The negro's real name is unknown. He is wanted for the murder of Adam Siler, and his wife Rebecca in Chatham county on December 23rd last year. The negro is twenty-two years old, of a ginger color, weighs 150 pounds, wears a number 7 on his shoe, and is a native of the West Indies.

The Texas Lynching.

When the recent awful affair in Paris, Texas, occurred, a representative of J. C. Ayer & Co., of Lowell, Mass., was in a neighboring town and made the rash remark that those who engaged in the burning of the negro were no better than he was.

The agent C. Billing, is being watched for by the officers with the intention of warning him not to stop in the place during the present condition of the public mind.

Billings remark was a wild one, but it is true that while the murderer's crime was as horrible as could be dreamed of, he ought at most to have been dispatched as quickly as possible instead of being put to slow torture.

Coming and Going.

Mr. and Mrs. Solinger, of New York, and Mrs. F. Solinger, of Brooklyn, are visiting the family of Mr. M. Hahn.

EAST CAROLINA EXPOSITION.

New Berne's Glory and Our Pride.
The Sixth Annual Exhibition of Surpassing Interest.

It is in no spirit of invidious comparison, or in carping mood, that we allude to the fact that for many years the annual fairs in the State were very much like the traveling show—principally a matter of glaring posters and glittering promises, that very much to the disgust of the deceived, sadly lacked realization.

Five years ago, realizing that this section, possessing as it did a wealth of treasure, that needed but industrious interest to aggregate in such form as would prove an object lesson and attract attention to our almost unparalleled resources, a number of the very best citizens of New Berne came together and resolved that if time, money and perseverance could accomplish it, a really meritorious and creditable display should be annually made, of home products, nature's wealth, as well as the products of the husbandman and the skilled artificer.

This high resolve was intelligently and promptly acted upon, and the first result of their efforts stamped the Eastern Carolina Fish, Oyster, Game and Industrial Association a success.

At once took rank as perhaps the most unique, varied and altogether attractive and instructive exhibition ever seen in the State. It became a fair and permanent institution in the pride of New Berne and her neighbors, and has annually attracted hundreds of visitors from remote parts of the country, as well as to thousands nearer home.

From thenceforward no effort, time or expense has been spared to increase its attractiveness. Craven and sister county have shown a commendable interest, until each succeeding year has witnessed a marvelous growth of scope and merit, and the approaching sixth occasion bade fair to be superior to all previous ones, and will rank with any similar exhibition in the south.

While our section possesses an abundance of material, the exhibition of which made the eminence reached by this fair possible, yet, dormant as it so long laid, it required the will and energy displayed by the fair managers to vitalize it, that it might be seen of all men.

In its entire twenty or more officials, there is not a single stick of "dead wood," every one being a hustling, capable and intelligent gentleman, who makes the success of this institution of "love's labor" a matter of personal pride, and without any reward other than the consciousness of well doing.

Pre-eminence in this admirable fair had been reached by the Hon. Wm. Dunn and Secretary and Treasurer, Chas. Reizenstein, whose intelligent management and direction have done so much for the general success.

To intelligently understand the scope and extent of the New Berne fair, a cursory reference to some of its features and attractions will be in order.

The premium list starts out with the comprehensive statement that the association offers for progress in all the branches of industry and art, liberal premiums.

A new feature this year will be a grand tournament, in which $100 in money prizes, and a number of costly and useful articles as special prizes, will be given to the successful knights. It is expected that this will be a very fine feature, the superior inducements being sufficient to attract the very best riders from all sections of the State. This, particularly southern, elevating contest of "eye ancient days" will on this occasion be very attractive, not only to the participants but to the onlookers, and notably so to "ye faire lady" who will watch with anxious eyes the bearing of her gallant cavalier, hoping for his success in the tourney, that she may wear the trophies won.

In the game department will be found nearly every land and water fowl peculiar to this section, and an idea of the variety can only be gained by seeing them.

The exhibit of game animals will be very extensive, embracing bear, deer, panthers, wild cat, otter, beaver and many other animals to be found in the State thus affording the student of natural history an excellent opportunity of viewing at his leisure, what under other conditions and circumstances, might not be so pleasant an occupation.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the exposition is the fish exhibit. Heretofore it has attracted much attention, but this year, with a commodious separate building, devoted exclusively to this use, it is expected to make the fish display the handsomest and most varied to be seen in the United States. Handsome large glass tanks containing shining pebbles and growing aquatic plants, will exhibit many varieties of live fish, displaying in their native element, while others, the larger kind, may be seen frozen in mammoth blocks of crystal ice, through whose translucent density they shine and glisten in a truly attractive manner. In addition to these will be seen shark, porpoise, sturgeon and alligators, as well as a magnificent collection of oysters, clams, scallops, crabs, etc.

An interesting feature will be a variety of man's most faithful companion, the affectionate dog; the noble St. Bernard, the watchful mastiff, intelligent setters and pointers, the handsome Newfoundland, and in fact fine specimens of nearly every worthy kind of dog.

The farm and garden products and field crops are also a special and notable feature, there being always a full and handsome assortment of nearly everything grown on our soil, and every exhibitor desiring to be a prize winner.

Orchard products are not least sight of and liberal inducements are offered for worthy displays.

There is yearly coming to the front, and becoming a more noticeable feature, a fine class of blooded horses; and as Lenor can give points to many counties in this line, it should be especially interested in this department. Liberal premiums are offered for horses for exhibiting in their native element, and when it is remembered that transportation for stock on all railroads is free, there is every inducement to exhibit generously.

The display of sheep, hogs, goats and fine thoroughbred cattle will be extensive and a leading attraction.

This fair has very deservedly earned the reputation of being the handsomest poetry exhibit that has ever been seen in North Carolina. For the past few years New Berne and vicinity has made the breeding of the finest class of poultry a business specialty, and it is questionable if any part of our country can show finer specimens or greater variety than are shown at these exhibitions. This year a famous Virginia breeder, will however, enter the lists of competition, and purposes making a splendid effort to carry off the honors.

We frequently see in the illustrated papers, pictures of an ill-clad man or boy, standing in front of the window of some confectionery or restaurant, gazing with wistful longing eyes upon the good things there shown, but which are denied him, and we sympathize in spirit with the unfortunate. This is very much the condition of the visitor to the culinary department of the New Berne Fair. It fairly revels in the most tempting and delicious edibles: golden butter, choice dried fruits, honey, jellies, preserves, marmalades, wild cider, brandy, fruits, cakes, pies and pastries, and every delicious thing that has made the fair women of North Carolina so famous as housekeepers and extorsion to man's most fastidious appetite.

For the practical man of business the attraction of a distinct manufacturing hall exists, in which may be seen a wonderful variety of the most approved machinery at work, showing the manufacture of many kinds of iron and ornamental articles, and in their various uses. Among these attractions are two of special interest, that now being at the World's Fair are coming to New Berne for this occasion, afterwards returning to Chicago. One is a system of entirely a new and improved method, that produces the most novel results from wool. The other is a new silk loom of wonderful construction upon which will be woven, in the eyes of the onlookers, beautiful World's Fair souveniers in the shape of badges or book marks, that will have picture upon them in silken threads of the "Land of Columbus" and other appropriate designs.

The dexterity of finger and beauty of design are nowhere seen to greater perfection than in the ladies' fancy needle work exhibit, that calls into existence the many things of beauty here shown, is so marvelous in its art, as to be a striking proof of the refinement and delicacy of thought that characterizes the lovely women of our State.

There is no real artistic skill in North Carolina that is generally credited with, and the New Berne Fair affords an excellent opportunity for its display and appreciation. Each year shows an increase in the number of pictures, and improvements in color and design. Lenor county's "Kinky Seminary" is always a pleasing and conspicuous exhibit, and adds very much to the success of this department. Paintings in oil, water color and pastel, crayon drawings and decorative china and fancy article as pretty a view as one need to look upon.

One of the largest rooms in the main building on these annual occasions, becomes a veritable "hall of beauty." Under the careful and intelligent management of Mr. Thomas Henderson, its director, assisted by a corps of enthusiastic ladies, the floral-oriental exhibit is a glimpse of fairy land, with its soft, splashing miniature fountains, and green and grass and row upon row and graceful pyramids of choicest plants and flowers, all one above another, making the air radiant of sweet odors, and gladdening the eyes with multitudes and vivid colors, with flowers from growing on the perfect tree, and beautiful floral designs adorning everywhere, floral hall becomes at once a delight to all the senses, and a remembrance of how lovely nature is when its products are choicely culled and artistically arranged.

An unique exhibit will be the appliances used by the life-saving service in rescuing ship-wrecked people.

Genius and industry are offered for the display of the various minerals of the State, its woods, its botanical specimens, and the site of the exhibition being adjacent to the ocean, the chelochological exhibit is always fine; shells of every shape, color and tint may be seen, and in their hollow recesses may be heard the sullen roar of ocean.

New Berne and vicinity is peculiarly the home of choice relics of historic interest, many articles of Revolutionary and pre-Revolutionary times are on these occasions kindly loaned by their fortunate possessors, and they call upon the fancy of the student of history and those of a reminiscent cast of thought, the days of Gov. Tryon, Esther Wake and the militia court, as well as the days of anxiety and suffering of the Revolution.

To the lovers of sport, and who does not love a fine horse and good racing, the trials of speed will be the crowning event at this exhibition. $2,000 will be given in purses for a series of trotting and running races, and this unusually liberal inducement, it is believed, will result in some of the finest races ever seen in North Carolina.

The entries already made give promise of some very interesting events, and lovers of this sport may safely anticipate a gala time. The track is a fine one; and a magnificent grand stand, capable of holding 3,000 people will afford the most ample accommodation.

There will be four balloon ascensions by a lady who, on each occasion when in mid-air, will drop to the earth by a parachute.

Altogether the sixth annual exhibition of the East Carolina Fish, Game and Industrial Association at New Berne, commencing the 20th of February and lasting all the week, will be a notable one, to which everybody is invited and will be well cared for.

No games of chance or gambling devices are permitted on the grounds or vicinity, nor are intoxicating drinks sold.

Ample restaurant accommodation will be afforded; the lowest excursion tickets will be sold on railroad and steamboat lines, and every inducement offered to insure the fullest attendance and render the occasion what it deserves to be a pronounced success.—Raleigh Free Press.

A bill to authorize the Mayor and commissioners of North Carolina to make an election on the question of raising bonds for city improvements, passed third reading.

A resolution requesting our Senators and Representatives in Congress to use their influence in favor of the Nicaragua Canal bill.

This resolution elicited considerable discussion. It was finally adopted almost unanimously.

Several amendments were offered, and a long discussion ensued, but the resolution and amendments were, in the end, laid on the table.

A bill to provide for furnishing and completing the governor's mansion, appropriating $2,500 for furnishing and $1,500 for completing the same, passed second and third readings.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

By Mr. Holt, relating to the protection on baggage against reckless usage. Railroads, etc.

By Mr. Vance, of Rutherford, to protect the consumers of illuminating oils, and to provide for the inspection and sale of the same by allowing no oil to be sold under a test of 120 degrees.

By the same to protect consumers of illuminating oils, and to secure a proper inspection of the same. Agriculture.

By Mr. Ray, a bill concerning rooks, turkeys, etc.

By Mr. Thomas, to repeal chapter 435, laws of 1891, relating to the netting of birds. Propositions and Grievances.

The calendar was then taken up.

House bill 268, the home-stead bill and the various bills embraced in the same measure was announced.

Mr. Cook, said it was a very important measure, and ought to be participated in fully by the House. On his motion its consideration was postponed until Friday week at 12 m.

House bill 509, to secure the right of jury trial on certain cases, applies to the desire of railroads and other corporations in questions involving rights of way.

The bill passed and was ordered to be engrossed.

House bill 409 authorizing the trial of the case of fraud in the conveying or encumbering of land before the determination of the home-stead when the value of the land is less than that of the home-stead. (It permits the trial of the issue of fraud before the determination of the home-stead, but allows no sale until after such determination.) The bill passed and was ordered to be engrossed.

House bill 492 in regard to divorce, amends the Code, so if wife obtain decree of separation from bed and board on the usual charges of cruelty, neglect, abandonment and of absolute divorce does not return to the state within three years it is ground for absolute divorce. Passed and was ordered to be engrossed.

House bill, 469, for the encouragement of sheep husbandry—owners of dogs allowed free of tax, each additional dog to be taxed $1, females $2, tax to be turned into the school fund in the place where lived. This amended the usual biennial dog light. Mr. Watson, of Forsyth, offered an amendment fixing the tax at 25 cents and Mr. Holt one, putting it at 15 cents.

The first vote of the night was the motion of Mr. Blair to lay the bill on the table. This was voted down by a simple majority.

The bill with amendment proposed was referred to the committee on agriculture.
