SOME admit they'd like to see different timber in the Cabinet, but all acknowledge there's no dead wood about it.—Philadelphia Times.

A special to the Greenville News says that the Union Store Company of New York, which established five Alliance stores in that State, have not found the business profitable and the agencies have been sold out to the managers. The reason given is that the company wanted to do a cash business, which they could not.

THE Columbus Enquirer makes this comment upon the duty a paper owes to its readers: "Any attempt to shroud in mystery matters which concern the public is sure to fail. The public have a right to know everything that affects the interests of the community, and the newspapers will see that it is furnished."

A NEBRASKA man advertised for a wife. He said he wanted "a southern girl who would be willing to demonstrate her ability to cook by preparing a meal in his presence." A Texas girl answered the advertisement; the advertiser came on and watched her cooking dinner. When she had finished they dined together and were married two hours afterward.

THE republican organs that pretend to have discovered a weakening of Mr. Cleveland's purpose to secure a reform of the tariff probably do not deceive themselves. They certainly will not deceive the country. The man who risked defeat for an otherwise sure re-election to the presidency by forcing the issue of tariff reform because he believed it to be right, and who has adhered steadfastly to that issue ever since, is not at all likely to weaken in its support now that he has been sustained by the people and put in power to carry out his policy.—New York World.

Respecting his vote against the agricultural appropriation. Representative Grady says that he had several objections, foremost among which were the failure for several years of the best sugar experiments—continued under the bill—and the provision for governmental connection with the project of public roads. "In a few years," he remarked, "we shall have a department, with a secretary of roads. In my judgment we have nothing to do with the subject."

THE friends of Mr. Herbert are gratified at the manner in which his appointment is received. The Philadelphia Record says: Pennsylvania was again overlooked in the choice of the Secretary of the Navy; but hardly a better man could have been found in the forty-four States than Hilary A. Herbert of Alabama. In stepping from the Chairmanship of the House Naval Committee into the Secretaryship he has found promotion without a change of his sphere of action. He will not have to make a study of details he has already mastered. His selection is an admirable one.

LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.
Howard.

E. C. D.—Change of schedule.

W. J. Smith—Phonographic exhibition.

Temperature yesterday: Maximum, 45; minimum, 34; range, 11.

Weather forecast yesterday: Rain, and warmer, probably clearing Tuesday.

Notice the time for sailing of the steamer Neuse has been changed to 4 o'clock instead of 5 p. m.

The New Berne knitting mills, after a short rest started again yesterday with a new supply of yarn just received.

The freight train took out a number of the race horses. There were in all 83 of them at the Fair, and three States had representation among them.

Atlanta has had a tragedy in high life. Miss Julia Force shot and killed her two sisters. It was simply the result of a quarrel. They all moved in the foremost social circles.

Monday was the great leaving day for exhibits from the Fair and for a large number of exhibitors and visitors, though many who attended are making a little longer tarry in our city.

The balloon ascensions of Mrs. Nellie Steele have been the subject of such universal favorable remarks, that some of the business men of the city are seeking to have her make another ascension before her departure.

There will be a Bible reading held Wednesday night at 7 o'clock in the Collegiate Institute in the music room. Everybody cordially invited, all sexes. L. C. Emmett, leader, subject: Those anxious to be saved and don't know how.

Every one who has attended the Fair that we have heard express themselves speak strongly of the pleasure they have had and their gratification at having attended, and there is a general spontaneous avowal of intention to attend the next one. Never before has there been such a looking forward to the next Fair so early.

The transportation lines are to be complimented for the satisfaction they gave during the rush to the Fair. Though the railroad was handling thousands, the trains both regular and special left promptly at the appointed times, and there were no delays of consequence in coming, and the passengers were made as comfortable as in ordinary times.

We were shown Saturday by Mr. A. E. Hibbard, at his jewelry store, some beautiful souvenir spoons of Tryon's palace which he had made to special order, the design being furnished by Miss Maud Amyette. The bowl of the spoon contains at the center, a perfect representation of the palace with the L's on either side—one of which is still standing. The handle of the spoon has the United States coat of arms.

Mr. B. A. Fox, of Richmond, who judged the poultry on exhibition at the Fair, left for his home yesterday. Mr. Fox's fine exhibit of brown Leghorn and Plymouth Rocks, resulted in his making numerous sales. Mr. Fox, we are pleased to say, has no intention of missing the next Fair. Manufacturers, purveyors of stock and poultry breeders, etc. find that it pays to have exhibits at the East Carolina Fair.

Cheap Rates to the Inaugural.
Cleveland becomes President of the United States next Saturday. Tickets to his inauguration will be on sale by railroads in North Carolina March 1st (tomorrow) 2d and 3d. They are good to return up to and including March 8th—next Wednesday.
The fare for the round trip tickets from New Berne, is $14.50. From other coupon points in the same proportion.
Reduced rate round-trip tickets will be sold on the steamer Neuse to Norfolk, where connection can be made with the line the visitor may choose for the remainder of the trip. These tickets expire the following Wednesday.
There will be a meeting of the Naval Reserve tonight at 8 o'clock.

TWO DIVERSE INDUSTRIES.

Which an Indiana Visitor to Our Fair Thinks Well Suited to This Region.

Mr. Addison Coffin, of Amo, Indiana who has been attending the Fair in the interest of the Fish commission of that State, a very observant gentleman who has travelled considerably and is possessed of wide and varied information, informs us that as he approached the city he was struck with the similarity of our soil to that of the great beet sugar regions of France and Germany, and that seeing the choice display of large and perfectly formed turpins at the Fair served to still further convince him that this was a favored region for growing the beets and establishing factories for the manufacture of sugar. Mr. Coffin holds a high opinion of the sugar and considers the industry an important and remunerative one.

There is another industry—somewhat novel—which those not posted would not be disposed to think of at all but which Mr. Coffin tells as would be found very profitable and that is frog-raising! The best frogs sell as high as a half a dollar each and astonishingly large numbers can be taken from a small area of suitable land. A thousand dollars worth a season has been raised on a single acre, more than half of which was profit. One of the main points in their raising is to keep the pond enclosed with a fence, that will exclude their enemies, snakes and turtles, and as the same ponds in which frogs thrive propagate food for them the expense is trifling after everything is once fixed though the frogs may be fed if desired, and forced forward just the same as pigs or other stock can.

Another point that Mr. Coffin brought out in his remarks is that there are varieties of the edible frog even in their wild state just the same as in almost every thing for table use and that some are vastly more highly esteemed than others.

While we, in company we expect, with the majority of our people have not got any banking after frogs, there is no reason why the industry should not be looked into and engaged in if more searching investigation sustains the alluring prospect of first appearances.

Mr. Coffin is a native of this State and feels strong in everything pertaining to its development and we hope to have something from his pen on both these subjects.

Coming and Going.

Mr. Hill Humphrey went up to Raleigh yesterday to look after the charter of the New Berne Steam Ferry granted by the Senate. It has already been through the house.

Miss Genie Fife, sister of the evangelist, who has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. W. R. Waters, left returning to her home in Thomsville.

Mrs. Blanche E. White of Raleigh, who has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. G. L. Wadsworth and taking in the Fair left for her home.

Miss Charlotte Grimes of Grimesland, and Miss Mary Broadfoot of Fayetteville returned home.

Mrs. M. Makely of Edenton and her sister, Mrs. R. H. Havenir of Alexandria, Va., and Mrs. Kate Baxter of Currituck, were among the passengers leaving on the steamer Neuse yesterday.

Capt. Thos. Rue of the Mary D. brought up a fine lot of shad—about a thousand yesterday. They were caught the previous night at Smith's creek.

Miss Georgia Mayo, of Portsmouth, who has been visiting Mrs. Theresa Roberts, left for Georgetown, S. C., to visit her brother.

Misses Kate Morton of Harlowe, and Annie Taylor of Adams creek, who have been visiting in Elizabeth City, came in on the steamer Neuse yesterday and are visiting at Mrs. Milly Bections.

Messrs. L. Schultz & Son left on the steamer Neuse for Northern markets.

No Attorney Needed.

As the Iron Hall which is the hands of a receiver has members in this city who are interested in knowing what course to pursue in order to recover what may be coming to them we publish for the benefit of those concerned a letter received by one of them:

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 20, 1893.
Dear Sir:—Yours of the 15th inst. received. The court has not ruled on claims of any kind. No orders have been issued requiring the filing of claims on certificates. Pay no attention to letters from attorneys soliciting claims for collection. I will advise you as to what steps to take when the proper time comes.
Respectfully,
JAMES F. FAHEY, Receiver.

Lectures on Brazil.

Rev. G. W. Butler, missionary from Brazil gave two instructive lectures from the Presbyterian church Sunday. In the morning he gave some description of the country, its customs, religious conditions, morals, etc., and urgent need for the pure gospel.
In the evening he narrated some of the missionary experience and spoke of the pressing need for more workers. He also gave a talk in the afternoon to the children of the Sunday School. All the discourses were listened to with marked attention and pleasure.

FEBRUARY, 27th, 1776—1893.

New Berne and Craven County In the First Victory of the Revolution.

Monday, the 27th of February was the 117th anniversary of the battle of Moor's creek bridge, fought by the North Carolina troops commanded by Colonels Ashe and Lillington, and Colonel Richard Caswell, on the side of the Americans, and the Highlanders and Tories, who espoused the cause of Great Britain, under the command of Gen. Allan McDonald. The battle field is situated in the western part of what is now Pender county, and is marked by a monument dedicated to the memory of those who died there.

Unless the affair at Great Bridge, Va., on December 9th, 1775, can be so called, the fight at Moor's creek was the first victory of the war of the Revolution, gained in the field, within the limits of the United States. There were, of course, important engagements elsewhere of earlier date, as at Bunker Hill, momentous in their consequences; but they were not victories for the Americans. At Moor's creek the victory was complete; its effects far reaching and its spoils of war great. That victory broke effectually for the time the power of the British and Tories in North Carolina, prevented a junction of the troops defeated with a strong land and naval force, who awaited their coming near the mouth of the Cape Fear river under Sir Henry Clinton and Gov. Josiah Martin, and turned back the tide of invasion from our State for more than three years.

The minute men and militia of New Berne and Craven county, under Col. Richard Caswell, bore an honorable part in the campaign, and Col. Caswell afterwards received a vote of thanks from the Provincial Congress. He was the first Governor of the State under the constitution adopted in December, 1776.

Among the prisoners captured at Moor's creek, was Capt. McDonald, husband of Flora McDonald—famous as the friend of Charles the "Pretender" in 1745.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The State Bank Bill.

The bill to establish the State banking system of North Carolina passed the House the other night without much ado. We doubt if its provisions were fully comprehended. The operation of the act is dependent on certain events; the passage by Congress of an act repealing the ten per cent tax on State bank notes, and the ratification by the people of a proposition to issue four millions of bonds, which the State can use to pay for stock in banks, and the ratification by the people of a further proposition that the State shall guarantee the payment of the notes issued by the banks.

Unless Congress does repeal the ten per cent tax, no State bank notes can be issued. But suppose that Congress should do that; the operation of the bill would still be dependent on the ratification by the people of the proposition to issue bonds and to guarantee the bank notes. This the people are not likely to do, and the system provided for in the bill will then fail to materialize. Cannot some other plan be devised that is more feasible?

If we go into the campaign on the subject, will the Democratic party be expected to support the affirmative side—that the State shall take stock in every bank that may spring up anywhere in the State and guarantee its notes; or will the measure not be considered a party measure and stand on its own merits?

We think that the people will be apt to reject it. If rejected, the plan fails. Cannot a plan less liable to objection be arranged?

Without stopping to consider its minor provisions, this bill authorizes a subscription by the State of one third to the capital stock of every bank that may be in North Carolina; and in order to pay these subscriptions, new bonds are to be issued; and the State becomes liable as a stockholder for debts of any broken banks just as any individual stockholder would be—to an amount equal to its subscription to the stock; and it guarantees the whole issue of notes, some of which will be based on mortgages of lands.

Is not that putting the State in it pretty deep? We think so.

There are other objections; but no plan can be proposed that will not be open to comments. The provisions mentioned however, will in our judgment not meet with public favor.—News and Observer.

Masonic Progress in the Higher Degrees.

ED. JOURNAL:—The masons of Newbern have had a large and most interesting revival of work in their Royal Arch Chapter, and Commandery of Knights Templar, which closed Friday night.

Assisted by Dr. F. M. Moyer, who is an officer in the different Grand Bodies of the State they have been engaged in conferring the beautiful and sublime degrees pertaining to these higher branches of their order.

The Brotherhood here have cause to be proud of what has been accomplished in their labor of two weeks, and are to be congratulated upon the accession to their already large membership of a number of the prominent and influential citizens of the place.

It is gratifying to the friends of this ancient and honorable institution to know that its condition is never so prosperous, or prospects brighter than at present, and the Fraternity of the old historic city of Newbern are wide awake, and doing their full duty in their noble efforts to extend and perpetuate the grand principles which it inculcates.

Mr. Thomas Daniels, High Priest of the Chapter, and Mr. J. H. Haackburn, Eminent Commander of the Commandery are representative men in every sense of the word, and the zeal and ability displayed by them in the performance of the high trust committed to their hands is truly commendable and worthy of the good cause in which they are engaged.
