ing against the welfare of the farmer is too absurd for contemplation by anybody but the very ignorant or the very biased mind. It will not be claimed by us, or by the merchants themselves, that their first concern is for the farmers. Of course they are only human, and they are looking out for their own interests first. But it is equally true that their interests and the farmers do not conflict, and they have much to expect from the prosperity of the farmer, and nothing from his poverty. No merchant ever wants to see cotton sell low. He is interested in the farmer getting a good price for his crop. Prosperity among farmers means prosperous trade among the merchants of the town where they transact their business, but hard times among the farmers means hard times among the merchants with whom they trade."

Coming and Going.
Major and Mrs. J. C. Winder, who have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. F. W. Hughes, left yesterday, accompanied by Mrs. Hughes to visit friends in Atlanta.
Dr. F. Duffy and Mr. O. Marks, left yesterday morning for Winston on business. Mr. Marks will continue his trip as far as New York before returning.
Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Horton, of Chatham county, who attended the Fair, and have since been spending sometime at Ravenwood farm, left yesterday returning home.
Mr. H. B. Duffy, who since Cleveland's inauguration, (which he attended) has been buying a spring stock in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Washington markets, returned home on the steamer Neuse of the E. C. D. Line. Mr. J. W. Moore, who also attended the inauguration returned home on the same boat.
Mr. W. B. Smith, who has been spending some months in Virginia came in on the steamer Neuse.
Mr. J. B. and L. S. Blade came in on the Neuse from Elizabeth City.
Mrs. D. C. Way, of Hainan came in on the steamer Neuse to visit her daughter, Mrs. J. B. Clark. Her son, Mr. R. L. Way accompanied her, and returned on the Neuse.
Miss Mammie Merriam, who attended the Fair, and has been visiting since then at Mr. H. W. Wabab's left on the steamer Neuse returning to her home in Elizabeth City. Some of our young men are wishing that it may not be long until she comes again.
Mr. Hughes Holland, assistant engraving clerk of the State Senate, returned home last night.
Mrs. J. A. Richardson returned from a visit to relatives in Durham.

WILL A COTTON FACTORY PAY?
Small Ones Well Managed Pay Every Time.
We had a short but interesting conversation Saturday morning with Mr. J. H. Harney, manager for the Singer Sewing Machine Company for the Eastern district of North Carolina in reference to manufacturing enterprises and especially cotton factories.
He tells us that in his whole district from Durham and Fayetteville eastward—40 counties—there are only 8 such factories, an average of only one factory to five counties while on the other hand to a central district of 21 counties of the State of which he was formerly manager there are 28, more than average of one to every county.
He mentioned moreover that Charlotte alone alone has 7 cotton factories in it and that at Mount Holly there are 7 within a radius of 8 miles, lacking only one of equaling the number in this entire present district.
He says moreover, that at Charlotte after the first factories were started there was no trouble to raise more money for additional ones the demand for stock in one of the later started ones was so great that shares were sought after the stock was all taken and earlier subscribers to it cut down their number of shares as a favor, to admit others desirous of investing in the enterprise.
Mr. Harney says that wherever he goes he finds the factories paying and he finds that every business is quickened by their presence. The operatives have steady work. They constantly have ready money to spend with grocery men, butchers and for farm produce for the table; they furnish their homes better, this makes good times for the furniture dealer, and dry goods stores likewise come in for the full share of the benefits.
The Wilmington Messenger in a recent discussion of this subject said:
Will it pay to have small cotton factories? Connecticut is a flourishing state and made so by her thousands of small industries. There is no doubt that Wilmington would take on new life, new growth, new prosperity if it had forty or fifty smaller industries. Why not have them? If they pay why not invest? But you may ask do they pay? Well managed they pay every time. If you doubt, take this as an example which we clip from the Chattanooga Tradesman. It says:
A small cotton mill, cost $38,000, $12,000 working capital, 2,000 spindles, began operations at Columbia, Ala., last July. Out of the earnings in the six months ended January 1, 1893, the managers bought machinery for turning the waste into twine and paid a 5 per cent dividend. That is a surely a good start for one small mill, and ALL the small mills that are managed with energy, intelligence and economy seem to be doing well indeed.

SECRETARY CARLISLE has no difficulty in exchanging small legal tender notes for gold.

A WOMAN in Omaha starts the fire with kerosene. She, her husband and three children are fatally burned.

A JADY in Georgia the other day committed suicide by hanging herself with two banks of knitting thread. According to the mode of reasoning of some of our exchanges this moral may be drawn: Knitting thread is a dangerous thing; beware of it.

The bumptious Kurnell Looker-orth, who edits a screaming Radical sheet in New York, after being professedly a Democrat, says this: "The Democrats start of well. They have the President, a majority in the Senate and House, and a fair working majority in the Cabinet."

FRAGILITY has been the characteristic of Mr. Cleveland's private career. It has marked his administration of the duties of every public office to which he has been called, and it may safely be put down as the secret of his marvelous success in both. The fact that he has practiced what he preaches ought to make his words patent for good. Mr. Cleveland's advice is neither original nor new, but it is good and timely. After all, that is what we must come back to, in order to check the tendency to luxury and waste which has overthrown the governments of the past and which now threatens our own, the plain, common sense, frugal basis of our fathers, of Washington, and Jefferson and Jackson. That is what we need in every day walks of our life and in the high places. This is the lesson our young men and young women need to learn.—Atlanta Journal.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.
Howard.
For rent today.
Wanted—2,000 cords wood.

The South preponderates in the Chairmanships of the new Senate Committees.
A runaway team from the country smashed up the vehicle yesterday and threw the occupant out but he received no special injury.
The Goldsboro Argus tells of a hog killed by L. J. Moore, of Brogden township, Wayne county that weighed 710 pounds after being dressed.
The fishermen's alliance of Beaufort offer a reward of $10 for the recovery of the body of Mr. Karl Willis, of Beaufort who was drowned near Harkers Island.
The late residence of Mrs. S. J. Dudley, deceased, is to be rented today. The sale of Mrs. Dudley's household effects at auction will commence tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.
A large Gynasium class is expected to meet at the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 8:30. Mr. McSorley will be on hand and ready to continue the good work which was started last week.
The Historical society of North Carolina held an interesting meeting, Wednesday night, March 8th at Chapel Hill and made additions to its collections of books and manuscripts.
Shad are being caught now in pretty good numbers. Messrs. Geo. N. Ives & Son sent off 2,000 shad yesterday besides other fish. In all they shipped fifteen dry loads during the day.
The JOURNAL representative will be in Pamlico county this week. Mr. Hines is making a thorough canvass for the WEEKLY JOURNAL and is constantly adding new names to our subscription list.
The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. will be held at the rooms this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. A committee of the Directors has been appointed to meet with the Auxiliary to consider business of importance.
The athletic performance that gave so much pleasure at the last Y. M. C. A. entertainment was by pupils who had been trained by Mr. C. J. McSorley. He has begun another class in physical culture which will probably give a more complete and extended exhibition sometime during the spring.
The State Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of North Carolina will meet in Winston next month commencing on Thursday the 6th inst. and ending on Wednesday the 9th. Entertainment will be provided for all delegates, and there will be reduced rates on all railroads. Who will be there from the New Berne association?
We are informed that some of the enterprising citizens of Jones county are investigating as to the cost of a cotton factory with the view of seeking to establish one at Pollockville, and they also wish to get a large saw and planing mill there. Good for them. It will give us pleasure to see them accomplish their desires.
Ordinance sergeant Wm. H. Davis, col., who has for several years been in charge of Fort Macon at Beaufort, dropped dead yesterday morning of heart disease. The remains will be brought up to New Berne on this morning's train for interment. Sergeant Davis had been in the military service of the United States for 28 years. One year more would have entitled him to live longer, to three-fourth pay for life. The greater portion of his was spent in Dakota.
Mr. Chas. L. Van Neppen, of Durham, representing the Library of American Literature, placed $468 worth of the books in this city in three days canvass. This not only looks in Mr. Van Neppen has something extra in the books he handles, but also as if our people appreciate that which is good in the literary line when it is brought to their notice.
Mr. Henry G. Slapp, of Augusta is still continuing his canvass for the Century Dictionary, the most comprehensive book of its kind published.
Children Cry for Fisher's Castor.

OUR ROADS.
How Their Condition Injures Vehicles, Militates Against Trade and Discourages Prospective Investors.
EDITOR JOURNAL.—Country gentlemen are doing nobly—that is in making the city a fine market by keeping good wares and selling at a close margin, so that other things being equal, it is to the advantage of all the large section around here to trade at New Berne; but in another respect, our business men have been woefully neglectful of their interest by not taking it upon themselves to see by organized effort that all approaches are in such order as to make the city easily accessible from every quarter. In such a condition it would be a pleasure to travel over them, which would be a standing invitation of the strongest kind to all people between this and some other market to come in this direction.
Our business men should never rest satisfied until they have taken a step that will result in bringing about this desirable condition of affairs.
"Keep Off the Grass."
It is respectfully requested of all persons who pass through the church-yard of the Episcopal church, that they will follow the pathways and keep off the grass. The yard is a pleasant and a convenient passway for many persons going to and fro and there is no objection to its proper use. Some, however, to save a few steps, cross over the grass and flower beds, greatly to their detriment. This has put the vestry to the expense of painting signs, and to other trouble, and it is hoped that this notice will put a stop to the practice and obviate the necessity of further action.

MARRIED.
At the residence of the bride in Craven county on Wednesday March the 8th at 4 o'clock p. m., Mr. John D. Dixon of Pamlico county to Mrs. Henrietta Foy.
On sixth of March at Tuscarora M. E. Church at seven o'clock p. m. Street of Victoria Heath and Mr. E. B. Moore, Rev. J. G. Johnson, officiated.
After the marriage ceremony was performed Mr. Johnson made a short lecture on the subject of matrimony which was just grand.
The bridesmaids and groomsmen were as follows: Miss Pennie Daugherty, of Tuscarora and Mr. A. A. White, of Jasper; Miss Agnes DeBruhl and Mr. M. N. Harriot, of Jones county near Pollockville; Miss Jane Laha and Mr. Ed. Street, of Bellair; Miss Maggie Moore, of New Berne and Mr. G. S. Wilcox, of Bellair; Miss May House from near Lenoir and Mr. Ed. White, of Fort Barnwell; Miss Carrie Arnold and Mr. Jason House from near Lenoir.
The church was decorated beautifully with evergreens and flowers. The bride and groom looked very cheerful and appeared to enjoy the occasion very much. We wish them a happy life.
